

Sport Writer Picks "Hot" Cubs to Take Tigers in World Series

YOUNG AGGRESSIVE CLUB GEARED HIGH FOR FINAL EFFORT

Team More Like College Football Outfit Than Professional Athletes—Warneke Gives Mound Edge

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—(AP)—For three more or less debatable reasons, not necessarily confined to the baseball "dope" or succulent statistics, it is the writer's belief that the Chicago Cubs will beat the Detroit Tigers in a six-game world series.

It is fairly well known by now that the Cubs are "hottest" team in either major league, fresh from a 21-game winning streak and booming toward the big show under terrific impetus. With their streak ended, they may be overdue for a reaction, but they didn't let down until they crushed the last remnants of the celebrated St. Louis gang in St. Louis and knocked out the incredible Deans.

Team Geared High

Secondly, Chicago has a remarkably young, aggressive club that is geared for high speed. It's an outfit that might crack under pressure, but it didn't against tougher opposition than anything the American league could offer the Tigers. It has nothing to lose and everything to gain by shooting the works. No worries about past performances or previous disappointments will beset this outfit.

In short, the Cubs act more like a college football team than an aggregation of professional ball players. Their attitude is in marked contrast to that of the more experienced but less agile Tigers.

They will enter the series with the same psychological advantage that swept the 1906 White Sox, the famous "hitless wonder," and the youthful 1910 Athletics to victory over the great Chicago Cubs of Frank Chance's day; that carried the miraculous Boston Braves of 1914 to a sweep over the Athletics, and marked the dramatic triumph of the 1933 New York Giants, spurred on by Blondy Ryan, over the Washington Senators.

Cubs On Crest

There's always an ultimate stumble, but the crest of a winning team is always a good one, and the Cubs are on it now. The Tigers were unable to break even in their last 26 games, winning 13 and losing 14. The Cubs won 23 of their last 28. Cochrane's crew may get caught in the rush unless it snaps back to mid-season form and drive.

Finally, and to be more specific it is this writer's view that lanky Lonnie Warneke, Arkansas rival of the celebrated Schoolboy Rowe, will give the Cubs a pitching edge. Warneke was the best right-hander in either major league at the finish. His seventh straight victory, a two-hit shutout of the Cardinals last week, was a masterpiece. Rowe also is a great "money" pitcher. Their opening duel should be one of the best in many years.

Great Home Town Team

An even break for the Cubs in the two games here, Wednesday and Thursday, would send them back to thrive on the roars of the home-town crowds at Wrigley Field for the next three engagements. A great home team, the Bruins might steam-roller the Tigers in Chicago. All things considered, however, the winning forces seem likely to return to Detroit for a sixth game before the payoff.

Laid end to end, the statistics do not add a great deal of light on the rival prospects. The Tigers have more top-prize goods with hitters like Cochrane, Gehring, Thoin and Greenberg. The Cub attack, led by the sensational Augie Galan in the leadoff spot, features Herman, Lindstrom, Hartnett and Demaree, good enough to keep a one-time batting king, Chuck Klein on the bench. Both clubs topped their leagues in all-around hitting.

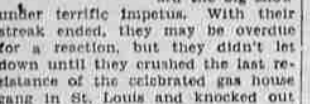

The Tigers look to have more of a defensive than an offensive edge. The Cubs have a superior outfield, however, and more capable reserves in players like Klein, Stanback and English.

Hacktoys Rate High

The best backstops in baseball will carry a big share of the burden. Gabby Hartnett is the cleanup clown for the Cubs as well as the driving force on the field. He has had a wonderful year. Similarly, Manager Mickey Cochrane is the man behind the Tiger guns. The strain of leadership has not seemed to slow up his playing ability or affect his batting eye. A fighter of the old school, Cochrane is generally conceded to be the difference between a fourth-place club and a two-time pennant winner.

Main for main, outside of Warneke and Rowe, the pitching prospects are difficult to forecast. The Cubs will match Charley Root, Bill Lee and Larry French against Tommy Bridges, Elden Auker and Alvin Crowder after the opening day's shooting is over. The Tiger staff has an edge in world series experience, as well as a fine assortment of curves. But the Cub twirlers have been "hotter" over the last month of campaigning.

Lee, a freshman and a fast ball pitcher, may feel the pressure. French faces heavy fire from the southpaw hitters in the Tiger lineup. Bridges and Auker, the latter with a pulsing underhand delivery, are only as good as their control. If they have it, they may furnish the antidote for Chicago's impetuous charge.

ON THE FOOTBALL FRONT

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Coach Lon Stiner and his assistants continued to stress offense today as the Oregon State college team prepared for its game in Portland Saturday against University of California at Los Angeles.

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The University of Oregon football team went to work on pass defense in early drills this week in preparation for the game here Saturday against University of Utah.

Coach Prink Callison turned on the steam in practice to get his players into better condition.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Ted Key, Texas' fullback gift to the University of California at Los Angeles, probably will be able to start in the Bruin lineup against Oregon State at Portland next Saturday, training reports indicated today.

On the hospital list for two weeks with an injured neck, the 190-pound star ball carrier has returned to practice, apparently fully recovered.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Injuries, striking twice in the same position, have robbed the University of Southern California of its first and second string quarterbacks for the game next Saturday with the College of Pacific.

Nick Pappas, sophomore from Seattle, Wash., is calling signals, while Dave Davis and Glenn Thompson recuperate from the rough, tough contest with Montana last week.

WRESTLING FANS LOOK TO KLAMATH

There will be no wrestling matches in Medford Thursday of this week, according to Promoter Mack Lillard, who is tonight opening the new Armory in Klamath Falls with a heavyweight battle royal featuring Al Karasick, Joe Hubka, Danny Savich, Toos Estes and Josef Vargo of Hungary.

The new Klamath Armory is said to be one of the finest in the state, and is used for wrestling tonight for the first time. Besides the battle-royal, there will be two other heavyweight bouts, opening the card. Ray Pribble, formerly of Medford, but now living in Klamath Falls, will be the referee.

Interest is strong in the matches even here, and several are planning on making the journey over the hill for the affair.

The next Medford bout will be on Monday of next week. From now on, the regular wrestling night will be changed to Monday, instead of Thursday. The Klamath bouts will follow the Medford matches by one night, or on Tuesday, instead of on Friday as has been the custom.

THREE COMPLETE TEACHING COURSE

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Three prospective teachers from Jackson county, who have been attending a month's intensive training school at Oregon State college for teachers in the emergency adult education program for the coming year, returned to their homes last Saturday prepared to teach a variety of adult classes as soon as the state-wide educational project is approved in Washington, D. C. These teachers were Karl Bayler, J. G. Hunter and William A. Kannah.

A general course of instruction was given the teachers in history and philosophy of education, teaching methods and techniques, and practical problems in organizing adult classes. Special courses were offered in Americanization, art and handicrafts, English and literature, parent education, industrial arts, social education, recreation, sewing, cooking, music, lip reading for the deaf, first aid, dramatics and similar subjects.

BOWLERS ASKED TO SIGN ELKS LIST

Bowlers of the Elks' lodge were requested in a notice issued today to meet at the temple Friday night. Teams will be selected, and captains chosen for the first half of the bowling schedule, the notice said, adding that members wishing to bowl should register at the temple before Friday's meeting.

Frank Husong, bowling committee chairman, announced that the alleys are being overhauled and will be in first class condition at the start of the tournament this month. As it is expected that the alleys will be taxed beyond capacity, bowlers were requested to register early.

CUBS YOUNG CHUCKER STARTED WITH LEGION

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Phil Cavaretta, the Chicago Cubs' 19-year-old freshman star, won't be playing in his first world series when the Cubs meet the Detroit Tigers tomorrow.

Cavaretta played in a world series two years ago and was credited with pitching his team to victory in two straight games.

He captained the Chicago team which in 1933 won the Junior American Legion world series, defeating Trenton, N. J., at New Orleans.

SERIES SCALPERS GET HIGH PRICES

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Scalping in world series baseball tickets was reported in full bloom today with curbstone prices quoted as high as $100 for a pair of $5.50 tickets to each of the first three games.

Reports of scalpers' activities where the world series crowds were streaming for sleeping and seat accommodations indicated that prices rivalled those asked for the Louis-Bier fight in New York.

Police said scalpers were remaining in the background and using prospective world series customers. The same runners were doubling as buyers in the vicinity of North Field. Lucky ticket purchasers were getting chances to get their money back less, fold and better as soon as they left the stadium windows. Ticket holders in some cases reported getting offers as high as five times the purchase price.

HATED GRAPPLER USES WHALE HOLD

PORTLAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Danny McShain, one of those hated wrestlers, pulled a "whale" of a trick last night which lost him his bout with Herb Parks.

After each had taken a fall, McShain squirted a mouthful of licorice juice into the Canadian's face, rubbed it in with his hands and then kicked the blinded middleweight until the referee interceded. McShain lost the match, but gained more public hatred, which seems to be a desirable asset.

BullDOG Jackson took the odd fall in a bout with Micker McGuire, who surprised and pleased almost everyone by roughing the BullDOG constant. Brule Pihus gained two of three falls from Gailor Trout.

HARVARD CAPTAIN FOUND INELIGIBLE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Harvard's "new deal" varsity football team, which receives its initial test this week, was without a captain today because J. Robert (Bobby) Haley, regular quarterback for the past two seasons, violated one of the university's many strict eligibility regulations.

Haley anteduced his teammates by resigning last night after the committee on the regulation of athletic sports, headed by Athletic Director William J. Bingham, declared him ineligible for further intercollegiate competition because he had accepted assistance from a person other than one "whom he is naturally dependent for financial support."

Badminton seems to be coming into its own in southern Oregon. For over a year there has been a thriving club in this city. Since about a year ago, when a group of Seattle and Portland players, in their way south, stopped over for an exhibition game here, which was attended by a group of Grants Pass sportsmen, there has been a rapidly growing club in the Cave City. Now a second club, to be known as the Medford Shuttle club, is to be formed here to take care of the large number interested.

Badminton is a great game, and an old one. We have never become proficient enough in it to permit our saying we play it at all, but we have watched some of the best in the game, including Medford's own Hamilton Law. Law is rated as the amateur champion of the Pacific coast, and according to Jess Willard, the professional champ, there isn't an amateur in the country who can beat him. Coming from Willard, that's the highest kind of compliment for he should know. In their exhibition games here last spring, Willard admitted that Ham pushed him harder than had anyone he had played since the professional tournament the winter before.

If interest in the game progresses as rapidly here in the next year as it has in the past, Medford will be one of the most active badminton centers on the coast, and with the efficient officers on the Medford Badminton club, it is altogether possible that state, and possibly even coast, tournaments will be played here in the future.

Another game we'd like to see take more of a popular hold in Medford is table tennis, the outgrowth of the old game of ping-pong. It is mildly surprising the contempt with which this game is regarded by many, mostly those who never participated in, nor saw a game. The game of ping-pong, as its name would imply, was something of a prissy affair. The ball was served directly over the net, and then amid shrieks of merriment, the game went on in high arcs, with enough time allowed between shots to go out and finish that last high ball.

That's all changed now. The ball is no longer served over the net, but into the table, and it must bounce over the net to be called in play. And he who would be a good table tennis player had best forget any slay leanings, for the game is fast and furious. Seldom does the ball clear the net by more than a half inch, the parabola must be almost flat or the opponent will kill your offerings with sickening regularity, and the rapid click, click, click of

PORTLAND MANAGERIAL JOB PLACED ON BLOCK

PORTLAND, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The position of manager of the Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast league was more or less on the block today.

Bill Casell, second baseman and playing manager, said last night that negotiations were entirely off between him and Owner E. J. Scheffer over the 1936 management. The salary, and also the extra stipend for his managerial duties, taken over in mid-year, are in dispute, Casell said.

Come to think of it, haven't we all dual selves? . . . One to acquire and one to bestow; one to work and one to play; one self to provide what the other self needs.

It isn't selfishness to think about yourself. It isn't arrogance to take pride in your appearance. It isn't egotism to strive to impress others. It's just good sense in the direction of self-progress—especially in business.

So, tell You to give You more consideration. Spruce up! This is the season to buy new clothes. And the surest way to get the best styles and values is to "shop" thru the advertisements in this newspaper—because:

The merchants and manufacturers who thus put their wares on exhibition and their prices in black-and-white cannot afford to risk their reputations by making extravagant claims for doubtful merchandise. Read and trust the advertisements. They'll help you find what you want—and save money!
