Fellowship Meet Is Well Attended

The fellowship supper at the First Baptist church was well attended last week. Rev. W. A. Dawes, the pastor, had charge of the program at the tables which were decorated with autumn leaves. Rev. Dawes, whose subject was "prayer," called first on Deacon Neff who spoke on the necessity for prayer for the pastor and church services. Prayers were led by Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Lester. Mrs. Harold spoke for the Sunday school, urging more prayer. Prayer was then led by E. S. Stinson. Mrs. Knight led in singing.
Oscar Ross, president of B. Y. P. U., spoke, as did Mrs. J. E. Lester. For the service department of the church, Mrs. Everett Finley was heard and Mrs. W. A. Dawes advocated prayer for the world wide guild for girls. Mrs. J. E. Ely then led in prayer, the choir sang "Doxology" and Dr. Eaton closed with prayer.
Today is rally day at the First Baptist.

Pendleton Lads Hurt In Smashup

Here Are New Ideas For Tasty Sandwiches

If you give evening bridge parties and have exhausted your sandwich ideas perhaps some of these may prove delectable novelties.
Kippered herring mashed in its own oil and spread on thin strips of toast go well with an evening beverage. A sprinkling of vinegar and some peppers, ground add just that necessary unusual and delicious flavor.
Or you might care to use peanut butter and to save it from being obvious and dull cut a number of thin slices of cucumber and put one on each peanut butter covering, adding a dash of lime juice for flavoring. If you want your cucumber slices to look dreary use a fork around the edges to give them a fringed look.

The W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Bell Littrell was hostess to the W. C. T. U. Thursday at her home, 113 South Newtown. The president, Mrs. E. A. Oldenburg, presided and nearly thirty members and friends enjoyed the splendid talks given. Rev. Ralph Peterson took as his subject "The Gospel Had a Mind to Work," Neh. 4:3. He read the story of the rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem and urged the need of rebuilding the walls of temperance. He closed the devotional message with the poem, "We Shall Build On."
Rev. Wolford Dawes spoke on temperance education as carried on in religious schools, such as denominational colleges, Sunday schools and vacation Bible schools. He recommended the picture method of temperance teaching and stated that graduates of denominational colleges are in demand as teachers in our public schools.
Stating that the hope of the temperance movement lies with the young people, Don Hucksabee told of the discussion groups of young people meeting at his home. He estimated that about one child in five in Medford is on the roll in some religious school with one out of seven being a fairly regular attendant. He thought the W. C. T. U. could help by obtaining literature for the teachers in church schools.
Mrs. Oldenburg reported the plan of the national W. C. T. U. for a teachers' training school in alcohol education which will be held January 1 to April 1 in Evanston, Ill., under the instruction of Bertha Rachel Palmer. This was made possible by a gift of $2000 by a woman who attended the national W. C. T. U. convention at Atlantic City and heard the stirring messages given there. During seven months campaign, 25,504 new members were gained and 433 new unions formed in the United States.

Incorporate For Aid To Ethiopia
NEW ORK, Oct. 12.—(AP)—An agency incorporated under the name of "American Aid for Ethiopia" has been established to provide Americans with a means of contributing to medical aid for sick and wounded in Ethiopia. Dr. William Jay Schieffelin, chairman of the board of directors of the new organization, announced today.
