

MRS. HOOVER GIRL SCOUT HEAD

Mrs. Herbert Hoover (center), wife of the former President, as Mrs. Frederick Edey, retiring president, pins the badge of president of the Girl Scouts of America on her with Mrs. William M. Chester of Milwaukee looking on at the close of the national convention in San Francisco. (Associated Press Photo)

"GARDEN OF EDEN" CHIEF WITH HIS FAMILY

Elder J. Y. Barlow and his wife and their 10 children outside their tiny house in the isolated community of Short Creek, Ariz., where the state instituted proceedings to enforce its morals laws and where a number of the residents were charged with "open and notorious cohabitation." (Associated Press Photo)

Tells Of Abduction

Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll (above), wealthy Louisville, Ky., society matron, took the witness stand in federal court there and calmly told how Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., kidnaped her and held her for $50,000 ransom. Mrs. Robinson is being tried for alleged participation in the abduction. (Associated Press Photo)

SECOND HURRICANE HITS CUBA

Here is wreckage left by the latest tropical hurricane to hit Cuba, the storm was the second of the season for the island. Roaring over the Santiago area, it did great property damage and left four persons dead. (Associated Press Photo)

TOURNAMENT OF ROSES 1936 THEME

The theme "History in Flowers" for the 1936 tournament of roses in Pasadena, Calif. New Year's day was announced in a ceremony at Brookside park. Cleopatra, seen in the huge scroll, was depicted by Miss Sadie Sellers. (Associated Press Photo)

IN ELABORATE FLORAL FETE

June Rikimaru, pretty Japanese girl, was one of those participating in the San Mateo county (Calif.) floral show, which featured an array of elaborate flower-decked floats and a $50,000 display of orchids. The chrysanthemums shown are part of the annual $7,500,000 bouquet grown in the county, located on the San Francisco peninsula. (Associated Press Photo)

KEMP ARRAIGNED IN FORGERY

John J. Kemp, Broadway insurance broker, whose alleged defalcations affected the insurance premiums and policies of many famous stage and screen stars, as he was arraigned for discharge of forgery charges so that he might plead to three indictments in general sessions court. Left to right: Detective George McNulty, Kemp and William J. Hanley, one of defense counsel. (Associated Press Photo)

LUPESCU RETURNS TO BALKANS

Mme. Majda Lupescu, in two poses, intimate friend of King Carol of Rumania, and the object of an "Anti-Lupescu" drive by the National Peasant party, surprised her opponents by returning from France to Rumania for the King's 42nd birthday. (Associated Press Photo)

AP MEN IN HIGHER POSTS

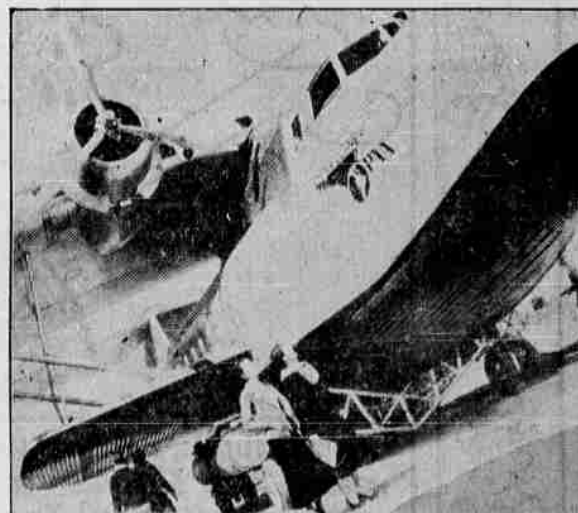

Lloyd Stratton (right) and W. J. McCambridge (left) are newly appointed assistant general managers of The Associated Press. (Associated Press Photos)

DUCE'S SON-IN-LAW DROPS BOMBS

Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's flying son-in-law, is shown beside his airship of the squadron, "The Desperates," shortly after a bombing expedition over Ethiopia. The skull and crossbones are the squadron's sinister symbol. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW PLANE FOR PACIFIC SERVICE

The China Clipper said to be the largest flying boat ever built in the United States, at the Glenn L. Martin plant near Baltimore, Md., just before a demonstration flight and delivery to the Pan American Airways for trans-Pacific service. (Associated Press Photo)

TELLS HOLLYWOOD'S SHORTCOMINGS

Ethel Merman, musical comedy queen, finished a movie in Hollywood and, after listing the faults she found with Hollywood, started packing for a quick get-away. She said the trouble with Hollywood is that it lacks night life, restaurants, theater audiences and well dressed women. (Associated Press Photo)

PLACES DUTY ABOVE SAFETY

Dr. and Mrs. John A. Cremer of Grand Rapids, Mich., have refused to desert their posts at the United Presbyterian hospital in Addis Ababa despite threatened bombardment by Italian air forces. Dr. Cremer is superintendent of the hospital and his wife is head of the nursing staff. (Associated Press Photo)

ETHIOPIAN EMPRESS AIDS WOUNDED

Empress Menen of Ethiopia (standing, left) and women of her royal court are shown making bandages for wounded troops as their contribution to the war against Italy. The bandages are turned over to the newly created Ethiopian Red Cross. (Associated Press Photo)

HOOVER INTRODUCES GENERAL

Gen. Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army, and Herbert Hoover, former President, at a reception given in her honor in Los Angeles. Hoover introduced General Booth at the reception, which was held in the First Methodist church. (Associated Press Photo)