

BACKING IS GIVEN TO WORLD SERIES FOR GOLF SPORTS

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(UP)—Dorset Carter, Sr., Oklahoma millionaire who put up the money to bring the nation's golf professionals to Oklahoma City this fall, and had no cause to regret his step, now is planning a "world series" in golf.

Carter's idea is to hold two tournaments simultaneously, one for the pros and one for the amateurs, with the winners meeting for the world's title. The shooting would be over the Twin Hills course, owned by Carter and the scene of this year's National PGA tourney.

Carter talked over the idea with PGA officials and the leading pros and found them receptive. He would offer them a pot of $10,000 to make it worth their while and would compensate the amon purses in some suitable manner.

The National Amateur will be held in Dallas next September, and Carter would hold his big tournament in October, thus making it easy for the amateurs to move from one battle-ground to the next.

Play would be match contests, thus contrasting with the National Open, the only big meet open to both classes, where it is medal performance the entire route.

Whether the plan will go through is doubtful, but if it does it will be an interesting experiment. The $10,000 is bound to interest professionals, and most of the amateurs would enjoy a chance to top the topnotch pros at medal play.

The Twin Hills course offers a good setting for such a contest. It is difficult enough, as the pros discovered last month, with only Walter Hagen being able to crack par in the qualifying round. There were 113 trying, but only the "Hags" kept them straight enough. And the next day he couldn't repeat.

Carter built Twin Hills for his son, Keefe Carter, the former western amateur champion, and he takes a personal pride in seeing it rebuilt the best in the game. It isn't a long course, but the green aisles from tee to green are narrow and woods are on either side.

Such a money match should provide a partial answer to the demands of the pros for tournaments paying bigger prizes rather than a series of tournaments that mean but $500 or $600 to the winner.

FERA LIQUIDATION NOW COMPLETE IS WORD OF HOPKINS

disclose the additional "supplementary" November allotments made before he cut off all states.

Twenty-six states and the District of Columbia already had been told they have received final grants. Hopkins said that "with the listing of 22 other states and the territories today as having been removed from the allotment list, the FERA concluded its functions of providing federal funds for emergency unemployment relief."

Belief officials declined to comment on the possibility that additional allotments may be made for 4,000,000 unemployed whose support the administration has said rests on state and local governments.

THEFT MACHINERY AND TRUCK FOUND

An incident that caused considerable excitement in Portland was the theft last Monday of a Ford truck belonging to the Smart Auto Freight company from the company's garage in Portland. The truck was loaded with valuable machinery, part of the Ford Motor company exhibit at the San Diego world fair.

The truck was loaded preparatory to hauling the machinery, valued at $60,000, to Tacoma for an exhibit when it was stolen. Two days later the machinery was found in a heap outside of Portland. The thieves had apparently driven the truck near a tree, tied the load to a tree and driven out from under it, inflicting severe damage to the exhibits.

A search all over the state was launched but no trace of the missing truck was found until Wednesday, when it was discovered, abandoned, in a Hill, Cal. garage, state police here today announced. As yet no trace of the thieves has been found.

MATANUSKANS ENJOY THANKSGIVING FEAST IN NEW FARM HOMES

PALMER, Alaska, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Matanuska valley farmers, snug in newly finished houses, yesterday roasted in the ovens of new ranges fat geese and chickens from "outside." Looking forward and back, they celebrated Thanksgiving with sincerity.

Last year there was scant fare and little apparent reason for celebrating in the farm home of these 179 families from Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Seven months ago the new pioneers set out to conquer the wilderness.

Today they visited next Thanksgiving day, when poultry and other fare from their own raising stood on menus that today featured imported fowls or their plentiful canned salmon.

Setting in a new country of course, was not without its hardships, even in 1935. Feroz mosquitoes, quarrels, some transient workers and fellow-colonists and confusing administrators caused grumbling and discontent. Thirty families returned to the states.

In order to assure every family a real feast yesterday, a $5 extra Thanksgiving allowance at the commissary was voted by the Alaska rural rehabilitation administration. Several families had already exhausted their allowances, reduced from $63 to $56 a month.

ON JOB 32 YEARS AS PADDLE-MAKER FOR CAMPUS MEN

COLUMBIA, Mo.—(UP)—Wayne Allen is recognized as official paddle maker for the University of Missouri. He has been at it 32 years along with duty work at piano tinkering.

In 1928 Allen advertised: "Allen's paddles have made lasting impressions on Missouri freshmen for the past 25 years."

During that time Allen estimates he has made thousands of paddles. "I've made paddles out of every kind of wood that grows," he says. "Rosewood was the favorite in prosperous times. Some fraternities favored mahogany, but seasoned oak is the favorite now."

"I have made them out of ebony," says in paddles change, Allen declares. Some years students want heavy two-handled ones. Other years they require shorter, lighter blades.

He has to be something of a draughtsman. The engineers send the paddle maker specifications drawn like architect's plans for a building. "Engineers' paddles must weigh just so much and must be just exactly so many 64ths of an inch thick."

Agricultural students want them tough and strong.

One of Allen's masterpieces was an explosive paddle which concealed a percussion cap. When the wood was brought in forible contact with lockless freshmen the resulting blast was—very amusing.

He is now attempting to devise a set of paddles which will emit pleasant tones when in use.

Allen's paddles for women are popular. They are made of soft wood and are considerably wider than the male type.

And he not only makes the disciplinary woods, but also for a sum constructs form-fitting paddle protectors for lockless frosh. The paddle-proof, made-to-measure armor is made of piano felt.

O. S. C. DEFEATED 26-20 AS NEBRASKANS SCORE IN LAST MINUTE RALLY

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 29.—(UP)—The 1935 Big Six conference football campaign today was history, and a history to which one more tie was added to a record that already had more ties than a railroad.

Kansas and Missouri provided the tie—a scoreless one—at Lawrence yesterday in the only strictly conference encounter on the Thanksgiving program.

Oklahoma routed an old jinx by defeating the Oklahoma Aggies, 24 to 0, Nebraska Big Six champions, flustered with trouble but finally came through with a 26 to 20 victory over Oregon State.

Coach Dana X. Bible's Cornhuskers won their game with the Oregon State in the first quarter, gave it back to them, then had to come back with a spine-chilling rally in the fading moments to come out right side up.

SURGEON ADMITS MERCY MURDERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, famed Viennese surgeon, disclosed today that two members of his own family were hastened to their graves through a form of "mercy killing" to prevent unnecessary suffering from lingering illness.

Dr. Lorenz, here for his annual professional visit, said the two were the first wife of his son, Dr. Albert Lorenz, and an uncle, 82-year-old Abbot Oregor of St. Paul monastery, in Corinthia.

Each was incurably diseased, and death was hastened by excessive administration of narcotics, he said.

The word waffle comes from the verb "to weave" and certainly the waffle, with its soft indentations, very closely resembles a woven cloth.

Do you know how to open a screw-top jar without "phoning" the strong man from the circus? Invert your jar and bang it (careful, not too hard) two or three times on the floor. This breaks up the air pocket in the jar... and presto, your top unscrews easily.

Here's a way to give vegetable salad a chef's touch... sprinkle fried bacon, chopped fine, over the top.

Stretching shouldn't be confined to setting-up exercises... it can be done all day by the busy housewife who wants to stretch four portions to serve five. For instance, just add a few Krispy Crackers to a meat, fish or vegetable loaf... or crumble some Krispy Crackers into a casserole or an au gratin dish.

Who cares whether the Chinese in China eat chop suey? here's an American version you'll like:

KRISPY CHOP SUEY
1/2 cup rice 3 tablespoons fat
2 chopped onions 1/2 pound ground beef
2 cups drained tomatoes
1 cup peas, cooked or canned
1 cup juice of peas 2 teaspoons salt
16-18 Sunshine Krispy Crackers, crumbled
Roll the rice until soft. Melt the fat, add onions and meat, and cook until brown. Drain rice and mix with meat. Add the tomatoes, peas and juice of peas and seasoning. Break up Krispy Crackers and lay this layer on bottom of greased baking dish or casserole. Over this pour half of above mixture. Lay remaining broken Krispy Crackers on this and add remainder of mixture on top. Dust with slight sprinkling of Krispy Cracker crumbs and bake in hot oven (350° F.) until brown for about 30 minutes. (Let frozen cooked meat may be used.) Serve 6 to 8. All measurements standard.
