

WINTER CEREMONY SLATED SATURDAY ASHLAND ARMORY

Uniformed bodies of Hillah Temple will be in the limelight at the 1935 Winter Ceremonial with Rex Barnett, Captain of the Hillah Patrol as general Ceremonial chairman. A host of committee members under Barnett's able leadership, have been busily perfecting plans for a brilliant conclave which will be held at the Ashland Armory on Saturday, November 16.

The program arranged by Chairman Barnett and his committees, is replete with business sessions, a parade, band concert, second section work and social good-fellowship sessions. At 4:30 p. m. the novices will be received at the Armory and Recorder Rufus Detrick will supervise the preliminary details. At 4:45 p. m. a short business session will be held, followed by a social hour on the mezzanine floor of the Armory between 5:00 and 6:00 o'clock. A delicious turkey banquet will hold the stage from 6:00 to 7:30 p. m. and the Armory basement has been selected for this repast.

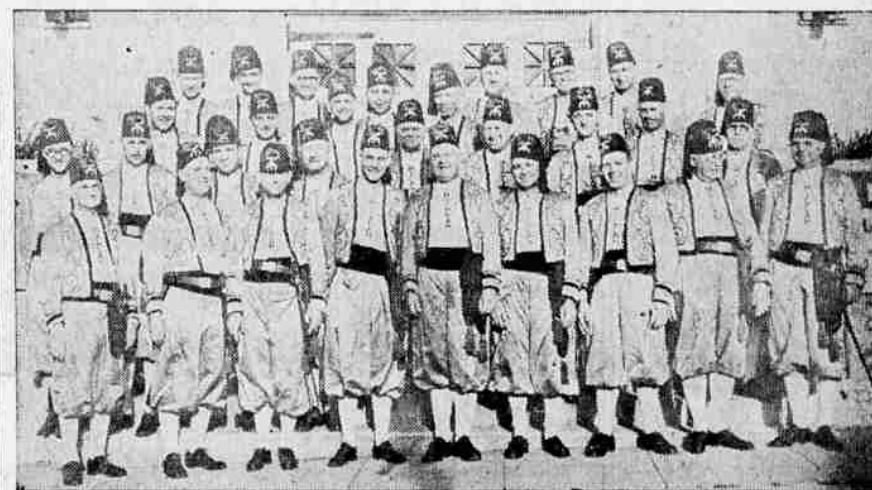

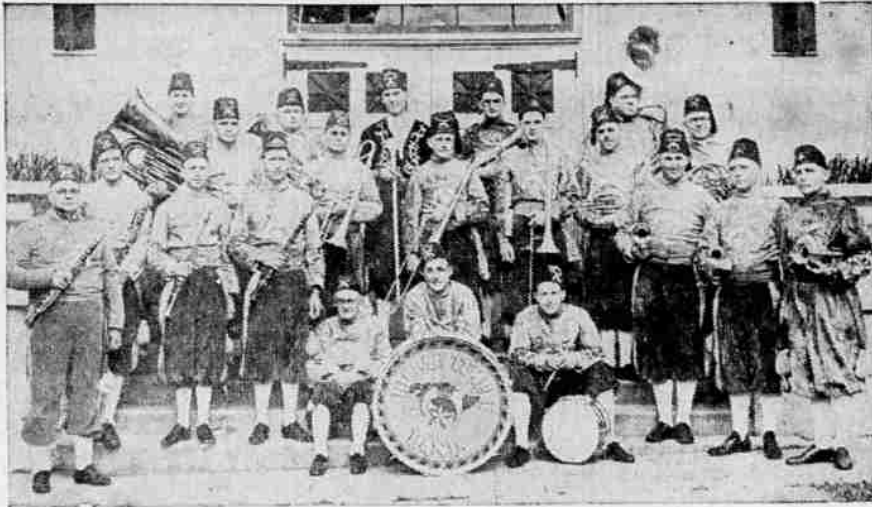

When the clock strikes 7:30 the Hillah night parade will leave the Armory to traverse the business district of Ashland. This parade will feature the Band, Patrol, Drum Corps, Novices, Potentate, Divan and Nobility. Upon returning to the Armory the Drum Corps from Klamath Falls will present a colorful review, followed by brilliant drills by the Hillah Patrol at 8:30 o'clock. At 8:45 p. m. the Potentate and Divan, Past Potentates of Hillah Temple, and visiting Shrine dignitaries will be formally introduced to the Nobles, followed by other details of the program preliminary to the second section work.

The painful pilgrimage for candidates across the burning sands of the desert will begin at 9:15 p. m. and the Hillah wrecking crew under the able supervision of director Dade Terrett, will conduct the trembling candidates over the sizzling desert wastes which will take those who can survive the ordeal into the Mystic Order of the Shrine. Every indication points to a most successful Winter Carnival, with a generous turnout of Pezzed Shriners participating.

EXTRA GIRLS BALK AT ACTING IN STUDIO RAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Twenty screen extra girls balked at working in a downpour of studio-made rain, although the studio argued they had been forewarned and even promised a delicious hot lunch. The state division of industrial relations took the girls' complaint under advisement.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—(AP)—An Italian wood importer, Blaise Pascoli, told the Portland chamber of commerce there is a "real demand" for Oregon walnut, maple and myrtle wood in Italy and France. Pascoli is on a buying trip. He denied that Italy was using Oregon wood for gunstocks.

ANNIVERSARY SALE BURELSON'S STORE ATTRACTS THROG

Southern Oregon women today crowded Burelson's store to take advantage of the hundreds of interesting values offered in the sensational Seventh Anniversary Sale which started this morning. A number of extra salesladies have been engaged to assist during this selling event.

New winter apparel for ladies has been secured by Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Burelson for this annual store-wide sale in addition to the already large stock of attractive merchandise. Particularly low prices are being featured for the seventh anniversary in appreciation of the generous patronage this well-known firm has enjoyed during the past year.

Smart dresses, coats, blouses, sweaters, skirts, lingerie and hosiery on the main floor has been marked down considerably. The millinery department in the downstairs store has an exceptionally complete selection of new winter hats at special prices. Lower priced garments and house dresses are also located in the downstairs store.

Although Burelson's store always has an impressive stock of fine apparel, this fall shoppers will find even more than usual to select from. By frequent trips to the city fashion centers, Mr. and Mrs. Burelson keep in close touch with styles which will appeal to women of the Rogue River valley.

Seven years ago Burelson's store was located on South Central avenue, where the owners made several improvements and expansions before moving to their present quarters in the Medford building on North Central. This establishment is now one of the best known in the city and includes a large domestic store in addition to the main floor.

JUDGES SELECTED FOR RABBIT SHOW

ASHLAND, Nov. 14.—(Sp.)—C. S. Brewster and Hal E. Osburn will be the judges at the second annual Ashland Poultry and Rabbit show, December 13 and 14, it was announced today.

Brewster is a former professor at O. S. C. and now is an official in a milling company in Portland. He is known to be one of the best poultry judges in the Pacific northwest. Osburn, like Brewster, was a judge at the Ashland show of a year ago, and is well known as a rabbit official, having judged in some of the nation's major exhibitions.

By securing the services of these two men, entrants are assured of critical but fair judging. It is expected that Brewster and Osburn will be of assistance in drawing exhibitors for both are well known in Jackson county. Much interest is being indicated by the growers and breeders in the Ashland show with several Ganges contending for the special Ganges prize of five dollars.

SLOW IN SIGNING WHEAT CONTRACTS

Signing of the new wheat production control contracts starting in 1936, for a four-year period, is proceeding slowly, according to County Agent Robert G. Fowler. There are about two months left for the signing of the contracts and all holders of old contracts "are expected to sign up when they get around to it."

The county agent estimates little if any damage to grain crops as a result of the late cold spell. Some farmers report the fall sown grain is coming up "spotted." This may be due to other reasons, such as "treating" of the seed.

Farmers in the north part of the county also report an unusual number of squirrels, rabbits and coyotes coming down from the hills to "winter" in the valley. The rabbits and squirrels get after the grain and the coyotes the turkeys, chickens and sheep.

ANDRES APPOINTED GAS CO. MANAGER

Announcement was made this week by officials of the Southern Oregon Gas corporation of the appointment of J. P. Andres of Medford to the position of manager for the company in Ashland. Mr. Andres will immediately assume charge of the Lashia City store, relieving Al Parr, former manager, who has been transferred to another point in the district for the Southern Oregon Gas corporation. With a record of many years in the merchandising field, Andres is well qualified to fill his new position in Ashland. Much of his experience was gained through his association with Montgomery Ward & Company, having come to southern Oregon as manager for the Ward store in Medford.

TREASURE WITHOUT END

Millions of Gallons ready now—Millions of Gallons aging—Millions of Gallons in the making—Insure Seagram's Continuous Leadership

With most treasures—the more that is taken away—the less you have left.

But this is not true of the vast whiskey treasure held by the House of Seagram.

Seagram's treasure is being constantly replenished. Seagram's supply of fine whiskeys remains steady and continuous. And here is the reason for it.

A Treasure Ready

Today the House of Seagram holds millions of gallons of rare whiskeys—aged and ready for use. From these great stocks, Seagram brings you—now, without waiting—the very finest whiskeys. And yet—despite Seagram's popularity—this treasure is not running low. The fully aged stocks are ample to meet the nation-wide demand for years to come.

A Treasure Aging

In addition, every week and every year—more and more Seagram Whiskeys are "Coming of Age." Millions of gallons are now maturing in charred oak casks. Thousands upon thousands of gallons will be ready next month. Many thousands more, in the month after that. And every month, for years to come.

Nor is this all. There is still another Seagram treasure.

A Treasure in the Making

Every day in its huge American distilleries, Seagram is making whiskey and storing it away for "Time to Work its Wonders."

These are the elements that insure Seagram's continuous supply of aged whiskeys—actually treasure without end.

The Tradition of Finer Whiskeys

Through more than three generations, Seagram craftsmen have been discovering secrets of the blending and distilling arts which money could never buy. The whiskeys held by the House of Seagram have been distilled according to this tradition—the tradition of finer taste that has made Seagram's America's favorite.

Confidence only Leadership can win

What does this vast, continuing treasure mean to you? It means that you can buy with confidence where you see the Seagram name. It means that today, tomorrow and in future years you can "Say Seagram's" and be sure of whiskeys that are finer—whiskeys that taste better.
