

BUSINESS LEADER BACKS UP IN URGE TO 'GANG ON' F. R.

Feelings About Attitude of Administration Undergone Complete Change, Says General Foods Chairman

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(UP)—E. F. Hutton, chairman of the board of the General Foods corporation, last night "backed water" on his proposal in a recent magazine article that big business "gang up" on the Roosevelt administration.

"My feelings about the attitude of the administration toward business have been changed entirely," Hutton said in a statement telegraphed to his New York offices from his home in South Carolina where he has been ill for several weeks.

Written last summer

The magazine article, which Hutton explained was written last summer and which he said he would have withdrawn from publication this week if he had not been ill, proposed that all industry "gang up" in organizing a powerful lobby to combat administration policies they didn't like.

His telegraphed statement last night follows:

"My attention has been called to the misunderstanding that has arisen out of the publication this week of an article in the public utilities fortnightly magazine. In that article which urged that business men organize association to fight for their legal rights, I used the phrase 'let's gang up.' This is an expression that I have used every since my boyhood days and all I had in mind to say was 'let's get together.' Any wrong inference from the use of the word 'gang' is wholly unwarranted.

Was Aroused

"As a matter of fact I wrote that magazine article last summer before Congress adjourned and when most of us in the business world were aroused over the threats of confiscatory legislation.

"Since that time, however, I have noted with pleasure that the Roosevelt administration has taken steps in the right direction and I was particularly happy to read a speech made by Secretary Roper before the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America last week, a speech in whose principles I heartily concur.

"Had I not been ill a few weeks ago when the magazine went to press I certainly would have withdrawn from publication the entire article because my feelings about the attitude of the administration towards business have been changed entirely by the recent pronouncement made by Secretary Roper.

"All the statements I have made in recent months have been issued

1936 Will Be Big Year Prediction Of IGA Official

A prediction that grocers in 1936 will do the biggest year's business in a decade if they utilize newspaper advertising consistently and intelligently was today made to the thousands of members of the Independent Grocers' Alliance by its president, J. Frank Grimes.

In a letter to members of the alliance, one of the largest voluntary associations of its kind, Mr. Grimes stressed the point that welfare of the independent merchant and his newspaper are irrevocably bound together.

Through the depression years, rather than reduce newspaper advertising space, we have steadily augmented it," Mr. Grimes said. "As a result IGA is today in a position where nothing can stop it in its progress.

"The fellows who used the depression as an excuse to curtail their advertising have steadily made their plight worse and are now paying the penalty for their shortsightedness. Our consistent advertising and promotion has been the most potent force in our remarkable growth."

People are today swinging from low quality and price merchandise to better and still better varieties. They will continue to buy quality if the merchant will steadily point the way and tell the story in his newspaper, he emphasized.

"Advertising makes for volume, less production costs and we all benefit.

"If the independent dealer take the tip from their powerfully organized competitors and work closely with their newspapers, they will bring about benefits to not only themselves but to their entire communities."

CHILE TO PROTECT FAMOUS STATUES OF EASTER ISLAND

Lonely Landspot in Pacific Where Extinct Tribe Cut Huge Monuments Now Under Government Wing.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(Sp)—No longer will explorers and curio hunters have the freedom of Easter Island, lonely landspot in the Pacific ocean more than two thousand miles off the Chilean coast. The Chilean government recently declared the island a national monument in order to protect its famous statues.

"Easter island is the easternmost habitant of the Polynesian race," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society, "yet it is in no other way comparable to other islands of the South Seas, except that it is of volcanic origin. Has Inactive Volcanoes

"Fifty square miles in area, it has no lush forests and no palm-fringed coasts. It is liberally dotted with volcanoes that long ago stopped pouring molten lava over their rims. The lower portion of the island is composed of sheets of lava, which now are in process of disintegration. Walking over these lower areas is extremely tiresome, and in places almost impossible; and riding is a very slow procedure. The surfaces of the mountain sides and hills are generally smooth since they are formed of fine volcanic ash. Both the lowlands and highlands are covered with grass.

"The island got its name from the fact that the first known white man, a Dutch navigator, landed there on Easter day in 1722.

"Lying off the usual shipping routes of the South Pacific, Easter Island has never been a tourist center. A few shipwrecked men have found it a haven and a Chilean company has used it for cattle raising. Traders touch it; but its chief lure lies in its statues, huge stone monuments whose origin has baffled archeologists and historians since the island's discovery.

"In open fields in quarries, and along the edge of the sea, these grotesque images are to be found. Some stand as they were placed by the natives; no one knows when. Others have fallen on their sides or backs, while still others now are face downward or buried. While they differ in size, they are similar in shape, representing half-length human figures, with hands meeting in front of the bodies. Once they adorned stone tombs of deceased islanders, but only a few of the tombs remain. There are statues from three to more than 30 feet high but most of them are 12 to 20 feet in length. Some weigh many tons.

"A story is told by the islanders to throw some light on the desertion of an Easter Island quarry. It is said that an old woman living on the southern corner of the mountain in which the quarry was located, was a cook to the image-makers. She was an outstanding person in the quarry establishment. By supernatural power she moved the statues at her will. While she was away from the quarry, the workmen obtained a fine lobster. They consumed it and saved none for her. They forgot to conceal the remains and when she returned and found she had been left out of the feast, she arose in her wrath and told the images to fall down, thus bringing the work to a standstill."

Valley View

VALLEY VIEW, Nov. 22.—(Sp)—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Craig visited the San Diego fair and enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Craig's father and sisters at Gran Valley, Cal., recently.

Mrs. H. Stebler, who has been very ill from poison oak, is better. Mr. Stebler was taken to the hospital in Medford Sunday, suffering from the flu and a badly infected hand. The Steblers have recently moved into the neighborhood, having purchased the Arnold place.

Paul Remington, county engineer, was

OREGON HOP GROWERS PLAN SELLING CO-OP

SALEM, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Representative hop growers from all over Oregon met here yesterday and voted, 39 to 2, to form a co-operative marketing organization for the industry.

Rosa Wood, president of the Hopmen's State association, named a committee to draft plans for the co-operative, Dean Walker, Independence, and Frank Needham, Salem, were appointed chairman and secretary.

Anglers Urged to Try Song

CHICAGO (UP)—J. Manley Phelps, professor of speech at De Paul university, advises a bit of lyric if the fish aren't biting. He told a class that he fished for weeks in Wisconsin last summer without catching a thing. Finally he started to sing and caught a 28-pound muskie.

Supply that needed energy with HONEY MAID GRAHAMS

"I'm hungry, Mother!" . . . the familiar theme song of healthy youngsters. On the go every minute, they need plenty of energy-giving nourishment. So see that he gets all the Honey Maid Grahams he wants.

And he'll want plenty. For children love the nut-like, honey-sweetened flavor of these golden squares. Serve them with milk between meals, with fruit and other desserts, and put them in school lunches. They're crammed with nourishment and contain vital elements of growth.

Order Honey Maids today in the thrifty-size green package. They're wax-wrapped to preserve their oven-freshness.

Honey Maid Grahams

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Mile of Pennies Collected

TIPPEN, O. (UP)—A mile of pennies equis an addition to the Adams Township Lutheran church. A total of 84,000 pennies was collected in one month by the Ladies' Aid society to pay for construction of Sunday school rooms. Laid end-to-end, the pennies would stretch a mile. It required a truck to transport them to the bank.

Hawk Battles Porcupine

OKANOGAN, Wash. (UP)—A large marsh hawk that attacked a porcupine on the ranch of William McClure near Concouilly pulled a serious error of judgment. One of its claws was pierced by several quills, and more were embedded deep in its breast. The porcupine shuffled away in dignity.

Bandage in Head 16 Years

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (UP)—Edward Culton, of Detroit, recently had 36 inches of gauze bandage removed from his head. It had been there for 16 years as the result of an operation. Having had severe headaches for a long time, Culton consulted a physician who made the discovery.

Bison Thrive in Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UP)—One of northern Alaska's buffalo herds now numbers over 100, Sam O. White, game warden, reported. The herd ranges in vicinity of 92-Mile, near Fairbanks. It contains old bulls and cows brought here from the states as well as thriving younger animals.

Eden Precinct

EDEN PRECINCT, Nov. 22.—(Sp)—The bazaar of the Thimble club of Oak circle of Phoenix was held last Thursday afternoon at the Grange hall and many nice articles of fancy work were displayed and sold. Tea and dainty refreshments were also to be had and everyone had a most enjoyable afternoon.

Home Economics club of the Phoenix Grange met at the home of Mrs. Olive Floyd on Wednesday of this week, and a most enjoyable time was had by about thirty of the members. Business included plans for fall work and election of new officers. A bounteous covered dish luncheon was very much enjoyed and all departed voting Mrs. Floyd a

Many Statues Unfinished

"In one quarry, scores of images may be seen in various stages of completion. In some cases they are completely carved but have not been cut away from the base. Early visitors to the island found stone tools strewn about the quarry as though workmen stopped suddenly and never returned to complete their work. Why, no one knows. Script-covered wooden panels have been found but they have failed to yield the secret of the island's past. The 250 inhabitants clustered in a village on the western side of the island, have their versions of Easter Island's history but these are often too fantastic to be credible. The natives know cattle raising, their only industry, but the habits of their forebears are unknown to them.

"A story is told by the islanders to throw some light on the desertion of an Easter Island quarry. It is said that an old woman living on the southern corner of the mountain in which the quarry was located, was a cook to the image-makers. She was an outstanding person in the quarry establishment. By supernatural power she moved the statues at her will. While she was away from the quarry, the workmen obtained a fine lobster. They consumed it and saved none for her. They forgot to conceal the remains and when she returned and found she had been left out of the feast, she arose in her wrath and told the images to fall down, thus bringing the work to a standstill."

CHECKS . . .

This week-end we offer you something entirely novel to add interest to any dinner party . . .

CHECKERBOARD CAKE

Alternate checks of rich butter cake and milk chocolate cake make this creation interesting to look at and delicious to eat. The icing too is checkerboard. Try one of these fine two-layer cakes.

Large Size 49c
Half Cake—27c

Fluhrer's

Study this bottle of 100 PROOF, 100% STRAIGHT WHISKEY

Know every handsome feature of this most beautiful bottle of the best straight bourbon your money can buy at anywhere near the price. Call for it by its respected name—"Old Mr. Boston." Look for the handy jigger cup—the fine old bronze label—the red, white and blue seal that says "100 PROOF, STRAIGHT WHISKEY." At least one year old when bottled. Not a trace of alcohol added. It's positively the swellest all-time whiskey buy you'll ever come across.

Quarts $1.75
Pints 90¢

Old Mr. Boston STRAIGHT Whiskey

"My grocer came to the rescue"

Coffee was keeping my husband awake... so I asked my grocer's advice.

NOW DON'T SUGGEST THAT DE-WHAT DO-YOU-CALL-IT KIND. I DON'T LIKE IT

M-M-M-M, THAT SMELLS GOOD, BUT YOU SHOULDN'T TEMPT ME, ANN. I REALLY MUST SWEAR OFF COFFEE

SLEEPLESS AGAIN, JOHN? WELL, YOU WOULD DRINK COFFEE

ALL RIGHT... AFTER TONIGHT

MY GROCER SAID, SERVE KAFFEE-HAG COFFEE AND SAY NOTHING.

FUNNY THING, ANN, THAT WAS AWFULLY GOOD COFFEE LAST NIGHT, BUT I SLEPT LIKE A TOP

I FOOLED YOU, JOHN, THAT WAS KAFFEE-HAG COFFEE YOU HAD LAST NIGHT

REAL COFFEE • FINE COFFEE • 97% CAFFEINE-FREE PERK IT TWICE AS LONG AS USUAL

Kellogg's KAFFEE-HAG COFFEE

Valley View

VALLEY VIEW, Nov. 22.—(Sp)—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Craig visited the San Diego fair and enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Craig's father and sisters at Gran Valley, Cal., recently.

Mrs. H. Stebler, who has been very ill from poison oak, is better. Mr. Stebler was taken to the hospital in Medford Sunday, suffering from the flu and a badly infected hand. The Steblers have recently moved into the neighborhood, having purchased the Arnold place.

Paul Remington, county engineer, was

Doctor! Could You Prescribe Anything Better for A Hard COUGH

Than This Splendid Creamy Cressated Emulsion—Bron-chu-lin—At Jarmen Drug Co.

BRON-CHU-LINE STRIKES HERE