MARTIN TO URGE CONFINING WORK TO NEW CAPITOL

The federal government previously had approved a grant of $1,575,000 toward the state's proposed $3,500,000 capitol building.

In calling the session Martin declared he would urge upon the house and senate to confine its activities to the construction of a capitol building, proposals for additional land and for social legislation. The executive cannot limit the session to specific considerations, but may make his recommendations.

Opposes Present Site "I will further state to the legislature when it convenes that I am opposed to erecting a new capitol building on the present site which is only 300 by 700 feet in dimensions," the governor announced. "The new capitol should be built for the future and to allow for expansion."

The executive pointed out that the time would soon arrive when it would be necessary to erect a new state library, a governor's mansion and other state office buildings. He declared that Oregon was the only state in the union without a governor's mansion.

"To build for the future more land must be required for a capitol site," the governor continued. "We must accept the Willamette university campus through other means or go to the hills south of Salem. The Willamette property will be my first recommendation. If this proposal is rejected I would then prefer Candalaria Heights, located a short distance south of Salem."

GIRL PLUNGES OFF PORTLAND BRIDGE PORTLAND, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Jean McCracken, 24, Portland, fell 118 feet from an overhead bridge here Sunday, but may live despite her injuries.

Telephone and light wires 30 feet from the ground broke her fall and deflected her to a dirt landing beside the concrete road. She regained consciousness at a hospital but would give no reason for her act. She suffered a broken pelvis and internal injuries.

Patrolman Seitzinger reported that an eye witness, Ward W. Wells, said Miss McCracken tossed her hat and shoes off the bridge and then followed herself.

THE GRANGE Jacksonville Grange. Jacksonville Grange met in regular session, September 27, with fair attendance. The regular business meeting was held, and for the lecturer's program the Grange had the pleasure of listening to talks by Deputy R. E. Nealon and B. F. Coleman.

An invitation was extended to Applegate Grange to meet with Jacksonville Grange on October 11. Applegate accepted the invitation and will occupy the officers' chairs and also have charge of the lecturer's program on that date.

Portland, Oct. 7.—(AP)—An estimated 20,000 persons flocked to Swan Island airport Sunday to witness an air circus of races, stunts, exhibitions and maneuvers by the northwest's premier pilots.

Officials said it was the largest crowd ever on the island. The aerial program went off without mishap, but a nasty traffic snarl tied up traffic by automobiles which numbered more than 3500.
