D. A. R. News

Mrs. M. J. Norris was hostess to Crater Lake Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution on Saturday, September 21. This was the first meeting of the autumn season and was in observance of the 148th anniversary of the signing of the constitution of the United States. The regent, Mrs. F. J. Newman, presided, and after the routine business, presented a past-regent's address. Mrs. R. F. W. Spilver, the retiring regent. After a few words of grateful appreciation, Mrs. Spilver presented to the chapter a beautiful marker-veil of white silk on which she had embroidered the name of the chapter and the D. A. R. insignia.

Misses Dorothy Gore and Alice Holmback were welcome guests and their music was especially pleasing. Miss Gore played two violin numbers accompanied by Miss Holmback at the piano. This was followed by Mrs. E. A. Moore's sympathetic reading of Paul Engle's beautiful poem "America Remembers."

Mrs. B. G. Harding's address on "The Constitution" was most inspiring and enlightening and stressed the importance of the study of this great document, especially by every citizen and voter. After briefly reviewing the chaotic conditions during the critical period preceding the constitutional convention, Mrs. Harding told about that historic meeting and named some of the leading delegates. These long weeks of struggle and compromise, resulting in the signing of our constitution on September 17th, 1787, were vividly and interestingly portrayed.

Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown and Miss Helen Norris poured at the attractive tea table and others assisting the hostess were Mesdames H. E. Armstrong, and Helen Snedeker and Misses Jane Snedeker and Emily Brown.

Among the guests were Mesdames A. W. Shepherd, Fynn, H. Marx and Allan Perry.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, October 17, honoring the state regent, Mrs. Mark Weatherford, who will make her official visit at that time.

What the Girl Scouts Are Doing

Have you met her? She's a Girl Scout.

She cooks, she sews, she cares for little tots. Her fingers are busy, mind alert; she hikes and swims and camps, so keeps her body fit; she paddles her own canoe. This is a merry, helpful person. She's prepared to meet emergencies, she is kind of animals. She's an all around good scout.

Just think for a moment, what you think a girl ought to be—for every body has ideas on the subject. And when you have made a mental picture of the best sort of girl, the Girl Scouts think they can show her to you.

First, she must be healthy—for a healthy girl can be a happy woman. Scouting takes girls into the open "hikes" with them, teaches them every sort of woodcraft, camping and swimming—and teaches them, too.

INCREASE SHOWN IN MAIL TRIBUNE BARGAIN ORDERS

Subscriptions Are Up Almost 25 Percent Over Mark Of Year Ago—Better Times Indicated.

Mail Tribune bargain days are proving so popular that already subscriptions are far in excess of what they were during the same period a year ago.

Although the bargain period opened only last Saturday subscriptions in both the new and renewal classifications have been coming in with increasing volume and results thus far are the best recorded in several years. The increase over a year ago today stood close to 25 percent.

The increased volume of subscriptions indicated two things," Gerald T. Latham, circulation manager, explained. "First, it shows that the public recognizes a real bargain and, secondly, it reveals quite plainly that general economic conditions have improved very measurably. We expect this year's results to be the best we have registered in several years."

The Mail Tribune's bargain days opened Saturday and will close October 1. During this period the newspaper may be ordered for a year for $5 if delivery is to be made by carrier and for $3.50 if delivery is to be made by mail in Jackson or Josephine counties.

Present subscribers are eligible for the bargain rates if they are paid up to September 1 and of course all new subscribers are entitled to the low price.

Subscriptions may be left at the office between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. daily and 8 a. m. and 9 p. m. Saturday. A trip to the office, however, is not necessary as a telephone call will bring a registered carrier to your home. The carrier will deliver a receipt for each subscription. News and feature services of the Mail Tribune have recently been augmented and improved so that today subscribers are receiving the same kind of newspaper that ordinarily can be obtained only in the larger cities. Bargain rates for the newspaper are offered only once a year so that the opportunity to subscribe at the greatly reduced price will not be available again for another twelve months.

parents hoped he would follow—that of a lawyer. As a young man Hopper prepared himself for this work and even spent six months in the office of the illustrious lawyer, Joseph H. Choate, his godfather. Then he became restless and Choate advised his parents the boy be given his chance in the theater.

Engaged by Edward Harrigan for a part in "The Blackbird," Hopper began training his bass voice for the thought of entering grand opera. He interrupted his training to play in "Hazel Kirke" and "May Blossom" in 1884. Later he was engaged to play an important role on short notice and gave so creditable a performance he immediately became recognized as the principal comedian of the company.

He was born in New York, March 30, 1858. His full name was William DeWolf Hopper.

One of his best known recitations was "Casey at the Bat," written by Ernest L. Thayer, which he had given about 10,000 times in his vibrant, booming voice. The first recitation, before an audience which included baseball players, was shortly after the poem appeared in the San Francisco Examiner in 1886.

Hopper himself was a baseball fan and watched the fortunes of the New York Giants closely.

Marital ventures of Mr. Hopper attracted considerable attention. Before he was 28 he had been married and divorced twice. His first wife was Ella Gardiner, a cousin, and his second, Ida Mosher of Boston, member of the chorus of the McCaull Opera company.

In 1893 he married Edna Wallace, a noted actress, but this marriage was dissolved in 1908 and the following year he married Nella Rear-

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST FIREMEN SET TUESDAY

The $50,000 damage suit of Robert Robinson, 18, against Ed Kanooos, city fire department member, and Roy Elliott, fire chief, for injuries necessitating amputation of one of the youth's legs, is scheduled to start before a jury in circuit court tomorrow.

The accident, upon which the suit is based, occurred in front of the Medford Hotel, about 9 o'clock, Aug. 3, 1934, while the fire department was laying hose, with which to combat a minor blaze in the hotel. Young Robinson while standing at a corner talking to a companion, was caught in a tight of the hose and painfully injured.

Present subscribers are eligible for the bargain rates if they are paid up to September 1 and of course all new subscribers are entitled to the low price.

don Bergen. His fifth wife was Ella Purry, who obtained a divorce in 1924 after 11 years of wedded life. Mr. Hopper married his present wife, Mrs. Lillian Glaser, in 1925. Hopper was the father of two sons, one by his second wife and one by his fifth.

The role which Mr. Hopper remembered with greatest pleasure he once said, was "Ole Bill," hero of "The Better Ole." He looked back with pleasure on his association with Weber and Fields and regarded with affection the period of his career from 1921 to 1925 when he headed a company in revivals of several Gilbert and Sullivan operas.
