

3 U. S. SERVICES TO HOLD MEETING HERE OCT. 21-22

200 Delegates of Forest Unit, Army and CCC Will Engage in Welfare Parley - Noted Guests Expected

What is expected to be the biggest and most important welfare and educational conference ever staged in the Medford district will be held when 200 forest service, army, CCC delegates meet here October 21 and 22 at the Elks temple.

Major General Paul B. Malone, commander of the Ninth Corps Area, Gov. Charles H. Martin, and many other notables have been invited to take part in the conclave.

Plans for the big two-day meet were announced today by Major George R. Owens, CCC district commander. Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of the Oregon State system of higher education, Dr. J. B. Griffing, civil educational adviser for the Ninth Corps Area, Prof. George W. Peavy, president of the Oregon State college and dean of the school of forestry, O. S. C. J. Buck and S. B. Shaw, regional foresters, and many others have been invited to attend and appear on the program.

Delegates to the conference will include representatives of the national forests, national and state parks within the districts, as well as representatives of both the work agency and army from each camp. In addition, a number of CCC enrollees will be here to learn methods of improving the welfare and educational programs within their companies, it was announced.

Committees have been appointed to prepare material for the conference on a variety of subjects. The subjects, and committee chairmen follow: "Instruction on the Job," Dan Plowman, Bradford project superintendent; "Religion," Chaplain Henry Anderson; "Landscaping," Millard Gilbreath, educational adviser at China Flats; "Visual Education," Mack Stocker, educational adviser, Coos Head.

"Field Trips and Hobbies," William Belcher, advisor at Rand; "Lectures," Kenneth Fubish, advisor at Agness; "Amphitheatres," Albert Malley, advisor at Annie Springs; "Exhibits, Arts and Crafts," George Finnelly, advisor at Lava Beds; "Recreation and Entertainment," Chaplain Harley G. Preston; "Publicity," Lieut. Roy Cratt; "Athletics," Victor Sparks, advisor at South Fork; and "Correspondence Courses," Capt. Guy W. Saunders, commander at Camp Wilmer.

Each committee will report on its findings and recommendations at the conference. Within ten days after the conference, each camp in the district will stage an all-camp-night-program. The various delegates to the conference will transmit to the companies the constructive ideas gained there.

The two-day meet will be climaxed by a special entertainment for all who attend. Capt. William C. Ryan, district welfare officer, and Eugene G. Golden, district educational adviser, are in charge of arrangements.

COUNTY BRIEFS

Eden Precinct

EDEN PRECINCT, Sept. 25.—(Sp.)—Mrs. Clark of Portland, sister of Mrs. Wm. Bruin of North Talent, was visiting friends and relatives in Talent last week.

Guests at the Mary O. Carey home last week were Mr. and Mrs. Darrel E. Lee of Tacoma and Mrs. Bell Shearer of Medford, and Mrs. E. M. Huskie of Cave City.

Mrs. Irene Wells was named a committee of one to present from the Talent Grange a most beautiful bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Ray Ward, who returned to her home from the Community hospital last Wednesday.

Judging from the great number of fruit trucks, the pear crop of this precinct is the heaviest in years. And the big packing houses in Rhonix have been taxed to capacity, both day and late evenings, for the past two weeks or more.

Many tomato growers are complaining that the price is far too low for any profit to the growers this season, and are selling their products in the field, to be used locally or hauled to outside points.

Mrs. Margaret Germer has been suffering from a sprained knee the past week. All hope for a speedy recovery. Many in this precinct are cutting a fourth crop of alfalfa hay. Some of the fields have raised abundant crops with water.

Those who have been fortunate enough to raise several hundred young hens this season are beginning to reap their profits now, as the price is good and the hens have begun to lay early.

Grapes in this precinct are of the best quality for many seasons, owing to the long continued dry and cool weather, and mildew is less prevalent.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Solis returned last Wednesday to their home in Los Angeles, after ten days' business and pleasure visit in the valley. Mrs. Solis still thinks the Rogue River valley one of the beauty spots of the entire coast.

Work at the county farm still drags out on account of the shortage of funds necessary to put on a larger force of workmen.

LOCAL NIMRODS STRAGGLING IN WITH DEER MEAT

The deer business is looking up. At the first of the week scattered reports of kills found their way into the city, cars with deer aboard went through, but very few local nimrods reported any luck. By today, however, those who had followed the animals into the back country were beginning to check out, and many were reported today.

Roland Smith of the forestry service brought down a deer and a coyote in the Sugar Pine Creek district on the Umpqua divide. He is a bit chagrined today to think that he didn't bring home one of the seven bears he saw to boot. Thinking that he was still in Jackson county, where bear killing is barred, Smith let them all get away, but later discovered they were in Douglas county and were eligible for shooting.

John Martin and Ward McQuat, hunting in the Miller Creek district, bagged one deer, and a party composed of Ralph Green, Sam Jennings, I. H. Gove, W. D. Green and W. T. Jennings returned from the eastern Oregon country with four muskrats to show for their efforts.

George Solumon of Gold Beach came all the way up the river to nail a deer, and H. B. Brown and A. B. Bostwick, both of Applegate, also reported kills. Others who have reported in with meat are C. M. Rose, H. C. McCollom, Al Williams, E. W. Brown, Walter Jones, Chas. S. Simmons, Jim Feebles, H. F. Lang, A. C. Coghill and Bill Outman.

Fred R. Colvin made a nice kill, as did M. A. Ring, Roy Curtis, H. H. Hart, R. T. Jester of Trail, W. Conner of Route 2, Lester Wilcox of the same district, and Walter Thiede of Jacksonville. Hank Pringle got a nice muskrat in eastern Oregon, and many others hunting there are expected back today or tomorrow.

The game department of the state police reports that there are many hunters this year, and much checking of licenses is being done in the woods with very few irregularities being found.

Bulldog Subdues Foe With Armlocks

SALEM, Sept. 25.—(AP)—It took Bulldog Jackson 25 minutes and two hammerlocks to subdue Jimmy Lamb of Yakima in the main event of last night's wrestling card here. Lamb took the second fall with an airplane spin. Handsome Herb Parks pinned Ernie Pitius for two out of three falls in the semi-windup, and Herb Bergeson also won the odd fall in his match with Johnny Wally.

Royal Chimneysweep Dies. LONDON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—A simple obituary notice today announced the death of the "royal chimneysweep," William Cromer, 77, who was knocked down by a bicycle. His home proudly bore the inscription: "Sleep in appointment to his majesty, King George."
