ADDIS ABABA FEARS AIR RAIDS

As reports reached Addis Ababa from the north that Italian bombing planes had conducted an air raid over Addis, air patrol guards watched the skies fearful of an attack by planes. This large scale map of Ethiopia's capital shows the area in which important buildings are situated. Most of the war correspondents live at the Imperial Hotel. The air field also serves as a race track, patronized by the Emperor. The heavier winding routes indicate straits. (From Associated Press)

HUNTERS DECLARE WAR ON BIRDS AT DAWN ON SUNDAY

Saturday will be the last day of peace for Chinese pheasants and quail in this vicinity for a half-hour before sun-up on Sunday when Oregon sportsmen start their annual warfare on the birds. A survey has shown the birds to be increasingly numerous this season, ranging completely over the floor of the valley, with quail found in abundance even further back in the hills.

Of interest to hunters is the fact that the ban against automatic shotguns, limiting the number of shells permissible in the magazine to three, does not apply to upland birds, but only to migratory fowl, such as geese, ducks, brant, coots, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe.

The upland bird season will remain open in Jackson county from October 13 to October 31, both dates inclusive. The bag limit on Chinese pheasants is four birds in one day, and not to exceed eight birds in any seven consecutive days, and it is unlawful to take more than one female Chinese pheasant in any seven consecutive days.

LEGAL HEADLOCK SUBDUES BOESCH

PORTLAND, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Babe "The Great" Zaharias, Greek, aided by his debatable "legal headlock," took two out of three falls to subdue Paul Boesch, Brooklyn heavyweight, in their wrestling match here last night.

Some believed the disputable headlock verged into a strange hold at times. Boesch was considerably weakened.

Blue Son Jennings, 228-pound Oklahoma Indian, disposed of Harry Demetral with rabbit punches. Hans Schroeder, the big German, pinned Pop-Eye Sutey, Sacramento Ruffian, with a body slam in the second round of another scheduled three-rounder.

Norma, Who "Didn't Screen Well," Set to Garner New Cinema Laurels

By Robbin Coons HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A famous director some years ago said seriously to Norma Shearer: "You don't screen well. You ought to give up pictures."

Miss Shearer today likes to tell the story because she has proved she not only can screen well but can act. And it is the same Norma Shearer who shortly will undertake the most tradition-weighted role of her whole career, the heroine of "Romeo and Juliet."

For more than 300 years there have been leading actresses playing the romantic role. In later days the part has been played by Jane Cowell, Catherine Cornell, Mary Anderson, Helena Modjeska, Ellen Terry, and Julia Marjole, to mention only a few.

"Juliet" in Silents From memories of these performances Miss Shearer has most to fear, but they are not of the stage, past or present. The screen's Juliet, Theda Bara and Beverly Bayne, worked in the now out-moded silents, in the earlier days at that. And the only Juliet of the talking screen with which her work may be compared is Norma Shearer herself, unless Katharine Hepburn's recitation in "Morning Glory" be considered. Miss Shearer appeared in the "balcony scene" with John Gilbert in "The Hollywood Revue of 1929."

Absorbing "Romeo and Juliet" and becoming letter-perfect in Shakespeare's lines for her role has been Miss Shearer's preoccupation the past three months. More than 400 volumes on the play, together with 15 versions of the tragedy as it has been presented on the stage, have constituted her research library.

Thinks Screen Greater Miss Shearer has no desire, however, to play the role on the stage, because, she says, "I consider the assessed value of property in county declines."

WREKA RODEO BRINGS MANY FANCY RIDERS; TIA LANGE IS QUEEN

YREKA, Cal., Oct. 10.—(Sp.)—Plans were completed today for the accommodation of a large attendance at the 3-day rodeo here tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Miss Tia Lange of Yreka will preside over the festival as queen.

Extensive improvements have been made at the county fairgrounds here as it is expected that the rodeo will be first of a series of annual events. About 70 head of bucking and saddle horses arrived here Sunday and since then Joe Bealer and George Noble, managers and all-around cowboys, have been whipping the program into form.

LEAGUE APPROVAL GIVEN PENALTIES AGAINST ITALIANS

At Geneva the approval of the league for sanctions was overwhelming, with at least 50 of the 59 members definitely on record in favor of punitive action.

Germany has said it will remain neutral in the East African war. But it has not yet said it will not supply Italy with material or military equipment. With Austria and Hungary refraining from any sanctions—and if a nation voted against sanctions in the league, it does not have to abide by sanctions—the economic road is open from Berlin to Rome.

Despite this, British diplomats—the guiding spirits behind the drive for sanctions—are certain economic and financial penalties can be carried out. Albert, they had some apprehension over the future and hinted pressure of some kind may be applied to Austria and Hungary.

Naval Blockade Talked. An Italian spokesman in Geneva, when such talk became current, told the Associated Press any naval blockade against Italy could mean only one thing—war.

"Why will the world not recognize Italy is stifling out to death and needs to find an outlet?" he asked. "Why doesn't it realize? It must re-
