

LADY DRIVER IN CLOSING CAR DOOR HURLED TO PAVE

Miss Molly Browne of 1635 East Main street is a wiser and sadder young lady today after discovering that it is inadvisable to try to open the forward sliding front door of some of the modern automobiles while travelling at a brisk rate of speed. While driving toward town on East Main street Friday night, Miss Browne discovered that the front door near her was loose and attempted to close it. In so doing the door opened for this maneuver, the wind caught at the opening and swung the door violently open, jerking the driver to the pavement outside.

The driverless machine then careened madly over the curb just east of the Crater Lake highway intersection, moving down a steel sign post, which went through the windshield. The traffic signs at the intersection were taken out in turn, and the machine crashed on across Crater Lake avenue and up onto the lawn of the Sylvia Shreve home, scraping the steel metal box from a large telephone pole but missing the pole.

With the motor still running and the machine still in gear, the wild rush continued, the machine tearing across the lawn of the Community hospital, the Philip Harrison home, and the James C. Hayes residence. The Hayes yard is a terraced one, bordered by a rock garden. Onto this lurched the auto, plummeting off the far side and crashing heavily into the front porch of the C. W. McDonald home.

McDonald himself, thinking that an earthquake had struck his home, leaped from bed to investigate.

Other than being painfully bruised and skinned, Miss Browne was not hurt in the unusual accident, although she was unable to report the details at the city police station Saturday. The car was badly damaged.

GREATER MEDFORD CLUB AIDS GIRLS

All assets of the Greater Medford club will be turned over to the Girls' Community club. It was agreed at a meeting of the former organization held Friday evening. The holdings of the Greater Medford club include a city lot, building and loan stock and several pieces of furniture. It was agreed that a period of ten days shall elapse before formal transfer of the treasury funds and furniture will take place.

Mrs. H. A. Hanby acted as presiding officer at the meeting, in place of Mrs. J. A. Cochrane, president of the organization, who was absent from the city. It was also determined to retain the charter of the Greater Medford club, which was incorporated several years ago under the state laws.

TOP TURK PRICE AT PORTLAND 29C

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The turkey price top here today was nominally 29 cents for case lot to retailers, but most sales ranged lower. Offerings continued heavy, with the lower grades moving down to 23 cents, or three above top prices a year ago.

'BOX-CAR' PLATES FOR SPEED FIEND

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 23.—(AP)—A license plate of "box-car" proportions was suggested today for reckless motorists.

Secretary of State Dr. L. C. Hunt, struck at Wyoming's mounting list of traffic accidents, proposed as a method of curbing accidents a state order which would require persons convicted of reckless driving to use plates three times the size of the ordinary plates.

RANDALL HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Milo W. Randall, 29, Medford electrician, is in the county jail awaiting preliminary hearing in justice court Monday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon following an alleged stabbing fray at the home of Myrtle Alton, 512 West Jackson street, Friday night.

According to state police Randall is to be charged with attacking Ellen C. Marcy with a pocket knife, saying he was going to kill her. Jituroshi Yoshi, Japanese, grabbed the knife as Randall struck, police said, and knocked Randall down, but received a deep knife cut on the ring and little fingers of his left hand, necessitating the taking of several stitches.

Randall was arrested at local apartment house after the alleged altercation is to be charged with attacking police, police said. A knife was found in his possession, and there was blood on his trousers, police stated.

FIREMEN'S BALL SALE IS BRISK

A large advance sale of tickets for the annual firemen's ball was announced yesterday by Fire Chief Roy Elliott, who predicted a record attendance.

The ball is to be held Thanksgiving night at Oriental Gardens with Geo. Dayton and his eight-piece orchestra providing the music. The orchestra will broadcast a half-hour program of dance tunes from 7:15 to 7:45 prior to the opening of the ball at 8 o'clock.

The decoration committee was engaged yesterday in setting up a model house on the stage to demonstrate fire prevention measures the evening of the ball. The Medford fire department is eager to establish a new record for fire loss this year and the firemen are losing no opportunity to disseminate information on fire prevention, Chief Elliott said.

SNOW HITS TRADE IN SHASTA TREES

Snow has closed practically all the local areas where Shasta fir is usually obtained for the Christmas tree trade. It was sold yesterday by the United States forest service.

One small operation is under way in the Cathlamet area east of Butte Falls, where A. L. Miller of Portland is taking out 600 Shasta fir trees. He has a crew of eight working with him. He is paying the forest service 3 1/2 cents a linear foot, the price that has prevailed in the past few years.

A large part of the California supply of Shasta fir for the holiday season usually is obtained in the local area and although inquiries have been received this year from San Francisco and Los Angeles a survey disclosed that early and heavy snows make it impossible to supply the trade, the forest service said.

The Shasta variety is sometimes called the silver-tip fir. It is heavier and has more foliage than other varieties.

COPCO RATE CUT LACKS BROADNESS

SALEM, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Public utilities commissioner, Frank C. McCulloch said today he had been negotiating for more than a month with officials of the California-Oregon Power company regarding proposed rates reductions by the company.

McCulloch said the commission objected to the proposed reductions in that they were not broad enough in scope, and also that they were discriminatory between rural and urban communities. He did not divulge the proposed rate reduction figures.

The reductions have not been filed with the commission.

BILL CUNNINGHAM IN PLANE MISHAP

A forced landing due to a broken fuel line late Friday afternoon caused damage of several hundred dollars to the cabin training plane of Tom Culbertson, municipal airport superintendent, when he was forced to bring the ship down on the ridge near the summit of Roxy Ann mountain east of the city.

Culbertson was giving flying lessons to Bill Cunningham of Medford and was flying in a wide circle around the city when the fuel line broke. Picking out the only clearing within distance, the flier brought the plane down, damaging the landing assembly and fuselage. Neither Culbertson nor Cunningham were injured.

Saturday the plane was brought back to the municipal airport by truck. Culbertson announced that a factory representative from Portland will arrive soon to estimate the damage.
