

Five Stanford Gridders On All-Coast Eleven Is View of Coaches, Scribes

By Osborne T. Buck
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—For the second successive year, Stanford placed more men than any other university on the Associated Press all-Pacific coast eleven for 1935. Five Stanford men "made" the team this year compared to four a year ago.

The selections, announced today, were the consensus of 71 officials, coaches and sports writers. For the second successive year Southern California was without representation.

Grayson Prime Favorite
Bobby Grayson, Portland, Ore., fullback at Stanford for three years, polled the heaviest vote on the squad, scoring 70 out of a possible 71 with 58 observers placing him at fullback.

Ed Nowogrowski of Washington got five votes for the position while Herb Schreiber of St. Mary's and Nello Falaschi of Santa Clara got one each.

James "Monk" Moscrip, Stanford, end, wound up his conference playing with a Rose Bowl game to go—by being placed on the first eleven for the third successive year, something no other player has done.

Emanuel Hernandez is still champion of Mexico. Emanuel Hernandez weighs 215 pounds, which should make him a good champion of Measloo. But aside from Emanuel and a few of his sub-creators, there aren't a awful lot of people ready to admit that the big Mexican should be champion of his country, for the simple reason that Pete Belcastro, who stopped Emanuel three times straight in a two-out-of-three fall match.

That was when Pete was on his recent tour of the southern, wrestling for his three rounds of trifles a day. He was matched against the large and greasy gentleman named above, and the plans were to paint the town hall with the remains of Pete when Senor Hernandez had finished with him. This policy might have been adhered to had Pete not drop-kicked most of a week's supply of tortillas out of the Mexican pride immediately after the sound of the opening gun. A few more leg punches and the round was over, with Pete the victor.

Having taken the first fall convincingly with drop-kicks, Pete decided to vary his attack a little, and try an Indian whip. This worked equally well, and shortly after the good Senor was lying on his back, starting vacantly at the flies buzzing about the arena light overhead. His work over, Belcastro started to crawl toward the ring and go home to bed, but the excited Mexicans lining the front row wouldn't let Pete out of the ring, hoping against hope that their battered champion would return to his senses and save their fast-fleeting penns, rashly bet on the outcome. In good Mexican parlance, they pointed out to Pete that the match was for three falls. Pete had to agree, and the match went into the third frame.

Irked at this treatment, Belcastro made short work of the bulky bull-fighter, and lambasted him slyly with straight drop-kicks. But even then, the peons refused to turn over the Mexican belt to Pete. We always remember, Emanuel Hernandez is still champion of Mexico.

HUBERT BENTLEY ADDS BANKERS TOURNEY CUP TO GOLFING LAURELS

Hubert B. Bentley, winner of the southern Oregon golf championship last Labor day on the Rogue Valley course, became the permanent possessor of the championship cup in the Bankers' tournament at Ashland last Sunday. In winning this cup for the third time, Bentley defeated Millard Grubb by a margin of one up on the 18th hole, playing against a 10-hole handicap. The winner was over par on only three holes, carded three birdies and finished with a par 72.

The large gallery which followed the match voiced the opinion that Bentley's play, considering the frosty greens, was one of his best performances since he hit his first golf ball several years ago on the "links" at the Jackson county fair grounds.

Prof. Arthur Taylor of the Southern Oregon Normal won the second flight from J. W. McCoy by two up on the 18th.

Bob Ingle and Frank Van Dyke will battle this week for possession of the third flight cup.

Manager Herbert Smith of the Ashland Golf club claims some kind of a record for the Ashland club, as this year's Bankers' tournament started on Armistice day and ended on December 1.

ROGERS PICTURES NEVER FOUND IN NEED OF CENSOR

The censor's scissors never had to be wielded on a movie of Will Rogers, Will Hays, czar of the motion picture industry recalled recently in paying tribute to the high caliber of Rogers' films.

"Will never would make a movie that parents didn't want their children to see," said Hays, recalling an incident two days before Rogers started his fatal airplane trip.

"We talked of a story which a friend of Rogers had suggested that he use for his next picture. The friend wanted Rogers to take the lead in the movie, but Rogers told me he was going to reject the story."

"I know it is a fine play by a great writer," said Will, "but it is for grown-ups. It will make a fine picture, but when I play in a picture folks always bring their children to see it. Most of the story is great, but there is one scene in that people wouldn't want their children to see. You can't leave that scene out without spoiling the story. It should not be left out, but I just don't want to play in any picture where folks may think they shouldn't have brought their children."

BENNETT REACHES 70TH MILESTONE

"Life begins at seventy" is the opinion of N. S. Bennett, pioneer Medford resident and nurseryman who will celebrate his seventieth birthday tomorrow. In spite of the fact that he has spent more than a half-century in active business, Mr. Bennett will be "on the job" tomorrow as usual directing the affairs of the Eden Valley Nursery, an enterprise which he established and has managed for many years.

The distinction of being one of the Mail Tribune's oldest subscribers goes to N. S. Bennett, who has been a consistent reader of this newspaper since its inception. In glancing over some old souvenirs today, Mr. Bennett discovered a subscription receipt for the old Medford Mail, one of the Mail Tribune's predecessors, which was dated January 22nd, 1901 and signed by A. S. Hilton, pioneer journalist of this city.

Newman Decorates Store Fronts For Medford Merchants

Medford merchants have tied in with the attractive Christmas street decorations by the Retail Merchants' Bureau Christmas committee, by attractively decorating their store fronts and interiors in keeping with the Yuletide season. L. C. Newman, Medford decorator, has completed scores of store fronts in various kinds of cedar.

A number of decorated store fronts have yet to be done, according to Newman, and, with Christmas but three weeks distant, those who contemplate front or interior cedar decorations will undoubtedly arrange for this work soon.

The American continent has expanded in breadth about 40 feet in the last nine years.

News Behind The News

ton Fish got up on the Borah presidential coat tails. They call it "the alliance of the lion and the mouse."

The inner explanation seems to be a simple one. Borah has been under attack by some good ladies who are calling him a red. Mr. Fish is the bare ideal of all anti-reds, masculine, feminine or neuter. An o. k. from him is equivalent to acquittal by a jury.

Also Mr. Fish is supposed to have developed lately a vice presidential receptivity.

An official who looked over Mr. Roosevelt's shoulder at the writing of the Atlanta speech, advised him to eliminate the line about the bankers telling him in 1933 that the debt could go to fifty or seventy billion dollars. He declined to do it.

The remark is supposed to have been left in particularly for the effect it might have on the heavy treasury financing placed in the hands of the bankers the following Monday.

It is true some financial authorities had fantastic notions two years ago about the possible ceiling of the debt. Some published guesses ran as high as fifty billions at that time. Such notions are now generally recognized to have been foolish.

All that the best authorities seem to know about it now is that the current height is somewhere above the chandelier.

Further confirmation of the theory that the technological phase of unemployment has been overlapped can be found in a new study entitled "machinery, employment and purchasing power," made by the national industrial conference board. This report shows that during the long range 1870 to 1930 period of machine and technological improvements, the proportion of gainful workers to the total population rose from 32 per cent to 39 per cent.

An exaggerated but simple example is the development of the auto. It threw all the horse and buggy boys out of work, eliminated the vast livery stable business. During the transition period, the number of jobs in the old industry outnumbered those now employed in the new industry, but not now.

If you count all employed in building better roads, bridges, direct automobile manufacturing, employment, gas, garage and filling station and even the "hot dog" stand employment, you will reach a sizeable figure.

Returning Democratic congressmen are also groaning. They say they cannot get anything out of the sunshine dispenser, Mr. Farley. For one thing, most of them cannot find him. He has been traveling most of the time lately.

Several arriving legislators are taking their troubles to W. Forbes Morgan, secretary of the national committee. He is thus growing in favor as a fixer of political matters for the administration. There is some suspicion that he was put into the national organization for this purpose, but not by Mr. Farley.

WEBFOOT HOOPSTERS FACE M. A. C. TONIGHT

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Coach Howard Hobson will experiment for a first string lineup tonight when his University of Oregon basketball team meets the Multnomah club five in a game here.

He is shuffling a number of transfers and sophomores in and out of the lineup to see if any can outstep returning regulars and other lettermen.

The Webfoots scored 46 points in their first game against the Riggs team of Eugene, but their defense failed to hold and the independents won by a single point margin.

Joe Gans Victory Is Boed By Fans

SEATTLE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro middleweight, scored a knockout over Manuel Victoria, Modesto, Calif., but he didn't win another crack at Freddie Steele, ranking Tacoma battler, by his shouting.

The bout last night was supposed to decide an opponent for Steele in the near future, but the fans boed the slow-motion fracas even after the knockout. Many left for home before it was over.

British Soccerites Trim German Team

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A crowd of 60,000 cheering spectators saw England defeat Germany, 1-0, in the first international soccer match between the two countries on English soil since 1901.

Anti-Nazi demonstrations, feared in some quarters, did not materialize.

EIGHT WEBFOOTS FACE FINAL GAME

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eight University of Oregon football players will receive their football baccalaureate against St. Mary's Sunday at San Francisco.

Six of the seniors will be in the starting lineup, Coach Prink Callison announced. Frank Michek, star fullback, on the sidelines with injuries may see some action in the game. The other seniors were in good condition.

Starting seniors will be Gordon and Jones ends; Carter and Coddard, guards; Reichman, quarter, and Donnell, fullback; Hurney, the eighth senior, will see action at guard.

The Webfoots drilled hard yesterday on defensive line play in the hopes of stopping St. Mary's powerful running attack.

FOES DESIGNATED FOR SUGAR BOWL

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Football teams of Louisiana State and Texas Christian university will match strength in the Sugar Bowl classic here New Year's day.

The selection of L. S. U. southwesterner conference champion, and T. C. U. runner-up for the southwestern championship, was announced last night by Warren Miller, president of the mid-winter sports association, which sponsors the game.

Although both teams have lost one game each, they have been rated among the "first five" squads of the country.

Star Of St. Mary's On Injured List

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—St. Mary's may have to get along without her best end, Eddie Erdelatz, in Sunday's football game here against Oregon University.

Erdelatz received torn ligaments and a sprain joint in his shoulder and a sprain joint over several outstanding substitutes.

Oregon To Stick To Power Plays

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The University of Oregon grid team probably will "stick to the old stock of reliable power plays" when it meets the St. Mary's Gaels in San Francisco Sunday. Coach "Prink" Callison said today.

Callison has been stressing defense this week. Letting the offense take care of itself. Furthermore, he is not taking injuries by heavy scrimmages. Practices are limited to light workouts.

Meeting Postponed—The meeting of the O. P. A. has been postponed until December 13.
