"The three outstanding Gilbert and Sullivan operas suitable for high school production are 'H. M. S. Pinafore,' 'The Mikado,' and 'The Pirates of Penzance,'" stated Mrs. Leake. "This will be the first time we have produced 'The Pirates of Penzance' with a full high school cast."

There will be two evening performances. One matinee performance will be given for students.

ROOSEVELT QUITS COLON FOR NORTH

COLON, Panama, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The United States cruisers Houston and Portland, bearing President Roosevelt and his party, sailed at 8:00 a. m. today, unaccompanied by airplanes or surface craft.

The two big warships moved toward the north without announcing their destination. Neither the commandant of the 15th naval district nor the Panama canal marine superintendent was advised of the movement.

It was generally assumed the destination was off the San Blas islands since President Roosevelt was known to desire a sample of the excellent fishing to be found there.

Previously, it had been expected the president would request a naval review at Coco Solo, but it now is believed this idea has been abandoned.

MISSING HUNTER WALKS INTO CAMP

MINERAL, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Amos J. Cruickshank, 70, Santa Ana banker, sought by forest rangers in the wilds of Lassen Volcanic national park for three days, walked into the McGowan Lake camp late yesterday, apparently in good health and spirits.

The McGowan camp is located but a short distance from where Cruickshank started on a deer hunting trip Monday. He was caught in a swirling snow storm that struck the Sierra Nevadas. Searchers had all but given up hope of finding him alive. It was feared by rangers that he had become blinded by the storm and fallen into one of the many crevies of the rugged country in this vicinity.

Cruickshank told persons at the McGowan camp that he had spent most of the time while "lost" at a ranger's cabin.

Cruickshank is the father of Josephine Cruickshank, high ranking tennis player.

Games Shut Down

Today slot machines, dart games, pool hall card games, horse racing wires and all other forms of gaming were shut down. There have been occasions in the past when city and county officials have taken steps to close the town, but this is the first time it has been done so effectively.

The grand jury report made to Judge Ashurst, who previously had charged public officials with participating in graft, demanded that authorities immediately correct gambling conditions. The drive started last night.

A not true bill, the contents unrevealed by Judge Ashurst, was also returned.

D. A. Wants Probe

In connection with this it was recalled that the district attorney, Hardin Blackmer, who has been at odds with Ashurst, had asked for a complete investigation of his office.

The judge, in commenting on the not true bill, said that it was "an effort to thwart further investigation" in that particular case.

Ashurst sought to remove Blackmer from the investigation by having the governor appoint a special prosecutor. The governor refused but sent Superintendent Charles Pray of the state police to investigate conditions.

Upon releasing Pray's report, the governor told Klamath Falls and Klamath county to "wash their own dirty linen."

TURKEY SHIPMENT SLATED OCT. 26TH

First shipment for the year of Rogue river valley turkeys will be made October 26 by the Southern Oregon Turkey association, it was announced today by County Agent Robert G. Fowler. The shipment will consist of early birds. No price has been set as yet.

The turkey crop of the valley this season is estimated by the county agent at 45,000 birds, 2000 more than last year. The fowls are in good condition and have enjoyed favorable weather and range conditions. Eagle Point continues the leading turkey producing district but large flocks have been raised in all sections, according to County Agent Fowler.

In some flocks, fattening for the Thanksgiving trade has started.

RESUME FRUIT PICKING AS WEATHER CLEARS

Clearing skies today brought a general resumption of fruit harvesting in the orchards of the Rogue river valley, delayed the past week by rain and unsettled weather.

Orchardists concentrated on the picking of Newtown apples, to get them off the trees before they start dropping. They comprise the major portion of the crop to be picked. Winter Nellis pears are also being plucked.

Picking and packing is expected to last the better part of the next three weeks. There are plenty of pickers.

PT. ORFORD JOINS PROGRESS MARCH BY INCORPORATING

structed. An application for a railroad to the inland is now before the interstate commerce commission. New mills have started within the last few months. Real estate is moving and activity such as never before has visited this area is underway.

One of the sponsors of the development is Gilbert E. Gable, president of five corporations now active here. Gable said even under an incorporation Port Orford would have no city tax. But the action paves the way for a $51,000 PWA loan for a water system and sewer. So even those who could not bring themselves to vote in favor of so-called "progress" are not too disheartened.

Curry county, true, has been among the most isolated territories in the nation. But it has not been unknown. Through it the treacherous Rogue river wends its way to the sea. Scores of anglers from all parts of the west have visited the Rogue for years for their annual battle with the steelhead.

Port Orford's incorporation won't halt that influx. But it is taken as a warning that sooner or later the forests of the inland must make room for a population which already has broken Oregon's "last frontier."
