Clever Comedy Hit Rialto Sunday

The hilarious comedy, "We're in the Money" opens at the Rialto theater Sunday for a three day run, with that inimitable trio of comedians, Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell and Hugh Herbert in the stellar roles. The picture concerns the efforts of two chiseling girls, Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, to serve subpoenas on wealthy men in breach of promise suits. They work for a shyster lawyer, played by Hugh Herbert, who is so absent minded that he frequently forgets which side he is on. Glenda remains forever the gold digger, but Blondell falls in love with a wealthy young man dressed in a chauffeur's uniform to escape process servers. Ross Alexander is the haunted man. Others in this tale of the dizzy blondes include Hobart Cavanaugh, Anita Kerry and Henry O'Neill. "One Frightened Night" with an all-star cast, plays today and Saturday.

Life on Broadway is one of the features, but thrills are not lacking, either. There are, for instance, two train wrecks.

That the production reveals a clear cross-section of life during the most colorful era in the history of the country is shown by the fact that early theatrical productions, automobiles, fads, horse racing, parties and even characters come to life on the screen.

INDICT BOY AS SLAYER AGED AUNT AND UNCLE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—(AP)—An indictment charging 19-year-old Leroy Drake with two counts of first degree murder was returned by the county grand jury today shortly after he appeared and told of poisoning his aunt and uncle, the elderly Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steinhilber, and rolling their bodies off an ocean pier last Saturday in an automobile.

Diamond Jim Role Craterian Screen Filled By Arnold

"Diamond Jim" dealing both with the life of James Buchanan Brady, bejeweled super-salesman, and with the colorful days and nights of the gay nineties, is drawing large audiences to the Craterian theater following its opening.

Edward Arnold, who plays Brady, the purveyor of railroad equipment, the man who lost and made fortunes again and again in his career, who won $2,000,000 worth of jewelry and gave parties which cost $100,000 each, is "stealing the show," with Jean Arthur and Binnie Barnes, as Lillian Russell; the two women he really loved in the course of his amazing career, coming close to taking his honors.

ONE LOOK AT THESE PHENOMENAL FOUR AND YOU'LL SAY

"BUICK'S THE BUY!"

TWO years ago Buick deliberately leveled its sights on 1936.

It coolly set its aim on bringing to market for that year a line of motor cars that would startle the world.

It purposed to do that, not by freak or superficial design, not by skimping quality to make a price, but by sheer merit as expressed in automobile beauty, value, ability.

It submits to you now the eminently satisfying results of that fruitful two years of concentrated endeavor.

Here are four separate series of sensational new Buick cars — cars called phenomenal by experts in the trade who previewed them.

Each is a feast to the eye schooled in mature modern styling, as you can see. Each has under the smooth flowing planes and surfaces of its smart exterior, the solid, tough, durable, beautifully engineered chassis that underwrites Buick dependability.

And each offers you from the stepped-up power of its big thrifty valve-in-head eight-cylinder engine such safe, thrilling performance as you have never known.

These cars are big cars every one — built to almost lavish dimensions of body room and head clearance — yet they handle with the fingertip lightness of small cars.

They are literally breath-taking in power and speed and take-off, yet under their new tiptoe hydraulics and easy-steering knee-action they are almost as manageable as a telephone.

They are thew and sinewed by that quality which springs from Buick's third of a century of manufacturing experience, advantaged by $14,500,000 worth of new tools, dies and factory re-equipment devised for these cars alone.

These things are so true and so obvious that everywhere you will soon hear the motor-wise saying, "BUICK'S THE BUY!"

Garbo Coming to Craterian Sunday

Count Leo Tolstoy's immortal "Anna Karenina," celebrating Grete Garbo's tenth anniversary in motion pictures, comes to the Craterian theater Sunday with Frederic March teamed with the first actress of the screen.

As "Anna Karenina," Garbo is said to be at the peak of her success, not only the generally acknowledged peer of the dramatic actresses, but also a more beautiful, brilliant and spiritedly natural character than in years.

In the inspired performance of Frederic March, the work of Freddie Bartholomew (remembered for his
