

NOT GUILTY PLEA MADE BY WEST IN STABBING CHARGE

L. P. West, middle-aged mill worker, charged with assault with a deadly weapon for the stabbing of Don Montgomery, 29, logger, during a quarrel at a talent dance last Monday night, entered a plea of not guilty in justice court yesterday afternoon and his preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday. Montgomery, stabbed twice in the side, is reported as improving.

Bail, originally fixed at $1,000, was ordered reduced to $500 by the court. Friends were reported today as ready to supply the reduced amount and secure West's release from the county jail.

Subpoenas were ordered issued for West, calling as his witnesses Orville Maxwell and Evelyn Van de Berg.

The charge grew out of an incident at the dance, when Montgomery allegedly playfully tried to trip Mrs. West as she passed where he was seated. Montgomery thought he knew her and when he realized his mistake in identity apologized to Mrs. West. She reported the incident to West, who invited Montgomery "outside." During the parley West is alleged to have removed a sharp, long-bladed knife from his pocket and stabbed Montgomery. West claims that he drew the knife after Montgomery struck him on the nose.

Norblad Explains Capitol Bill Stand

ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Walter Norblad, state representative, said he questioned the legality of the state capitol bill "merely to prevent the capitol commission from spending money only to have the project thrown out as unconstitutional."

He did not want to interfere with the capitol program. Norblad challenged the validity of the bill because it was not read in section "As required by law."

G. Pass Irrigation Hope Lies in RFC

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Nov. 15.—(AP)—E. Reed Carter, secretary-manager of the Grants Pass Irrigation district, said refunding measures of the Reconstruction Finance corporation would "wipe out the district's deficit and leave $300,000 more assets than liabilities." A report of the district showed a present deficit of $665,034.77.

American Legion Auxiliary

The Armistice parade this year was one of the most successful ever held here. A larger number of Legion and Auxiliary members turned out than for several years. Other patriotic organizations, Girl and Boy Scouts, the National Guard, gold and silver mothers, the Elks' band in their bright purple uniforms, the high school band in red and black and the Ashland Kettle band in its little uniforms made the parade a colorful event.

Ira Chastain Opens New Radio Service

The Radio Electric Service, located at 205 West Jackson, next to the Rose grocery, opened today with complete radio test equipment, according to Ira E. Chastain, owner. Mr. Chastain has had several years' experience in radio repairing and service work.

Besides a well equipped service shop, the new concern will feature Hot Point's appliances, Telechron clocks, pin-up lights and a large stock of G. E. moods lamps. Mr. Chastain says the location of their shop, which is out of the noisy downtown section, will give them a chance to test sets under ordinary conditions.

SEVEN INITIATED AT BIG MEETING IN ELKS TEMPLE

In one of the most heavily attended lodge sessions in some time, a class of seven was enrolled in the Medford Elks lodge last night. The group, known as the Past Grand Exalted Ruler Joseph T. Fanning class, included Karl J. Janouch, Stanley E. Phillips, William J. Bowdman, Lewis Gilman, Walter F. Smith, Cordy E. Bunderman and John W. Henson.

After the initiation ceremony, an inspiring address was delivered by Past Exalted Ruler Gus Newbury on "Elkdom" and what it means to the individual and to the United States. The remainder of the meeting was turned over to the past exalted rulers of the club, assembled by the present exalted ruler, E. W. Winkle.

Larry Schade introduced the past rulers, including T. E. Daniels, first exalted ruler of the Medford lodge; Leon B. Haskins, W. H. McGowan, Gus Newbury, O. O. Alexander, E. C. Jerome, Lewis Ulrich, C. C. Lemmon and H. N. Butler.

Past exalted rulers of other lodges present, who are now members of the Medford lodge, were C. E. Gates and J. P. Naumes.

After the regular lodge session a fine feed was enjoyed, and the "turkey trot" following was one of the most successful ever held here. The dance committee announced a huge dance to be held Thanksgiving eve, for Elks and their invited guests.

OLD AGE PENSION AMONG FIVE MAIN ACTS QUESTIONED

conference committees had to be appointed provided that employees shall pay one-half of one per cent of their wages into the fund. The bill was designed to provide a fund to which employers paid two and seven-tenths of the payroll directly.

The calendars of both the house and senate likewise reveal the senate receded from its insistence the employee benefit be included after the second conference committee had recommended such action. Since other minor amendments were made, the senate receded and repassed the bill. It then went back to the house where that body also re-passed the bill without the employee contribution.

See Second Conflict

A second conflict in the proposal, it was pointed out, was that in the employer's payroll percentage the act specifies that no payments can be collected from the employer or be deducted from his wages. In the employee section it of necessity requires employees to pay.

The old age pension bill, which changes the age qualification from 70 to 65 years and eliminates counties from participation in matching federal funds, some observers said, covers two different subject matters, contrary to the constitution. One of these is the old age pension fund and the other is transfer of state and county relief funds.

Another situation, it was pointed out, was that the original bill was not the one which was amended and enrolled by the legislature. It was stated a duplicate of the original was enrolled and was before the governor. Attorneys disagreed as to the constitutional effect of this enactment.

AAA Bill Inadequate

The supreme court this week refused to reopen its review of the 1933 agricultural adjustment act which it had held unconstitutional, therefore eliminating any changes in the opinion. The bill passed by the special session to correct some of the evils was declared by attorneys inadequate to meet the court's decision.

While Deputy Attorney General Moody as an individual will recommend the veto of this bill as well as the unemployment insurance measure, Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle stated he would not make such a recommendation, declaring that was a matter for the courts. It was believed the governor would sign them both.

As for the capitol bill predictions were being made here today the act would become a law without the executive's signature. The governor has until midnight tonight to sign or veto the bills. If he takes no action they automatically become effective.

ME AND TWO OF THE BOYS AT THE SIDEBAR

In this here prize recipe you'll taste what making 380 million gallons taught me!

Yes sir, you're tasting the real family's whiskey of us Wilkens—and I've put all the knack I got out of my 40 or 50 years of experience into it! Up to the distillery you'll find me and the boys watching over our Family's Whiskey from 6 a. m. till quitting time. And when you taste how licking good it is, I miss my guess if you don't say the Wilkens done mighty well by you. That's what everybody seems to be saying anyway!
