

JAPANESE LEADERS SPLIT ON PLAN TO GRAB NORTH CHINA

The cessation of the autonomy activities follows a visit by Ambassador Akira Ariyoshi of Japan to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese leader, in Nanking Wednesday.

It was reported that Ambassador Ariyoshi assured Generalissimo Chiang that the Tokyo government was not contemplating military action in north China and was not suggesting that north China secede from the national government.

In return, General Chiang was said to have assured the ambassador that the national government intended to institute a new administration in north China.

Still, there were indications that some measure of autonomy would be achieved at some future time in north China under arrangements agreed upon between Nanking and Tokyo.

The British foreign office said that it had exchanged views with the United States regarding the situation in north China and that it was "more hopeful."

POLIO DIAGNOSIS PLACED IN DOUBT

After careful collaboration with other doctors in the city, County Health Director A. N. Johnson today announced that at least two of the cases reported in the county as infantile paralysis were very probably not that disease at all. At first there were symptoms in some ways similar to paralysis but that has convinced the physicians that the disease is a much milder one, and will not have such serious consequences.

At a meeting of the Jackson County Medical association held at the Hotel Medford last night, the consensus among the physicians was that there never had been a paralytic epidemic here, and that the chances there would be were vastly remote.

The medical association meeting was given by Dr. Robert W. Stewart as host. Papers pertaining to polio myelitis were delivered by Dr. Wm. P. Holt (Diagnosis), Dr. B. C. Wilson (Reconstructive Muscle Treatment), Dr. A. N. Johnson (Spread and Contagion), and Dr. L. D. Inskip, who gave a general summary. Dr. R. E. Green delivered an address on general therapy.

School attendance in city and county schools, slack for most of last week and the first part of this, is again approaching normal, according to reports from city and county school offices.

PRIME FIRST BUTTER HOISTED HALF CENT

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Prime first butter was advanced 1/2 cent a pound during the late session of the exchange.

There was no change in the buying price of butterfat.

Market for eggs was showing a weaker tone. There were few operators reported fully maintaining so-called established prices.

Rather quiet trading was suggested in the turkey market with most operators too busy in gathering turkeys to look after other fowls. Idaho ducks were due to arrive.

TURKEY SALES HOLD NEAR 25-26 CENTS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Turkey sales continued erratic today with 24 to 27 cents being paid for one of the most extensive kills in years. Most sales were from 25 to 26 cents.

Market operators said the 3 1/2-cent price set by the turkey pool of southern California for prime hens was so high it might lead to a consumer revolt.

Freight differences would put the Portland price about a cent lower.

SHIP TURKEYS HERMISTON, Ore., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Eastern Oregon Turkey Growers' association shipped two cars of turkeys to Los Angeles for the Thanksgiving trade. The shipment graded more than 98 per cent prime.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The stock market rebounded today under stimulus of heavy buying in the rail, mines and specialties.

While many recent leaders were not buoyant, the majority displayed rallying tendencies. There were numerous gains of 1 to 3 or more points. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 3,300,000 shares.

Although activity was not up to last Wednesday's decline, market analysts were cheered by the reversal of sentiment. The weakness of some foreign gold currencies, in sympathy with the falling French franc, was not so disturbing as expected. Wheat and cotton moved up briskly.

Today's closing prices for 32 selected stocks follow:

DUSTY-RED COLOR OF LAKE SCARES MICHIGAN REDMEN

ELK RAPIDS, Mich.—(UP)—The redman's superstition regarding the dusty-red waters of Bass lake near here still lives.

The Indians of this section who act as guides for fishing parties will not venture near the shores of this body of water. When it is mentioned they hang their head and murmur: "Matchi Manitou's (Evil Devil's) home; me no fish on Bass lake."

Even Jake Bogod, a native fishing guide, despite his contact with the whites and their ideas, will not go near the place. When asked to go he will murmur the phrase.

Questioned further, he will relate to you how many years ago two Indians set out across the lake in a canoe, disappeared in a fog and were never seen after that. At that time their comrades thought the redmen had gone to the "Happy Hunting Grounds," but 40 years ago when the waters of the lake turned dusty-red, they changed their first conclusion and have ever since maintained that the devil of the deep inhabits the lake and lives on the bodies of redmen.

When told the truth, that the water is dusty-red because an iron foundry company once dumped the overflow from the mills into the lake, they will not believe it.

WALES CREATES NEW SUIT STYLE

LONDON.—(UP)—Once again the Prince of Wales has introduced a new style in tailoring and Savile Row is preparing to follow his lead.

To the casual eye there may not appear to be anything unusual about the prince's latest double-breasted suit, but tailors were quick to note an innovation.

If the prince's example is followed the well-dressed man may expect to wear coats in which "shaping" gives place to the "straight" outline, and shorter trousers hanging perfectly straight take the place of the usual heel length hang which gives a "break" or crease at the ankle.

BANANAS ARE TESTED FOR THEIR RIPENESS BY ELECTRIC GADGET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(UP)—Tobias Deutchmann can test all the bananas he wants without getting sick.

One of the larger banana companies wanted a scientific instrument that would test the bananas and tell the exact amount of sugar in each stalk at any given point in their development.

Deutchmann invented a gadget about the size of an average alarm clock, with two slender prongs which are pressed into the fruit or the stalk. In the tester is a small dry battery and the amount of current passing through the banana from one prong to the other registers on a dial. The current flows more freely as the sugar content of the fruit increases, so it is possible to tell by a glance at the indicator just what stage of ripeness the banana has reached.

Previously one had to taste the bananas to reveal its ripeness.

LONDON TO CURB NOISE IN SUBWAY

LONDON.—(UP)—The noise problem of London's underground trains is likely to be solved shortly.

Experiments with a special new type of 90-foot rails, now being carried out on the Morden-Edgware line near Leicester square, are resulting in the elimination of the roar which makes conversation impossible as the trains travel through the tunnels.

The secret is in welding long rails," explained an official of the London Transport Works department. "We have used 90-foot rails unwelded in suburban districts, but this is the first time we have tried them in the tunnels."

When the experiments are finally proven successful the change-over to the long rails, costing several million pounds, will be begun.
