Mrs. Norris Improves—Friends of Mrs. M. J. Norris will be glad to know of her steady improvement at the Sacred Heart hospital, following a critical illness. Her son, Ralph Norris, who flew from New York last week to be with her, has returned to his home. Mrs. Ralph Norris will remain in the valley with relatives for another week.

New Store Schedule—After tomorrow, Medford stores will close on Saturdays at 8:30 instead of 9 p. m. It was announced today by C. D. Bean, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. Through special permission obtained from C. H. Gramm, state commissioner of labor, the stores there remained open to 9 p. m. during the fruit season, as it was found workers could not complete their shopping before the customary hour of closing at 8:30. The special permit expires November 1.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO CONDUCT FOOD SALE Adult Missionary society of the Christian church will hold a food sale Saturday in the former Campbell Clothing Co. building. They will also serve hot chili, coffee, cake, pie and sandwiches.

LACK OF CARE IN MARKING LETTERS FOUND INCREASING

A wave of carelessness in addressing mail was noted today by Roland O. Beach, assistant postmaster.

Letters have been coming in, both airmail and regular, with incorrect addresses and no directions for return, Mr. Beach said.

This morning two airmail and five regular letters, all posted in Medford, were received at the postoffice with incorrect addresses and no return address either on the outside or the inside, Mr. Beach stated.

Contain Money One letter, he related, contained $5, another $1 and a third a check. Letters that have wrong addresses and no return directions are opened to see if any enlightenment can be found inside. If no address is found inside the letters and they contain no valuables, they are thrown in the waste basket, Mr. Beach said.

If the improperly addressed letters contain money or other valuables, they are kept at the postoffice for a year. Then, if they have not been claimed, the valuables are turned over to the government as postal receipts, Mr. Beach explained.

Many letters posted here have contained Medford addresses that do not exist, the difficulty being, Mr. Beach sees it, that "Medford" is carelessly written when some other city is meant.

Writers To Blame This morning an airmail letter posted here was marked for an address in Medford which is non-existent. There was no return address on the envelope and none in the letter.

"We don't mind the work these improperly addressed letters entail," Mr. Beach said, "but we don't like to fall in making delivery. If we don't make delivery, we get blamed when as a matter of fact it is really the fault of the letter writers. We can't deliver a letter when we don't know the address."

Lady Lions Feted By Medford Club Lady Lions were entertained by the Lions club with a dinner and dance at the Knights of Pythias hall Wednesday night. Fifty couples were present.

Boastful Golfer Sinks Tee Shot For Hole In One Bellingham, Wash., Oct. 25. (P)—Harold Lahtonen, former Bellingham State Normal school golfer, believes there's nothing like "calling your shots."

Playing at the Lakeway public course with Bob Linsley, Lahtonen borrowed his companion's No. 6 iron at the No. 8 hole, and said, "This is the way you have to hit 'em."

Lahtonen hit it. The shot was a hole-in-one, second ever made on the difficult hole.

Coming Sunday

Screen fans have been waiting to see the inevitable Claudette Colbert do another picture of the same type as "It Happened One Night," which not only won for her the official tag of "the best actress of 1934" but also brought high honors to the director, the scenarist, the co-star and the producer.

On Sunday, at the Craterian theater, this wish will be made to come true, for "She Married Her Boss," the new picture in which she is starred, has won the unanimous praise of critics and public alike for having the same delightful comedy-romance which characterized the first film.

Miss Colbert is seen as a painfully efficient private secretary to a young man with bad digestion and a memory of a recent marital experience that turned sour. Melvyn Douglas is the bitter boss. But while Miss Colbert sympathizes with his dreaps, she is rather impatient with his views on marriage, for she finds herself in love with him.

The home of the boss, who is the active owner of a large metropolitan department store, is in a sad state of affairs. A neurotic sister and a spoiled, precocious nine-year-old daughter do everything in their power to make his life miserable. The house, held in trust by a thoroughly demoralized, then again, he suspects that his secretary, whom he just can't do without, has been receiving generous overtures from other firms. So he decides it would be a good idea to marry her.

But the secretary has no intention of being a domestic goddess at home and at the office, and gives up business for domesticity, much to the boss' chagrin. In time, of course, the secretary divines his real reason for marrying her, and then the fun begins to fly.

On the same program with "She Married Her Boss" the Craterian will show another feature, "Wings Over Ethiopia," actually filmed in Africa and showing the "inside dope" of Italy's drive into the dark country.

John Wayne in "The Trail Beyond," adapted from the novel of the great north woods, by James Oliver Curwood, "The Wolf Hunters" plays at the Roxy theater tomorrow only.

One of Curwood's best stories comes to life with such stars as Noah Beery, Noah Beery, Jr., and Versa Hills in support of the star, John Wayne. The sixth episode of the serial, "Red Rider," with Buck Jones, is also on the same bill.

on first, and crushed Franklin high beneath a 40 to 7 score here yesterday.

Ken Mitmer, Franklin tackle, scored the touchdown on a pass which rebounded from a Washingtonian over the goal line. At halftime the score was 7 to 7, and then the charging colonials turned on the steam. Harbo scored three Washington touchdowns.

James Dunn Coming to Rialto

James Dunn, who starred in Vina Delmar's "Bad Girl," is now starred in Miss Delmar's new story, "Bad Boy," coming to the Rialto theater Sunday.

"Bad Boy" tells the story of the average modern boy trying to get along. In this case Dunn, through a misunderstanding, is labeled as worthless for his habitual hanging around pool halls and street corners. Due to the reputation he gains thereby, he is unable to cope with the parental disfavor of the girl he wants to marry. But the two do marry, secretly, and he sets about reforming under an assumed name. The comedy, and little dramas that every young couple must meet, make "Bad Boy" the ideal family entertainment.

Louise Fazenda plays the part of the understanding landlady; Dorothy Wilson is the girl; Beulah Bondi and John Way are the parents.
