

HECTIC MILLING PROMISED ELKS BY CCC FIGHTERS

Medford district's most aggressive CCC fighters will meet tonight on the Christmas card at the Elks' temple. With an eye toward giving the fans the kind of knock-down-and-drag-out action they desire, tonight's bouts will bring together the tough, free-swinging fighters rather than the skilled boxers.

Heading the card will be Wild Man Blumstein, the Medford battler who leads with his chin and depends on one good, wild swing to give him a victory. He will meet John Proberg of Gasquet in a bout billed for the district light-heavyweight title.

Charles "Tiger" Curran, Oak Knolls' ace fighter, will meet Mike Marovitch, of South Fork, in a welterweight contest that promises thrills. Marovitch is a newcomer to the district, but has a good record.

Jess Savitsky, South Fork's popular district lightweight champ, will meet Fred Kinney, former navy fighter of Elk Creek, in another feature event. Both are aggressive boxers and should go the rout at top speed.

Howard Gupilli, 145, Gasquet, will meet Herb Walker, 145, Prescott, in a re-match neither boy wants to lose. Walker is fresh from his victory at Ashland Tuesday night and wants to keep his string intact.

Nat Lombardo, 118, sharpshooter from Oregon City, will tangle again with Johnny Rosell, 118, of Prescott. Lombardo took a close decision over Rosell in their last encounter, but Johnny has been running up and down Roxy Anne to get in shape and promises to take him.

The card will be a part of the big Christmas tree benefit party at the Elks' club.

We find ourselves wondering, time and again, how Prince Gary "Prink" Callison, University of Oregon mentor, formerly the arbiter of the Medford high school destinies, likes the new round-robin tournament with eight teams playing seven games against each other.

For some time now Oregon has been flying in the face of a very pretty little California jinx. Every time the team invades Los Angeles this jinx climbs up on the edge of the stadium, leering and frowning.

Tar Schwaemel, Oregon State's all-American tackle of 1933 iron man fame, and a number of other coast stars are on the Green Bay Packers team. Mike Mikulak, Harry Field, Bernie Hughes and others from the Chicago Cardinals probably would head the all-star lineup.

Indian Wrestler Dumps Stretcher

PORTLAND, Dec. 19. — (AP) — Chief Thunderbird, 206-pound Indian wrestler from Vancouver Island, dumped Mike Stretcher, 215, Hollywood, two straight falls with a body slam and Indian deathlock here last night.

Ken Russell, 215-pound ex-Northwestern football star, cudgeled top of three falls from Abe Coleman, 210, New York.

Dr. Nap DeVore, 195, Portland, topped Hans Schroeder, 205-pound German, with a rope spring and body press in the third round.

Seattle Puckmen Halt Buc's Drive

SEATTLE, Dec. 19. — (AP) — Under their "new-old" manager, Frank Peterson, the Seattle Seawolves finally put a stop to the winning streak of the Portland Buckaroos and climbed out of last place in the Northwestern Hockey league.

While Calgary was holding the league-leading Vancouver Lions to a 4 to 4 tie at Calgary last night, Seattle gave Portland its first beating of the season, 1 to 0.

WHITING EXPECTS RECORDER'S JOB, DEFENSE AVERS

Mr. Whiting arrived with his family in Ashland last July 4 to install a new accounting system in the recorder's office. On cross-examination by Mr. Newbury he said he had arrived with the Fourth of July parade, but seemed to be "out of step with the crowd."

Mr. Adams testified he asked the girl who her daddy was and she replied: "My daddy is Mr. Whiting." At the hearing last night he identified Mr. Whiting's daughter as the girl who had made the remark.

Mr. Adams testified that when he became recorder he wanted to install a new accounting system himself, replacing the ledger by the stub system, but had been thwarted by Mr. Wenner and O. T. Bergner, former councilman. Now, he said, Mr. Whiting favors the very same system.

It was also brought out by Mr. Adams that he did not approve the system proposed by Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery, the Portland accounting firm, and later was sustained by the council which voted to turn down the system.

Mr. Whiting was the chief prosecution witness last night. He substantiated the charges of carelessness and inefficiency previously testified to. When he was cross-examined by Mr. Newbury on a report filed by the Portland firm, Kenneth Denman, Mr. Whiting's counsel, objected on the ground he had had nothing to do with the report, but the objection was overruled by Mayor Wiley, the immediate result being a lively battle of words between the attorneys.

It was believed the hearing would be speeded up tonight as Dr. W. E. Blake, council member, announced he would leave Friday morning by plane for the north.

CUE ARTIST RUNS 125 IN ONE INNING

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. — (AP) — Bennie Allen of Kansas City, who won the world's pocket billiards championship three times straight 20 years ago, was the hero of the current title competition today.

Out of the running for the title, Allen came through with the most brilliant feat of the tourney last night.

Allen whipped Joe Procieta of Gloversville, N. Y., 125 to 0, scoring all his points in the third inning. That not only surpassed Jimmy Caras' feat of beating Procieta by the same score
