Fredric March Coming To Craterian

One of the most powerful and beautiful love stories ever filmed comes Sunday to the Craterian theater when "The Dark Angel," starring Fredric March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall, opens its local showing. Directed by Sidney Franklin, famous for his handling of "Smilin' Thru" and "Barretta of Wimpole Street," the film reflects the hearts of a woman and two men—one of whom she loves, while the other loves her. A great emotional climax is reached when the man she loves comes to a realization of his own love for her. Their happiness is short-lived, however, as the relentless forces of life tear them apart. Years after, when the girl has resigned herself to a betrothal to the other man, a kindlier fate intervenes and the lovers are reunited. Included in the supporting cast are Janet Beecher, John Halliday, Henrietta Crossman, David Torrence, Freida Inescort and Cora Sue Collins.

Kay Francis In Rialto Picture

"The Goose and the Gander," comedy drama involving an unique love triangle, comes to the Rialto theater Sunday, with Kay Francis and George Brent in the stellar roles. The plot involves both the theft of hearts and jewels, is set in the gayest of atmospheres and carries most exciting situations. The story evolves about the plot of a divorced wife to get even with the pretty blonde who stole her husband's heart. She maneuvers the second wife and her escort, with whom she is planning a trip to the mountains while her husband is away on business, into her lodge, where they are compelled to spend the night. At the same time she invited the ex-husband to visit her. With all under one roof, and a robber and his "moll" who have run out of gas, thrown in for good measure, there ensue many lively, exciting and embarrassing situations with culminate in a surprising climax. In the all-star cast with Miss Francis and Brent are Genevieve Tobin, John Edredge, Claire Dodd, Ralph Forbes and Helen Lowell.
