

DWIGHT HOUGHTON NAMED ASSISTANT HEAD OF U. S. BANK

Dwight L. Houghton from the Portland Headquarters Bank has been named assistant manager of the Medford branch of the United States National bank, according to an announcement issued by Paul S. Dick, president. Mr. Houghton will make his residence in Medford and be first assistant to George T. Frey, the manager. In an administrative capacity, Houghton has been connected with the United States National since 1925, having served in various capacities and is, therefore, thoroughly versed in the bank's policies and operation.

In commenting upon the appointment, Mr. Frey was enthusiastic in praise of his new assistant. "Mr. Houghton is more than familiar with banking routine," stated Frey. "Since the passage of the National Housing act, Mr. Houghton has specialized in modernization credits and is responsible for many of the bank's outstanding activities in that respect. As a result of these activities, the last official report from Washington placed the United States National bank eleventh among the banks of the country in the making of loans for repairing and remodeling homes and other buildings."

"Mr. Houghton has also visited all of the bank's branches during the last year in the interests of modernization loans, both to stimulate such activities at the banks and to acquaint the business houses in each locality with the possibilities of their utilizing FHA loans to promote the sale of such supplies and equipment acceptable under the act. Naturally, we will utilize Mr. Houghton's services to the fullest extent in making modernization loans in Medford, as well as in extending our services in respect to commercial loans, farm loans and even personal loans," said Mr. Frey.

Mr. Houghton has already assumed his duties at the Medford branch and his family, consisting of his wife and three daughters, will shortly take up their residence here. It is understood that Houghton has been active in the Portland chapter of the American Institute of Banking, having been chairman of the debate committee and education committee. He was first president of the chapter's public speaking club and represented the Pacific northwest in the 1934-35 national speaking contest held at Washington, D. C.

Miss Susan Dynan And Frank Dalkey Wed in Sacramento

Word has been received here of the wedding in Sacramento of Miss Susan C. Dynan and Frank P. Dalkey, which was performed in a quiet ceremony November 27. Rev. Raymond L. Bailey of the First Baptist church in that city officiated.

Both bride and groom are well known in Medford, having graduated from Medford high school and having lived here for a number of years. Mrs. Dalkey has a position as technician with Dr. Davis, optometrist, and Mr. Dalkey is connected with Lupin & Hawley, electrical and plumbing contractors.

After a short honeymoon, the newly married couple will be at home at 2504 21st street in Sacramento.

Past Matrons Meeting Held

The Past Matrons club met at the home of Mrs. B. L. Sanderson on Ross Court yesterday for the regular December session. Hostesses were Mrs. Jennie Merritt, Hattie White, Maude Grant and Alice Hanley.

The Sanderson home was beautifully decorated with Christmas greens and reds for the occasion, the same motif being carried out in the table decorations where a dessert luncheon was served.

Following the business meeting, bridge was the order of the afternoon, with Mrs. W. H. McGowan and Mrs. W. H. Merritt receiving the prizes.

O.E.S. and Officers' Dances Among First Of December Affairs

Consensus of opinion seems to mark December as the month of all months for social activities. An undoubted holiday spirit prevails from the time streets and homes receive their first Yuletide decorations, and in the minds of most it's never too early to start. Tonight, Eastern Star and Masons will dine and dance in the Masonic hall in one of the largest affairs on their current social calendar, and tomorrow evening, the local officers of the Medford Civilian Conservation Corps will entertain at the Hotel Medford with a dance.

Ladies and gentlemen of the army set are planning tomorrow's dance as the first of a series of monthly affairs of similar nature to continue throughout the winter season.

Invitations have been issued to reserve officers, national guard officers, retired army and navy officers and their ladies, as well as to the officer personnel of the Medford district.

Arrangements for the dance are being made by Lieut. William B. Clegg, Lieut. Harry May, Jr., Dr. Hjalmer T. Gentle and Lieut. Roy Craft.

Norman Galls To Make Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Galls arrived in Medford Tuesday of this week from Roseburg, where they have made their home for some time. Mr. Galls, who has been with the Union Oil company in Roseburg, has transferred his business interests here, and the popular young couple plan to make their home in Medford.

Mrs. Galls is the former Elbow Mae Wilson. Both Mr. and Mrs. Galls are well-known here, having lived in Medford for a number of years, and are being welcomed back by a large group of friends.

At the present time, the Galls are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilson, parents of Mrs. Galls.

Eastern Visitors Guests of Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dow of Rapid City, S. D., are stopping in Medford a few days en route to Los Angeles, where they will spend the winter. While in the city they are guests of their cousins, Mrs. Myrtle Blakeley and Mr. A. W. Wall, and families.

The Dows are traveling by motor and will spend several days here before continuing south.

ITALIANS SHOWER EXPLOSIVES UPON PALACE IN DESSYE

ventist hospital and a Red Cross tent were hit by the projectiles. One ward and the office of the American hospital were wrecked.

When the raiding planes left, the emperor was among the first to survey the damage.

Dead, Wounded Seen

He saw dead and wounded lying in the streets. He saw many more at the American hospital and the Ethiopian Red Cross tent.

Halle Selassie said he was horrified that the Italians had ignored the Red Cross insignia prominently displayed by not only the American hospital, but also by the Ethiopian Red Cross tent.

The Associated Press correspondent saw many women and children among those who were killed and wounded.

Georges Goyon, the Havas News Agency correspondent, was seriously wounded in one knee.

Casualties were heavy among the civil population, and panic broke out.

Major G. A. Tetrault, a Belgian officer, was wounded, and Miss Petra Hovig, a Norwegian nurse, suffered a broken leg.

The emperor was not injured in the bombing which occurred at 8 a. m.

Two incendiary bombs dropped near this correspondent's tent set fire to a Red Cross tent.

Planes Circle Town Thrice

The planes left after circling the town three times.

Halle Selassie visited the hospital and expressed personal condolences to the wounded.

Halle Selassie came to Dessye, 175 miles northeast of Addis Ababa, last week by automobile from the capital.

He made Dessye the headquarters from which he personally directed his officers in their moves on the northern front.

The American hospital, through the presence of mind of its director, was evacuated a few minutes before the raiding planes appeared overhead.

However, the beds, surgical instruments, operating tables, and other equipment were strewn all over the place by the blasts of three bombs which pierced the corrugated iron roof.

SALEM, Dec. 6.—(P)—Committee representing hop men of the three Pacific coast states will meet here late today in an effort to solve the problems of surplus and overproduction facing the hop industry.

Life Philosophy Should Contain Six "Constants"

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 6.—(P)—Six "constants" should be kept in mind as a foundation for a true philosophy of life, Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of the state's higher educational system, told an Oregon State audience here. The "constants," he said, include: Recognition that there is a God and a planned creation, the mating instinct as expressed through monogamous families, human love for one's active habitat, desire for private property, desire for beauty and knowledge, and the love of liberty.

GRESHAM BALKS ON SEWER RULES

GRESHAM, Ore., Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Gresham city council balked last night and appealed to the public works administration at Washington for permission to use clay pipes in the Gresham $118,000 sewage disposal project.

The council refused to open bids on concrete pipes which C. C. Hockley, Oregon PWA engineer, recommended because of their lower price and which George L. Baker of the Oregon Manufacturers' association urged as an Oregon product.

Mayor Akin declared the city was furnishing most of the funds and would insist on clay pipe, which is considered superior.

BEN DORIS SEEKS G. O. P. LEADERSHIP

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Ben Doris of Eugene, here attending the walnut growers' session, announced he would be a candidate for Republican national committee should Ralph Williams, incumbent, refuse to seek re-election.

Doris said he had been reliably informed Williams, who has been in that position for a score of years, would not be a candidate next year. T. Harry Banfield, newly appointed member of the state capitol construction commission, has also been mentioned as a candidate for the position.

Doris has long been active in both the Republican party and in the affairs of the American Legion.

ARMY RECRUITING RESUMING AFTER AUTUMN LAYOFF

Since October 1, the staff of the local army recruiting service, whose headquarters are in the city hall, has enjoyed a well-earned period of relaxation after their strenuous recruiting campaign of last summer and early fall.

Commenting on these campaigns, Major H. D. Bagnall, district recruiting officer, offers the information that the present holiday period is a direct result of the overwhelming response from Oregon lads and which necessitated a temporary cessation of recruiting in order to remain within the limits of the authorized enlistment quotas. With prospects of many excellent army vacancies looming in the near future, plans are now being made to officially open winter recruiting the first of the year.

Tentative plans provide for an augmented staff of recruiting personnel and the probable opening of one more sub-office in Oregon, in addition to the four in Salem, Eugene, Medford and Pendleton, the main office being in Portland.

Applications for enlistment in the army are now being accepted and interested applicants should contact their nearest army recruiting office. Vacancies will be available in most of the units stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, just across the river from Portland, and at Fort Stevens, Oregon, two of the finest military posts in the Pacific northwest.

Present available vacancies include the infantry and medical department in Tientsin, China. These vacancies are limited to single, former service men of excellent character, not under 21 or over 35 years of age, who were last discharged with excellent character and have resided in the United States at least two years since their last service in China, and who are native born citizens of the United States. Only men who have had service in a combat arm will be enlisted for infantry, China.

Honor Betty Vilm At Frosh Banquet

Miss Betty Vilm, former honor student at Medford high school and now a freshman at the Oregon State college, was recently honored at a banquet given by Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary society at the college.

The banquet was given to all freshmen women at the college who had received no grades in high school lower than B. The information was given to Principal C. G. Smith of the Medford high school, by the honorary society.

BEACH ACHIEVES 30-YEAR RECORD IN MAIL SERVICE

Roland O. Beach, assistant postmaster, was receiving the congratulations of his associates today upon his completion of 30 years of service in the postal department. His long record makes him the oldest man in point of service in the Medford postoffice. Twenty-six of his 30 years in the postoffice department have been spent here.

Mr. Beach entered the mail service as a city carrier in Lincoln, Neb., December 1, 1905. In qualifying for the position he had placed sixth among 40 applicants who had taken the civil service examination. He was transferred to Medford, September 15, 1909, to help inaugurate city delivery here, becoming one of Medford's first two carriers. Homer Harvey, now a rural carrier on route 2, was then the other city carrier. Medford now has nine carriers. When Mr. Beach came to Medford, the late A. M. Woodford was postmaster. Mr. Woodford's son, Ralph, was then assistant postmaster. He later became postmaster, succeeding his father. At the time Mr. Beach came here, W. J. Warner was money order clerk. He later became postmaster and was succeeded by Frank DeSouza, present incumbent. In 1914, Mr. Beach transferred to an inside position, changing places with John O'Connor, clerk, who wanted to work outside as a carrier. In turn, Mr. Beach held all the postoffice positions, and on May 1, 1924, was named assistant postmaster.

U. P. WILL DIVIDE HUGE RAIL ORDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that the Union Pacific Railroad company's order for 70,000 tons of rails would be divided among Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., 29,750 tons; Carnegie Illinois Steel Corporation, 29,750 tons; and Inland Steel Co., 10,500 tons.

Rolling and delivery of the rails and necessary track accessories will involve an outlay of more than $4,000,000 by the Union Pacific, estimates say.

Allocation of the orders is in line with the road's 1936 improvement and renewal program, as announced by the management two weeks ago.

Other expenditures for car-building program aggregated a further $4,000,000. With the appropriation of approximately $2,000,000 for replenishing stocks of miscellaneous materials, the proposed total expenditure was raised to almost $10,000,000.

SUN SPOTS MEAN ROBUST WINTER

SANTA CLARA, Cal., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Five huge spots have appeared on the sun, Dr. Albert Newlin, director of Richard Memorial observatory, announced today.

Solar volcanoes caused the craters, a manifestation of what scientists term the riding "sunspot cycle" of seven years' duration, Dr. Newlin said.

The craters are the largest so far in the cycle, which has been in progress several years, to continue about three more years.

A tremendous increase of solar disturbances, Dr. Newlin said, has occurred during the last year. He stated that if conclusions of scientists hold true there will be a heavy winter this year.

One Fatality

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Courtney Steinbauer, a worker at Siasa in Curry county, was the only fatality reported from industrial accidents during the past week. The industrial accident commission reported a total of 867 accidents for the week.
