

OREGON COACHES SEE STRENGTH IN INCOMING FROSH

EUGENE, Sept. 27.—(AP)—With registration day nearly over, University of Oregon athletic heads surveyed one of the strongest freshmen representations to enroll here in many years.

A clean sweep of the west came from last year's all-state team, and a potentially powerful collection of football players, lured here from as far away as Texas and Hawaii gave rise to hopes that athletic fortunes of the footloose are on the upgrade.

The football array was led by Jimmy Nicholson, one of the best-known Oregon prep midners since Bobby Grayson. The former Salem high backfield star enrolled, along with Dave Gammon of Benson tech, Portland, another all-star. Astoria contributed Hank Nilsen, lanky end, and Klamath Falls and Medford sent up Nello Giovanni and big Bob Hinman, respectively.

From other parts of the west came several outstanding prospects. Jean Lecon, 205-pound all-city fullback from San Francisco, enrolled here, following in the steps of other athletes from his city who have come here in the past. Ed Hopper, big tackle from Waco, Texas, will add materially to the line strength, while the yearlings obtained additional backfield material in Tom Blackman of Walls Walla and Keith Cruckshank, slippery halfback from Honolulu.

Honest John Warren, ex-Astoria high menter and now yearling coach, brought two all-state basketball players, Bobby Anet and Nally Johansen, from his state championship quarter-finals. Gale Oxbridge, was all-state center. From Washington are another two all-state hoopers, 6 foot 7 inch Ugal Wintermute of Longview, and Gale Fouts of Walls Walla.

LAKE OF WOODS BEING STOCKED

Lake of the Woods is in store for a new supply of fish that are guaranteed to prove extremely tempting to sportsmen. It was learned today that for the past several days Everett Moore, superintendent of the fish hatchery at Butte Falls, with two assistants, has been sealing for bass, crappie and perch in Hyatt lake, and these will be used to re-stock Lake of the Woods.

It is expected that about 100 five-gallon cans of the sporting fish will be transferred early next week to Lake of the Woods. The replenishment is expected to add zest to fishing at the popular resort next season.

Two Fatalities

SALEM, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Two fatalities resulted from industrial accidents during the past week in Oregon. It was officially reported through the workmen's compensation department. A total of 752 accidents were also reported. The fatalities were: George Simpson, mill worker of Sheridan, and Theodore D. Butta, electrical engineer of Albany.

Comment on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

SENATOR NORRIS, of Nebraska, speaking in Washington, says:

"It is no disrespect to the founding fathers to amend the constitution wherever and whenever it is necessary to meet changing conditions of civilization."

THIS writer, who disagrees frequently with Senator Norris' opinions, finds no difficulty in agreeing with him there. The constitution has been changed often in the past, and will be changed often in the future.

It is a living document—not a dead and changeless one.

THE thing to avoid is changing the constitution too quickly and easily, leaving no time for the soberer second thought that is usually the best thought.

Here in Oregon, we change our state constitution so easily that for all practical purposes we have no constitution left.

We don't want that to happen to the constitution of the United States.

HERE is a rather interesting fact—vouchsafed by the Southern Pine Service Association:

The cost of lumber represents only 8.21 per cent of the total cost of an average residence. That is about one-twelfth.

The combination of lumber, millwork and flooring, including the labor of manufacturing the millwork and the labor in laying the floor represents 22.5 per cent of the total cost.

The cost of excavating, foundations and sidewalks is placed at 3.66 per cent and the plumbing at 8.72 per cent.

THERE is a theory that rising prices of lumber have discouraged building. That hardly seems to be borne out by these figures.

The chief reason for decline of building, in all probability, is that people either haven't had the money or have been afraid to spend it.

SOME more interesting statistics: In recent times, murders committed in the United States have averaged about 12,000 per year. Of these 12,000 murderers, about 4,000, or one in three, have been caught, tried and sentenced to shorter or longer terms in prison.

Only 153, on the average, or about one in 80, have been EXECUTED.

THE death penalty is a terrible thing, the mere thought of it causing all of us to shudder and turn a little sick. But if more murderers were executed, there might be FEWER MURDRERS.

PORTLAND EGGS HOLDING STEADY

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Market for eggs continued to reflect more or less of a steady tone with freshstuff of large size in call but puffed a trifle slow. Storage eggs are getting harder to move.

Butter demand reflected the decreased demand more than the smallness of current make, together with an extremely heavy supply held in coolers by speculative interests.

Chickens continued to show a strong tone. There was practically no price change for the day but a spread of 1c lb. is shown locally as a result of premiums offered some groups of operators.

Tomato markets showing a slightly better tone with decreasing stocks and fairly well held demand. Some yellow or non-acid stock is arriving and finding sale.

CAMPAIGN CLUES EXPECTED FROM PRESIDENT'S TRIP

Journeys tonight into Nebraska, home state of Senator Norris, veteran Republican insurgent and friend of Mr. Roosevelt. At Fremont, Neb., tomorrow, the president talks to a gathering of farmers on a regional radio broadcast setup. Observers look for some remarks on the AAA.

Other speeches will follow at Boulder Canyon dam, Los Angeles and San Diego.

The entire White House secretarial staff is aboard the train, as well as Secretary Ickes and Harry L. Hopkins, principals in the huge work relief undertaking. Ickes and Hopkins will accompany the president throughout the entire trip.

Many Conferences The president conferred with Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, who reported on the agreement to end the soft coal strike next Tuesday; he named Major George L. Berry a co-ordinator and told him to supervise conferences "of industry, labor and consumers for considering the best means of accelerating industrial recovery, eliminating unemployment and maintaining business and labor standards."

At 2 p. m., eastern standard time on Monday, above the towering Boulder Canyon power and flood control dam in the Colorado river, the president will make a prepared speech over a national radio hookup. This is expected to touch on the power issue. The speeches at Los Angeles and San Diego will be on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning respectively.

ERROR IN TIMING BAER-LOUIS BOUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Max Baer, knocked out by Joe Louis at the Yankee stadium Tuesday night, apparently was counted out through an error in timing.

Representatives of the B. A. Proctor, Inc., sound recording laboratories, who timed the fight at their establishment with a highly technical instrument, said today the recording showed the fourth round, in which Baer took the count, lasted 9 1/2 seconds longer than the customary three minutes.

The engineers figure the fourth round should have ended about the time the knockdown time keeper reached the count of four on Baer.

If there was a timing error it probably would not have changed the result of the fight. However, persons betting the bout would end in the fifth round lost money.

Thaw Suffering Attack Of Grippe QUEBEC, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Harry K. Thaw, central figure in New York's most famous murder case of the early 20th century, was in a Quebec hospital today suffering from a severe attack of grippe.

Doctors at the Hotel Dieu Hospital reported his condition unchanged today and the 61-year-old former husband of Evelyn Nesbit, who shot and killed Stanford White in 1906, was said to be in no immediate danger.

Oregon Weather. Fair tonight and Saturday; little change in temperature; moderate northerly winds off the coast.

Marketing Seen Problem In Reclamation Program

By JAMES S. NUTTER (Associated Press Staff Writer)

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Easterday contended that tremendous crops can be produced through western reclamation projects, Robin Hood, secretary of the national co-operative council said today, but are wondering where the produce will be marketed.

"We have no doubt you can produce it," Hood said in an interview. "Your chambers of commerce and other groups have flooded us with material, and traveling through your territory one can see for himself."

"But what in the world are you going to do with it? Many efficient producers now are wondering what in the devil to do with their produce. Oregon has some itself."

Hood, here to address a meeting of the Oregon co-operative council, said pointedly he would take steps toward correcting "wooly" thinking by many agricultural leaders and even some co-operative leaders have on what co-operative marketing really is.

Some leaders are confusing co-operative marketing and farm supply service with Utopian schemes and isms," he asserted.

"Co-operative marketing ought to have one purpose only. That is to aim toward more advantageous selling of produce. Recently there has been a substantial growth of consumers' co-operatives. They are not
