NOTED LECTURER SLATED TONIGHT ON B. P. PROGRAM

Raymond Sampson, violinist formerly musical director at the Tivoli theatre in San Francisco and now with the Civilian Conservation corps headquarters here, will open the program tonight when Don Admiral, noted naturalist lecturer from Palm Springs, will speak on the "Desert of the Palms". The program, which is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club, will be held in St. Mark's parish hall at eight o'clock. Mr. Admiral's lecture will deal with the natural history of the desert lands, and include comments and illustrations of the flora and fauna of these sections of the country, the history and life of the ancient and modern Indians, winter colony life at Palm Springs and many other phases of this interesting subject.

Mr. Admiral has lectured at the University of Washington and before other communities and organizations on the Pacific coast. He is well known in California, where his desert programs presented at various hotels are always very well received.

The Madrigal club, under direction of Elsie Carleton Strang, will sing several numbers, completing the program. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

The quartet, comprising Anne Gates, Elaine Brophy, Marvin Betty Paske and Marvin Burke, contributed two selections, while a solo by Mary Anne Gates delighted the Rotarians and guests.

The High School Glee club offered a popular selection and a high school club joined in. This group included Marguerite Luman, Ione Kindred, Mary Lou Long, Betty Paske, Mary Anne Gates, Elaine Brophy, Marvin Burke, Don Wright, Roy Erickson, Bob Smith, Harvey Fields, Andrew Severson and Franklin Jones.

Coch Bill Bowerman of the Medford high school football team spoke briefly of athletic activities in Medford high, and discussed the prospects of the Medford team this season.

CODDING TO ARGUE KYLE PUGH APPEAL

District Attorney George A. Coddling will leave tonight for Salem to appear before the state supreme court tomorrow in the slated arguments on the appeal of Kyle Pugh of Josephine county, under a five-year sentence in state prison for conviction of criminal syndicalism. Pugh was convicted last December by a Jackson county jury, and is at liberty on $2500 bail. He was charged with the attempted sale and distribution of communistic literature advocating overthrow by force of the American form of government.

Among the documents introduced in behalf of Pugh is an "amicus curiae" (friend in court) brief by New York attorneys for the "American Civil Liberties Union." The case attracted considerable attention throughout the northwest and many letters and petitions have been received by the court and county authorities requesting that Pugh be granted clemency.

The argument on the appeal of George A. High and Robert N. (Babe) High, brothers of Ashland, under a four and one-half year sentence for conviction of setting fire to a barn near Ashland, to collect insurance, set for October 16, will probably be continued until the end of the month due to Attorney George M. Roberts of the defense being occupied in the federal court term for southern Oregon, starting next week.

Coming Thursday

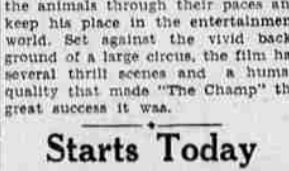

A new, somewhat different Jackie Cooper appears with Wallace Beery, his old pal of "The Champ" and "Treasure Island," in "O'Shaughnessy's Boy" coming Thursday to the Craterian theatre.

Quite a bit taller than when last seen on the screen, Jackie is seemingly doing what no other child star has ever done before—still holding his place in the cinema world, although no longer a chubby little youngster. And, according to all advance reports, young Cooper has suffered nothing in growing older, becoming a better actor with growing maturity, and able to deliver his lines much more effectively.

"O'Shaughnessy's Boy" tells the story of a wild animal trainer's love for his son, their estrangement, the trainer's fall from eminence and then the joining together of the friendship without which the father cannot send the animals through their paces and keep his place in the entertainment world. Set against the vivid background of a large circus, the film has several thrill scenes and a human quality that made "The Champ" the great success it was.

Starts Today

Blonde Alice Faye shares starring honors with George Raft in "Every Night at Eight" starting today at the Rialto theatre for a three day run, the screen's first story of the current craze for amateur hours on the national networks. Others in the cast include Patry Kelly (who springs a surprise on her many fans by uncovering a fine singing voice), Frances Langford, recently of the Hollywood Hotel program on N.B.C., the Three Radio Rogues and Walter Catlett.

At Craterian and Holly Wednesday

Other may get more glory, but the most romantic job on earth is that of a newspaper reporter in a great city.

This is conclusively proven in a new feature picture, "The Murder Man," with Spencer Tracy and Virginia Bruce, which comes to the Craterian theatre tomorrow only.

Tracy is depicted as the star reporter of a powerful New York daily newspaper. He is known as "The Murder Man" because of his success in solving crimes of violence. Miss Bruce is the paper's "sob-sister" who can give advice to the lovelorn through her column—but cannot control her own heart.

Supporting the star is a large cast that includes Lionel Atwill, Harvey Stephens, Robert Barrat, James Stewart, William Collier, Sr., Louise Hart and many others. The picture also will be shown tomorrow night only at the Holly theatre.

Jack Holt Picture Playing At Roxy

"Unwelcome Stranger," with Jack Holt, Mona Barrie and Jackie Searle, plays at the Roxy theatre today and Wednesday. "Unwelcome Stranger" tells the story of an orphan boy who found a home and someone to love him, only to have it shattered by the proud superstitious of a man that wouldn't have an orphan race horse or an orphan son, Ralph Morgan, Frankie Darro and Bradley Page are also in the cast.

Highly dramatic and timely to the "nth" degree, the scenes show the modern war equipment with which the Italians are fighting the old-time and almost useless equipments of the Ethiopians. Shot at the battlefield, the films were rushed via airplane to the coast and developed aboard steamship to New York, where they were again rushed air mail to the Pacific coast, arriving here in an almost unbelievably short time.
