

CCC CONTINGENT REPORT FOR DUTY MEMORIAL PARK

Work Of Landscaping Roxy Ann Site To Start — Model Camp Established.

Company 1652 arrived by special train at 1:00 p. m. yesterday from Grants Pass and took immediate possession of the new CCC camp that had been prepared for the contingent in Prescott Memorial park on the western flank of Roxy Ann a few miles east of Medford.

The 200 men composing the company were met at the station by a fleet of CCC transport trucks which were taken immediately to their camp which became a beehive of activity as supplies, equipment and personal belongings were unloaded and put in place.

Has Sceptic Charm
"Boy, are we glad to get here!" exclaimed Capt. Ross E. Wilson, commanding officer, as he made a quick visual survey of his new surroundings. "We have been living up in Washington in tents, with the mercury hovering around the zero point. Boy, this looks like paradise!"

The camp is situated in the midst of scenic beauty. In the background are high, gently sloping hills, topped with stately trees now robed in lace of snow. Close by are well-kept orchards, their shrubs glowing yellow in the autumn hues of crisp red, bright yellow and soft gold. The atmosphere here is one of pastoral tranquility.

The camp is said to be one of the most complete CCC layouts in the country. Completed only recently, it was built especially for a CCC contingent.

Own Light Plant
The camp consists of four U-shaped barracks, each having a capacity of 50 men. A T-shaped mess hall accommodates the entire company. There is an administration building containing offices for the park personnel and CCC officers, supply room, canteen and recreation hall. There are quarters for the army officers and supervisory personnel. A modern infirmary will have a physician or first aid technician in attendance at all times to take care of minor cases. There are also several accessory and service buildings.

The camp has its own electric light and water-heating plants, the water coming from a spring through 2,800 feet of pipe to a reservoir, above the camp on a hill, having a capacity of 9,000 gallons. The water pipe line has a 125-foot head, assuring ample pressure under all conditions. The spring has a daily flow of 12,000 gallons.

Park Personnel
The camp was built by the army with several other services assisting. The state park division of the U. S. park service is in charge of the park which has an area of 1,700 acres. The park personnel will have a physician or first aid technician in attendance at all times to take care of minor cases. There are also several accessory and service buildings.

The park is not yet completed. As units of the CCC camp the park service is to construct a tool room, repair shop and garage.

For Public Use
Landscaping is to be done by Mr. Goodall in cooperation with the army. Other projects planned within the park, Mr. Kent explained, include the building of roads and trails, erection of telephone lines, fire breaks and the fencing of the entire 1,700 acres. Beehive-infested pines and dead timber are to be cleaned out and camping facilities for the public installed throughout the park, Mr. Kent said. Poison oak is to be eradicated and three observation points erected.

"When we are finished, the public will have a beautiful park where picnics and other out-door activities may be enjoyed," Mr. Kent stated. "It will be possible to drive within a quarter mile of the top of Roxy Ann and easy trails will then lead to the summit, 3,800 feet high. From the top one has a view of five different towns. Mount Shasta can be seen plainly and Mount Pitt looks like a giant."

"While we are talking about the park," Mr. Kent continued, "I want to say a word about the splendid cooperation we have had from all sides. City, county, state and army officials have all contributed and we have all worked very harmoniously together."

The road leading to the park is to be widened and surfaced as a WPA project, Mr. Kent said.

Chalk up another score for the hit-and-run drivers. Last night the car of Ernest J. Smith, parked next to the curb in front of the City Cleaning and Dyeing establishment on North Riverside, was struck from behind by a machine going north at an estimated speed of 30 miles an hour. The driver of the offending automobile barely slackened speed enough to extricate his car before proceeding on his way.

Mrs. Smith, who was occupying the front seat of the parked machine, was thrown against the steering wheel by the shock, which propelled the car a full length ahead, and Janet Wray Smith, about to enter the back seat of the car, was knocked to the sidewalk. Neither was able to get the number of the other car, although stating that it appeared to be a Chevrolet sedan, probably a 1926 or 1927 model.

Damage to the Smith automobile amounted to approximately $30.

Rental situation is still acute. Rents are continuing to rise as general conditions improve and it is now cheaper to own a home than to rent one, according to Warner.

After the matches Willard stated that Law was evidently trying too hard, and had turned in a much weaker game than usual. In the singles, Mrs. Del Barkhuff of Seattle eliminated Mrs. Bill Hurley of Los Angeles, and Barkhuff and Law doubled to take Hurley and Goss.

In the men's doubles, Law and Goss edged out Willard and Max Pierce. Pierce turned in a remarkably smooth performance in the last two games of the set.

Hess was enroute to Klamath Falls to view the Medford-Klamath football game yesterday. Coach Don Faber of Ashland was the driver and only other occupant of the machine. According to meager accounts received here last night, the Faber car had skidded on the icy road, but it was unknown whether it turned over. Faber was uninjured.

Hess's injury is expected to strike a blow to Ashland's hopes of upsetting the Medford football team this year, he being the chief ground game runner, punter and kicker on the squad.

Higher prices for turkeys were foreseen yesterday by A. Patton after he had completed a survey of Rogue River valley ranches for his concern, J. Garbini & Company of San Francisco.

"The shortage of turkeys in the midwest this year is sure to bring higher prices for the birds in this locality," Mr. Patton said before leaving for San Francisco. "The quality of turkeys in the Rogue valley this year is especially good, improvement having been noted for several successive years. The poultry business here is developing into an important industry."

Mr. Patton said he would return to Medford about November 18, when actual delivery of turkeys will begin.

Announces A New Policy of Modern Merchandising —

- The cost of conducting a business, commonly known as "overhead," has been the nemesis of business men for years.
- The expense, or overhead, is naturally a part of the actual cost of the merchandise to the merchant, and therefore is reflected in the resale price structure to the customer.
- If a means is found whereby this overhead can be greatly reduced by condensing stock, cutting rental expense to less than half, as well as the elimination of many other costly methods so prevalent in the American system of retail business, it will naturally follow that merchants can establish a lower price structure for their patrons. The savings in operating expense should be passed to the customer.
- November first marked the first anniversary of this store in the new location at 216 East Main street.
- The past twelve months have been spent in selecting from the best Jewelers' Markets the finest lines, and the choicest of merchandise at the lowest possible cash prices.
- I am now pleased to announce to the public that I have for inspection the finest and choicest of all NEW stock, including Diamonds, Watches, Wedding Rings and individual and distinctive Jewelry I have ever shown since establishing my first store in Medford twenty-two years ago.
- It is with considerable pleasure that I now invite the public to inspect this exceptionally fine all new stock and I am sure an intelligent comparison of quality and prices will leave no doubt in the shopper's mind as to the application of Modern Methods in Merchandising—the text of this announcement.
