Bing Crosby Coming to Craterian

Bing Crosby again has lovely Joan Bennett as his leading lady in "Two for Tonight," coming Sunday to the Craterian theater. Mary Boland adds the comedy touch with Lynn Overman also pitching in with his share of the Hocketown, Oklahoma, postoffice. He was arrested recently near Kerby in Josephine county. Meyers is alleged to be a fugitive from a federal road camp in Washington. He was arrested in Klamath Falls. Duke's wife and two children, who were being living in Cave City, were reported today to be destitute. Mr. Narreagan was to leave this afternoon on a business trip to Klamath Falls.

Now at Rialto

They said it with six-shooters when they expressed serious differences of opinion in the early days on the open range and one of those little disputes is pictured with all its deadly details in "Powder-Smoke Range," outdoor special starring Harry Carey and Hoot Gibson, starting a three-day run at the Rialto theater tonight.

Making the picture a real western all-star epic in cast values is the added presence of Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, Bob Steele, Sara Hardy, Frank Rice, Adrian Morris, Franklin Farnum, Bill Desmond, Wally Wales, Art Mix, Buffalo Bill, Jr., Buzz Barton, Eddie Dunn, Ray Mayer and William Farnum in active roles. Boots Mallory, the only feminine member of the cast, provides beauty in sharing the love interest of the story with Bob Steele.

Craterian Star

A dramatic story, rich in its sympathies, eloquent in its unusual photography and dealing with the fundamental story of a girl who has erred and her right to love again. "Way Down East" is now at the Craterian theater, with Henry Fonda and Rochelle Hudson co-starring in the leading roles.

The locale of "Way Down East" is the New England of the 1890's. Its principals are Russel Simpson, who acts a stern, principledquire; his sensitive dreamy son, Henry Fonda, and the girl, Rochelle Hudson.

Miss Hudson secures work in Simpson's household, but tells nothing of her past. Through the seasons, the barn dances, skating parties and various other festivities of the New England country, love grows up between Miss Hudson and Fonda.

Only one thing menaces that love, mysteriously, and that is the occasional appearance of Edward Trevor, their suave and worldly next door neighbor.

As the picture approaches its climax, the reason for this becomes apparent. Gossip reveals that Miss Hudson had been the victim of an unfortunate love affair, and that Trevor had wronged her.

Following a stormy scene in the Simpson household, Miss Hudson attempts to flee over the icy river.

is caught in the breaking of the ice jam. In the heroic scenes that follow and that bring the story to its happy close, "Way Down East" reveals one of the most moving and suspenseful climaxes which have ever been brought to the screen.
