

RECALL IS HINTED FOR COUNCILMEN OPPOSING ADAMS

corner as referee on admissibility of testimony, Kenneth Demman as attorney for W. S. Whiting, Portland accountant, said to be largely responsible for the charges, and Mr. Newbury as counsel for Mr. Adams.

The question was raised as to why counsel for Mr. Whiting should appear in the role of prosecutor instead of the city attorney, but Mr. Van Dyke explained that the city council could not sit in judgment and act as prosecutor.

Testimony Given That major point settled, the taking of testimony began, with Mr. Wenner and Mr. Applewhite telling of alleged irregularities in the recorder's office.

Testimony was introduced to show that Mr. Adams had not kept the bond-lien docket in proper condition, that he had failed to certify the docket to the county assessor in time and that he had handled the petty cash account irregularly.

It was stated that Mr. Adams had taken $25 in cash from the petty account, substituting therefor a personal pre-dated check which he subsequently replaced with the cash. It was also testified that he had advanced a city employee $10 without making a payroll reduction.

There was a squabble about the right of Mr. Adams' counsel to cross-examine, but Mr. Van Dyke ruled that it was his constitutional guarantee. So Mr. Newbury cross-examined and at times the air was blue with intimations of lies and falsehoods.

Wenner Under Fire Mr. Wenner particularly came in for a withering cross-examination during which it was hinted that he was the cause of Mr. Adams' discomfiture. It was brought out that Mr. Adams had objected when Mr. Wenner participated in a city contract whereby he was paid for his assistance in an audit.

Another enthusiastic crowd was expected tonight when the prosecution continues its case. When the hearing is completed there are three steps open to the council: (1) remove Mr. Adams by ordinance; (2) let the voters decide by referendum; (3) forget about the matter altogether and let Mr. Adams continue in his elective office. The vote today were that the people would be asked to decide.

SMALL USERS OF CURRENT BENEFIT UNDER NEW RATES

While local officials of the California Power company today continued their refusal to shed any detailed enlightenment upon the rate reduction schedule filed last week with the state public utilities commissioner, it was learned that consumers of combination cooking and lighting rates would receive substantial discounts if they use less than 250 kilowatt hours.

Users of 250 kilowatt hours or more will not be affected by the proposed schedule now before the commission for determination.

If approved, the new schedule would effect an annual saving of $13,700 to consumers in Oregon. The present minimum charge of $1 for lights and small appliances is to remain the same; the $3 charge of electric range is to be reduced to $1.50; and the $3 charge for combination lights and range is to be cut 50 cents.

Present rates are: For the first 30 kilowatt hours per meter, 10 cents; For the next 200 kilowatt hours, 2 cents; For all above 230 kilowatt hours, 1.25 cents.

Proposed rates are: For the first 50 kilowatt hours per meter, 5.5 cents; For the next 50 kilowatt hours, 3 cents; For the next 150 kilowatt hours, 2 cents.

All over that amount, 1.25 cents. Typical bills for consumers using both lighting and range, not including charge for separate connections or motors:

Robert N. (Babe) High is confined to the county jail, where he has been since last July, when his bond was cancelled. George A. High is in Los Angeles.

PENITENTIARY TERM FOR MRS. EKWALL IN HOPE OF RUM CURE

Mrs. Jessie Ekwall, middle-aged woman under a six months' suspended sentence for burglary committed in Ashland last spring, was this morning sentenced by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton to serve an indeterminate sentence of not less than two years in state prison.

Mrs. Ekwall was arrested by city police Saturday night on an intoxication charge. County authorities figure that the care she will receive, with the calm of the state institution, may restore her mental peace and aid her in breaking the chains of the liquor habit, a cause of most of her troubles along with domestic woes.

Since her release last summer, on the suspended sentence, aid has been given the unfortunate woman in procuring work, but Chief of Police McCredie told the court, she has several times fallen from grace.

Upon her return to the county jail yesterday Mrs. Ekwall threatened suicide, necessitating a thorough search of her cell and person, and giving the matron a hectic night to prevent carrying out of the threat.

Cleverly concealed in the clothing of Mrs. Ekwall, the matron found a short bladed paring knife. The knife had been taken from a shelf in the jail kitchen. It is thought she secured the knife when the matron was momentarily at the telephone.

Last summer, Mrs. Ekwall attempted suicide by slashing her wrist with a pair of scissors.

COUNTY SEEKING FEHL COLLECTION

Jackson county, awarded judgment for $3962 for cost of trying Earl H. Pehl, on a vote-stealing charge in Klamath county, by a supreme court ruling yesterday, has taken preliminary steps for its collection. The district attorney reported today. A lien has been filed on the award given Pehl against Niedermeier, Inc. and awaiting distribution on a further appeal to the state supreme court.

The original claim of Jackson county for the change of venue trial of Pehl was approximately $5400, which was cut by order of the trial court. The county has trial cost bills filed in the L. A. Banks murder trial, and the other ballot theft trials awaiting collection, if possible.
