HEALTH NEGLECT RESPONSIBLE FOR SUFFERING, DEATH

Famous Doctor Blames Public Apathy in Address at Opening of Clinical Congress College of Surgeons

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—(UP)—The fellow who "hates to see a doctor" and resists treatment probably will be one of the thousands of persons who die annually in the United States, Dr. C. Jeff Miller warned today in a statement at the 25th annual clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Public apathy, forever "putting off" needed medical treatment, is mainly responsible for widespread suffering and premature deaths, he insisted.

Total Loss Heavy

"Whose fault is it that United States wage earners lose two and one-half million working days each year, and school children lose more than a million and one-half days, because of sickness?" he asked in a scorching arraignment that touched off the annual meeting of the nation's leading "cut to cure" practitioners.

Dr. Miller, gynecologist at Tulane University School of Medicine, declared that such results as have been achieved in raising the general level of public health have been accomplished "with little or no cooperation from the individual."

"Whose fault is it that hospitals and physicians' offices are crowded with men and women suffering degenerative diseases, due in part to faulty hygiene, or to inadequate treatment of previous diseases, many of them preventable?

Death Toll Cited

"Why should 13,000 people die annually of diphtheria in the United States, 11,000 of them children under 10 years of age? Whose fault is it that thousands still die annually of tuberculosis in this country, and thousands still die of typhoid fever?

"Whose is the responsibility for the thousands of cases of smallpox annually in the United States, and the fact that this nation still stands in the position of having each year more cases of smallpox than any country except Russia and India?

"The fault is largely that of the public. It is a personal as well as a community duty that each citizen should make use of the opportunities that lie at his door, and that he now so recklessly ignores."

Approximately 2200 surgeons, representing not only the United States but half a dozen foreign countries, were to attend the congress' sessions.

Highway Blocked.

PORTLAND, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Traffic on the Columbia river highway was blocked temporarily last night by an earth slide about 10 miles east of Cascade locks. One-way traffic was opened soon by an emergency road crew and it was believed normal traffic would soon be resumed.

OREGON CITY, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Jessie May Kautz, 47, of Molalla, was killed near Scotts Mills yesterday when the automobile driven by her son, Eugene, 22, got out of control on a steep grade and overturned. The accident occurred when the drive shaft broke and the car backed down hill, out of control.

'GUILTY' IS SUBJECT MORNING SERMON AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. W. A. Dawes of the First Baptist church gave two very good sermons Sunday. His subject in the morning was "Guilty." Rom. 3: 10. "There is none righteous, no not one." Rom. 3: 23: "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

"All are innocent till proved guilty, and the burden of proof rests upon all," he said. "The Gentile world has no excuse, they could have been righteous but they would not.

"Failure or neglect produces indifference. Indifference, carelessness, then a distinct attempt to put God out of the life.

"We have the Bible. How can we plead ignorance? If the church as a whole follows the light it has, much can be accomplished.

"The one who knows and does not do is the greater sinner.

"Paul tells the penalty. 'The wages of sin is death.' There is a way of escape.

"The gift of God is eternal life through his son Jesus Christ."

The subject in the evening was "After Death."

"Several have been raised from the dead but none have left any record. The only true record is in God's word," the pastor said.

SEMI-ANNUAL IS DECIDED ON FOR CRATER MAGAZINE

According to the editor, Mignon Phipps, the "Crater Magazine," an official publication of the Medford Senior High school, will be issued semi-annually this year, with first edition off the press December 20.

It is the purpose of the staff to keep the strictly magazine type, hoping that it will prove more satisfactory to the students than the annual. Articles will all be written in story form instead of the usual newspaper style.

This Crater will be larger than previous fall editions as it will contain 40 pages of interesting stories, photographs, jokes and cartoons picturing main school events of the semester.

The sport section will consist of complete accounts of all the football games played this season. There will also be action pictures of exciting moments, and group photographs of the members of the team.

The Operetta and Junior Class will be represented in this issue with most of the activities and organizations. There will also be a page on debate, including stories on both inter-club debates and on the team which will represent the school.

A special effort has been made to keep the price of the magazine within reach of every student and yet retain a high literary standing. Therefore it is necessary to have the full cooperation of all merchants of this city by lending their combined support through advertising. This year a Crater will be given each firm which assists in making the magazine a financial success.

The staff for the 1935-1936 editions of the Crater is as follows: Mignon Phipps, editor; Stan Kunzman, assistant editor; Kathleen Dillard, business manager; Lois Herman, advertising manager; Phoebe Dean, circulation manager; Mary Lou Long, art editor; Kathryn Mead, Rose Ellen Sloneker, Dorothy Buchter and Jean Platt, news staff; Kazno Maruyanna, sports; Catherine Ford, Sam Richardson, Peggy Reter and Dale Roberts, features; Phyllis Fulton, secretary; Betty Purdin and Doris Ford, typists.

AUTO VIOLATIONS ASSESSED FINES

Dave L. James, 402 Newtown street, was today fined $5 and costs in justice court for driving an auto without lights. He was given until November 7 to pay the assessment.

Cameron H. Johnson, Medford, paid $1 and costs for failure to procure an auto license. Clayton Gaddy of Jacksonville, charged with the same offense, was assessed the same, and given time to pay.

Roy Sutton, charged with hunting without a license, was fined $25 and costs and given six months to pay.

Dale Franklin, charged with hunting in an enclosed field without permission, was scheduled to enter a plea today.

REBECCA'S WEDDING EVANGELIST'S TOPIC

Evangelist E. W. Winn spoke at the Free Methodist church yesterday morning on "Rebecca's Wedding Trip." He showed this is a type of the individual's call and preparation to be a part of the bride of Christ. The important truth impressed on his hearers was, Rebecca said "I will go."

In the evening the church was again well filled when he spoke on "The Analysis of Life." Life, he said, is to be valued by the value of the soul. In the making of life the little things will ever remain the big things. Deeds of Washington, Lincoln and Lundbergh, worthy as they were, will be forgotten, while the widow that gave her two mites and the lad his two fish will continue to be told. Meetings continue through the week, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

BAPTIST COUNCILMAN WILL SPEAK HERE AT WEDNESDAY MEETING

W. G. Boyle, of Brooklyn, N. Y., member of the executive committee of the national council of northern Baptist men, will speak to the men and women at the First Baptist church here Wednesday evening, following a fellowship supper of sandwiches and covered dish at 6:30. His address will be followed by men's conference.

W. G. BOYLE

Mr. Boyle is assisting Mr. Jerome and other leaders of the council in seeking to help the men of the churches determine the lines of service best fitted to meet their situations. In various relationships he has had a wide experience in conference methods.

The national council has operated under the present plan since 1929 and in this period of research it has become apparent that Baptist men are interested in putting across in their various committees about fifteen different tacks, and local conditions very largely govern what they do.

The council has chosen out of these fifteen tasks a seven-task plan of work for discussion with groups of men. The uniqueness of this whole approach to a community is that organization is placed in a secondary position and the evident needs of the community very largely govern the things which a local church determines it will do.

PERILS ARE BRAVED BY ENGLISH DIVER TO NUMBER SEALS

PLYMOUTH, Eng. (UP)—Diving through surf from a small dinghy, a young research officer of the Marine Biological station here is making a census of the seals which live in the inaccessible caves of North Cornwall.

His survey, undertaken at considerable risk, will provide the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries with vital information from the point of view of fisheries protection.

Seals which live along the coast are said to be responsible for the serious damage to fishermen's nets. The seal census will tell the ministry's experts how many seals there are; whether grey seals, which are larger and do more damage, predominate over the common variety, and in which caves they breed.

CENTENARIAN SMOKES 20 CIGARETTES DAILY

WORCESTER, Mass. — (UP) — Centenarian Adam Mousanian on his daily walk is a familiar figure in Worcester's Armenian quarter.

Adam says—through an interpreter—that he's 110 years old, but his wife, Mrs. Eva Mousanian, 70 herself, shakes her head and whispers, "He's only 105."

He derives great pleasure from strong Armenian cigarettes, of which he smokes about 20 a day. He has no advice to those who seek longevity.

Adam came to America 24 years ago and has been married for more than 60 years.

FIRE DESTROYS HAY BUILDING; LOSS IS $800

Osenbrugge was in Portland and was not expected back until tonight.

Cause of the fire was undetermined today, but Chief Roy Elliott believed that one of the transients who have used the building as a shelter accidentally dropped a lighted match or cigarette stubb in the hay.

The fire department was notified at 6:25 p.m. and the hay and straw weer still smouldering this morning, one fireman remaining on duty all night with a hose line. The fire was in the center of several lumber yards and packing houses.

Hundreds of persons witnessed the fire, attracted by great billows of smoke that was tinged with an onminnous red by the city lights as it drifted northward over the business section.

The building was a small frame structure with a corrugated iron roof. Most of the structure had to be torn down so that the firemen could get at the burning hay and straw.

GIRLS' CLUB CAGERS PRACTICE THURSDAY ROOSEVELT SCHOOL

The Girls' Community club announces that the Thursday night basketball practice has been changed to the Roosevelt school gym, where a larger court is available. On Mondays, however, the class will continue to meet in the small gym of the high school. Practice begins at 7:00 o'clock both evenings.

The club feels particularly fortunate this year in having as coach Mrs. Arlene Thompson, formerly a student at the University of Oregon, where her work received much favorable comment, and later an instructor at Longview, Wash. Under her direction the girls are gaining a thorough knowledge of basketball fundamentals. With most of last year's players back, and many new girls coming regularly the class promises to be even more successful than last year.

To girls interested in basketball who have as yet been unable to attend practice, or who have hesitated because of inexperience, the Girls' Community club extends a general invitation.

MEMORIAL RITES FOR BICKERDIKES

Memorial services were held Sunday morning at the Four Square church here for Rev. James Arthur Bickerdike, and wife, Rev. Mary Ella Hedges Bickerdike, former residents of the Rogue River valley, who passed away recently in Los Angeles. Mrs. Bickerdike, a sister of Dr. A. R. Heages of Medford, died September 15 and Mr. Bickerdike on October 8.

They came to Medford 22 years ago, later going to Angelus temple Bible school, then coming back here to hold services in different parts of the valley. Their last pastorate was the Four Square church here. They became ill over a year ago and were forced to return to Los Angeles where they could be with their son and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Bickerdike leave many sorrowing friends and relatives both here and in Los Angeles.
