RELIEF WORKERS MUST REGISTER

All residents seeking aid under the national youth administration must be registered at the local office of the United States re-employment service in city hall, it was announced today. Only those between 18 and 24 years of age, inclusive, are eligible.

The WPA office stated that out of the 146 who are eligible under the work relief program, only a few have registered.

"It is highly advisable for anyone looking for employment to avail himself of the services of our national employment offices," the statement said.

Simple Home Treatment For Swollen Veins

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins or bunions, the best advice for home treatment that anyone in this world can give is to get a prescription known as Moore's Emerald Oil.

Simply ask Jarmin Drug Store or your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you should notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment are no longer troublesome. Emerald should be continued until the veins are healthy and the pain is gone. It is a powerful, yet harmless, inhibitory antiseptic—refund guaranteed if dissatisfied.

A combined capacity of only 4,000,000 gallons. The board of water commissioners believes that the additional storage facilities are needed as a safety and insurance measure. The water board is authority for the statement that construction of the reservoir will not increase the tax levy or the water rates. The bonds, the commissioners state, are to be serviced from revenue provided by the water rates.

Proposal Not New. The water board has emphasized that the proposal to construct an additional reservoir is not new. Since the present water system was inaugurated, the commissioners state, every board, with its engineers, has recommended erection of another reservoir and it had long been planned to proceed with construction after 1938 when bonds of the old Fish lake line would be retired.

The proposition has come up at this time because of the federal grant of $65,250. If the grant is not accepted, it has been pointed out, it will be lost for all time and later the city will have to bear the entire expense of building the reservoir.

It has been estimated by Robert A. Duff, water board engineer, that construction of the reservoir would provide 60,600 hours of work during the six winter months when employment is normally slack.

Old Line Useless. The old Fish lake pipe line, which has been used as a standby to keep the present reservoirs full in case of a break in the main line, is described as practically useless. Constructed of wood and built 25 years ago, the Fish lake line, it is said, must soon be abandoned completely as its utility does not justify the excessive cost of repair and maintenance.

The Oregon Insurance Rating bureau has informed the water board that if the old pipe line is abandoned without providing for additional water storage, insurance rates on mercantile buildings and their contents will be increased 4 per cent. It is pointed out that merchants alone would save a substantial sum of money annually by averting an increase in insurance costs.

Consumption Huge. Statistics show that for a few minutes last August 12 domestic consumption of water was at the daily rate of 13,850,000 gallons while the actual consumption that day was 8,850,000 gallons, or more than twice the capacity of the existing reservoirs. It is possible to consume more than the reservoirs hold because under ordinary circumstances water is drawn directly from the source through the pipe line. It is only in emergencies, when the pipe line is closed for repairs that the reservoirs are tapped.

It was emphasized by the water board that if a serious break occurred in the pipe line the reservoirs would be quickly depleted and residents would suffer from a water shortage, to say nothing of the danger of a fire that could not be checked because of lack of water.

Some time ago the water board was authorized to issue bonds to the extent of $50,000. That issue, which has never been sold or utilized, will be cancelled upon approval of the $50,000 issue in the special election tomorrow.

Form of Ballot. The ballot on which Medford citizens will vote tomorrow follows:

BALLOT TITLE
CITY OF MEDFORD WATER BONDS, SERIES B

An act of municipal legislation amending the Charter of the City of Medford, by adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 72-L authorizing the issuance and sale of not to exceed $60,000 "City of Medford Water Bonds, Series B" to provide funds to make additions, betterments and extensions of the water system of the City of Medford, and terminating the authority of the council to issue unissued bonds as authorized by Section 72-C of the Charter all as set forth in said proposed Section 72-L.

ANN HARDING TO HAVE DAUGHTERS CUSTODY IS COURT ANNOUNCEMENT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(P)—By court order, after a long legal fight, Hollywood's corn-silk blonde film actress, Ann Harding, is to have sole custody of her daughter, Jane, 7, except for certain minor concessions to the divorced husband and father, Harry C. Bannister.

This order resulting from an unexpected agreement between counsel was entered late yesterday after hearing on Bannister's petition for custody. Miss Harding already had sole custody by supplementary decree last spring from a Nevada court, where she divorced Bannister in 1932.

In yesterday's decision here, Bannister is permitted the right of "reasonable visitation" at Miss Harding's

Hollywood Hills home to see his daughter. He is permitted also to take her from the home two weeks each, every three months, Saturday morning to 8 p. m. Sunday, on three days' advance notice to Miss Harding. Bannister and Miss Harding each had accused the other of being an "unfit person" to have custody of the child. Each testified at the hearing but did not substantiate these accusations.
