STRINGER LINKED WITH SLAYING BY BALLISTIC SHARPS

Glenn Stringer, 23, Medford youth, facing trial for murder at Vancouver, Wash., by reason of his confession, in which he named Ralph Tremaine, another local youth, as his companion, was linked to the crime by ballistic experts. They determined, the authorities say, that the revolver of which Stringer admitted ownership was the same weapon that fired the bullets that killed the Vancouver, Wash., candy salesman. Stringer in his confession, stated that the revolver was stolen from a Medford store in the spring of 1934.

The candy salesman was slain during the course of a hold-up, and robbed of a wallet containing $550. Stringer alleges in his confession that he and Tremaine later divided the loot.

The bullets, also compared, it is asserted, with those fired at City Policeman William Peck, when he surprised a trio of men, robbing DeVoe's store in 1934.

Tremaine, named by Stringer, and implicated in a series of Medford robberies, is still a fugitive. He was last seen at Shoshone Falls, Idaho, but fled three weeks ago. He is now reported as traveling in an auto bearing 1936 license plates.

Stringer was pardoned last week by Governor Martin, to answer the murder charge in Washington, and faces life imprisonment. In the event he pleads guilty.

Local authorities believe two motives actuated Stringer in his confession to relieve his conscience, and to be removed from the state penitentiary at Salem.

Stringer was stabbed in the neck by Julian Dally, a fellow convict and crime partner, with a file made into a knife. Dally, also a local youth spent weeks in the dungeon, and has vowed to harm Stringer, local officials claim.

Stringer and Tremaine, both have police records here, and were each granted several paroles, early in their crime careers.

Returning to the movie scene, he predicted disasters in health for John Barrymore and Fred Astaire, war-torn Norma Shearer of an airplane accident involving herself or a member of her family, and Ann Harding "is about to meet the great dark crisis of her life."

Norvell said he preferred not to discuss the future in national and world affairs, "because a man in public life doesn't mislead one by lying about his exact age, and a movie star sometimes does."

SUTHERLAND SLATFO ON SPEEDING CHARGE

Sutherland, under a complaint filed by the state police, is charged with driving at 38 miles per hour in South Riverside avenue traffic, "without regard for the safety of others," or having his auto under control for quick stopping in case of emergency at street crossings or with approaching car.

Jim Bryan Rouse of Phoenix, charged with non-possession of an operator's license, was fined $1 and costs amounting to $4.50. He was given until January 4 to make the first payment and until February 8 to remit the balance.
