

STUDENTS GIVING FINAL SHOWINGS OF SHAW DRAMA

"Candida," the sophisticated George Bernard Shaw play now being presented by the actors of the Southern Oregon Normal school with marked favor, will play for the last time tomorrow and Saturday evenings in the ball room of the Luthin hotel in Ashland.

While the polished performance of the players has added most to the enjoyment of the play, not a little of the charm has been afforded by the intimate style in which it is being presented—with no stage, sets or properties other than a room marked only by a rug and period furniture, the audience being in a single circle about the room.

The effect is that of having the play presented in the home, or, more accurately, of witnessing a drama of real life, rather than a play in which the actors have rehearsed their parts. This feeling of intimate intimacy is further carried out by the novelty of serving coffee to the guests in the lobby at intermissions.

Prof. Angus L. Bowmer, director of the play, has stated that the participants have shown an unusual maturity and insight in their interpretations of the various roles.

"They show finer teamwork than any other group I have had the pleasure of directing," Professor Bowmer said today.

An interesting thing about the popularity of the Shaw piece is the fact that almost half of the audience each night is made up of persons who have seen the play before, but were struck by it that they have returned for the second, and even the third, performance.

Mrs. Marjory McNair of Beverly Hills, Calif., will play the title role Friday evening, while Miss Helen Edmiston, well known for her splendid portrayal of the difficult roles of Sorrel, in Noel Coward's "Fever," and of Portia in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," will play the title role on Saturday evening.

Reservations for the last two performances may be made by calling 81 in Ashland, or 63, the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, in Medford.

News Behind The News

seems to be growing. It is to prevent the nomination of Mr. Hoover. That goes vice versa.

The strangest mystery to Mr. Roosevelt's fellow travelers on his recent trip was the way Governor Homer of Illinois always wound up in the corner. It happened too often to have been accidental.

When Mr. Roosevelt marched into the Chicago Saddle and Siroin club for his lunch he had Mayor Kelly and City Boss Nash at his side. No one took the hand of democratic Governor Homer. He marched in behind and alone. The seating disclosed Mr. Roosevelt flanked by the same Messrs. Kelly and Nash. The governor was seated out in left field somewhere.

There were reports in the presidential party that the governor would try to see the president during the journey later to Notre Dame. The idea was that he would make an effort for presidential intervention to establish peace in the democracy of Illinois. Strangely, there was always a crowd around the president during the trip. The good governor had no opportunity for anything but comment on the weather.

The facts lend confirmation to the old story that Kelly and Nash will put someone into the primary next time against their own party governor.

Many Salmon Seen In Illinois River

GRANTS PASS, Dec. 12.—(Sp.)—More Chinook salmon are streaming up the Illinois river to the fall spawning grounds than have ever been noticed in the river before, according to word received here from the Wood and Gun club in Kerby.

Due credit for the water being alive with fish en route to spawn, is to be handed the forest service, the club reported, for blowing the rapids and falk out of the river near the Store Gulch station about 10 miles below Selma.

COQUILLE, Ore., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Bandon will have the backing of the Coquille chamber of commerce in its application for $45,000 in federal funds to construct an airport. It was indicated by a vote of the local chamber this week.

Miss Burr Elected President of Club

At the last meeting of the Travel Study club, whose hostess for the day was Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown, Miss Elizabeth Burr was elected president, Mrs. W. G. Cool, vice-president, and Mrs. Harold Grey, secretary.

Miss Burr, appearing first on the afternoon's program, spoke on Argentina, reviewing its early history and its development up to the present time, stating that the principal industries, such as cattle-raising, sugar and wine production are usually under foreign control, and that scenic beauty of the country is much like that of Switzerland, with falls resembling Niagara.

Mrs. E. N. Warner, guest of the club, spoke on Ethiopia, a country approximately the size of the combined area of Italy and France, but little known until two years ago. Her talk was both timely and interesting, as she gave a message based on prophecy as viewed by Bible students, who see in the Ethiopian situation today the fulfillment of Biblical prophecy.

Communications

Wirth's Statement Reputed To the Editor: Officers and members of Townsend Club No. 2 of this city are somewhat incensed at the statement in Tuesday's edition of the Medford News regarding a proposed newspaper which Mr. Wirth says is about to enter the Medford News' paper field.

Townsend Club No. 2 members feel that all clean, legitimate publicity obtained by the Townsend plan is acceptable and appreciated greatly. We appreciate the kindly aid of the Medford News, but do not feel, as Mr. Wirth, that the News gives us all the publicity we need.

Mr. Wirth may get all the publicity he needs but the Townsend movement can never be publicized enough if Mr. Wirth makes this statement of his own accord that it is his business, but we do not wish to condemn any legitimate enterprise in this city or elsewhere.

As far as we can find out there is only one official Townsend paper in the United States and that is the Townsend Weekly, edited in Los Angeles, Cal. and Washington, D. C. (By Officers of the Townsend Club No. 2).

PLAN HIGH SCHOOL CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR GRADE GROUP

A number of boys and girls from the first four grades in Medford schools will be honored guests at the annual Christmas party given in their honor by the Girls' and Boys' League of the senior high school planned this year for next Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty. The youngsters will be chaperoned to the party in the high school auditorium by the older students, who will call for and deliver them safely home again.

Chief interest on the afternoon's program will be, of course, the specially arranged-for visit of Santa Claus, who, assisted by the school improvement committee, headed by Doris Ford, will personally distribute gifts and candy from the Christmas tree.

Also featured on the program will be several dance numbers, in interpretation of nursery rhymes, the dancers being from the classes of Miss Carlin Bagmark.

Committee chairmen assisting in arrangements for the party are Katherine Dillard, of social service; Florence Ringo, decoration; Doris Ford, school improvement, and Tone Kindred, entertainment. A meeting of the Girls' League early in the week took care of arrangements and plans for the party, with Flora Schiel, secretary, presiding in the absence of the president. Plans were also outlined at the council luncheon which preceded the meeting. Miss Maurine Carroll and Miss Alice Spurgin, advisors, lending a guiding hand in the work.

All high school students and interested parents are cordially invited to Wednesday's party.
