Attorney General Says Legislature Journals Do Not Show Paragraph Containing Participation Clause

SALEM, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The section of the enrolled unemployment compensation act providing for workers' participation to the fund was ruled void by Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle today who held the act should be considered as though that paragraph had not been included.

This section has been the cause of considerable controversy since the passage of the act by the special session of the legislature. The senate and house journals show the measure was passed without the one-half of one per cent payment of employees, but the enrolled bill as filed with the secretary of state included the section through error.

The opinion held the supreme court of Oregon had ruled the courts must adhere to the journal entry rule rather than the enrolled bill rule, and therefore this section should be eliminated. It was further held that invalidating one section of the act would not make void the entire act.

The unemployment insurance act, a part of the federal social security program, therefore will provide the fund be created by employers who beginning in 1936 will pay into that fund until the amount reaches 2.7 per cent of the payroll. Federal contribution to the fund will begin in 1938 at which time employers will receive first benefits. Employers will pay but nine-tenths of one per cent next year.

The journals show that the senate had attempted to amend the original house bill by including employee participation, but that the house refused to concur and the senate recessed. The enrolling committee, however, included the amendment in the final draft which shows in the new statute.

The section declared void was paragraph (D) of section 15. The opinion was requested by the state industrial accident commission which will administer the act. Organization work of the commission has already been started.

arrest at the hospital, with a guard at her bedside. She is still too intoxicated to talk. From what I learned in talking to a guest at the home, the mother and her son became engaged in an argument over his drinking.

"Mrs. Livermore told the boy she would rather see him dead than drink to excess. The boy then went to a closet, got a .22, single action rifle, and handed it to her, saying: 'Well, here you are.' Mrs. Livermore took the rifle and fired. The bullet entered the boy's chest. His condition is critical and it is doubtful if he will recover."

The youth is being attended by Dr. Neville Usner and Dr. Irving Wills. Pears were felt that the single bullet he received may have penetrated his liver.

The boy's brother, Paul, 12, was in a guest cottage at the estate at the time of the shooting and did not witness it.

The butler also told officers he was not near the portion of the house where the shooting occurred.

The boy's father is one of the most famous figures in American finance, credited with having made and lost several fortunes running into the millions of dollars.

Medford Hotel Is Popular Spot For Thanks Day Feast

The Hotel Medford dining room was a popular choice for Thanksgiving dinner away from home, 237 persons having been served with turkey yesterday, in addition to members of the Medford high school football team who were guests at a banquet there last evening.

Turkeys raised by Toggery Hill Isaacs were included in the generous menu, and in spite of the large quantity of birds prepared for Thanksgiving feast there was a shortage at the end of the day. Thursday's dining room business at the Hotel Medford was the most successful experienced in some time, according to Manager P. G. Denson.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Stock market prices beat a retreat today, as European war threats assumed graver proportions.

A few of the rail, copper and aircrafts were in demand, but many of the recent leaders backed up 1 to 2 or more points. The close was a trifle heavy.

Support appeared for the list in the final hour and declines were reduced. The ticker tape fell behind floor transactions in a brief selling flurry just after noon. Trading pace then slowed but picked up in the late rallying period.

The financial sector seemed pleased with President Roosevelt's Atlanta speech in which he said the government has "passed the peak of appropriations" and can "look forward

Safeway Offers New Bread in Medford

Julia Lee Wright, nationally known Home Economics expert, demonstrating to housewives a loaf of the new bread which has been named in her honor.

A brand new loaf of bread now on the market has been named for Julia Lee Wright, home economist well known to housewives throughout the Oregon country.

How this new loaf was developed was interestingly told by Mrs. Wright in a recent interview.

"My name hasn't just christened the bread," Mrs. Wright explained. "My home economists and I have been testing, baking and tasting this bread for months. We wanted Julia Lee Wright bread to be exactly what a woman wants when she buys bread. Naturally, we had to do a lot of preliminary testing and now we have just the bread the modern housewife wants."

"It was really fun in our kitchen," continued Mrs. Wright, "making a batch of bread, then calling in scores of women to sample it. We asked them to eat a slice toasted, then a canapé, finally a plain unbuttered slice, then to smell the bread and feel its texture. After we noted down their comments pro and con, we started working on another batch using their suggestions as a guide. Only after determining in this way just what women wanted did we turn our endlessly tested bread recipe over to the bakers to make in large quantities."

Mrs. Wright is one of three women who attended the American Institute of Baking at Chicago. Julia Lee Wright bread is dated so the housewife knows the age of the product she buys. It is delivered fresh daily.

At present Julia Lee Wright bread is available only in white and whole wheat. Shortly it will be obtainable in rye, pumpernickel and other varieties.

The new Julia Lee Wright Bread is sold in Safeway stores.

The mighty motors of THE CHINA CLIPPER depend on Aero Mobiloil

—Where unfailling performance is vital

From the first successful airlift at Kitty Hawk to the great Pacific mail hop that is engaging the attention of the world today, the engineering brains that developed Aero Mobiloil have played an important part.

The Wright Brothers' pioneering exploration of the air—Lindbergh's dramatic dash that first spanned the Atlantic—the U.S. Army 'round-the-world flight—Wiley Post's breath taking circuit of the globe—every Transatlantic steamship record breaker since 1910—all have depended on lubricants developed by the same engineers who have given to the world the famous Clear-sol Double-solvent process by which Mobiloils are made.

And now—the first Transpacific mail carrier—the China Clipper—relies upon Aero Mobiloil to steer a sure and unflinching course toward the setting sun. The Mail must go through! The China Mail depends on Aero Mobiloil. The motorists of America depend on Mobiloil...
