FOREST CREEK, Dec. 23.—(Sp.)—Forest Creek school presented a Christmas entertainment at the schoolhouse Friday afternoon before a small audience of mothers and friends. The teacher, Mrs. O'Byrne, was assisted by Mrs. Arthur Davies and Mrs. John Black. Plans were discussed for serving hot lunches after the first of the year, and Mrs. Jack Crump was appointed chairman of a committee to make arrangements. At the close of the program, Mrs. O'Byrne left to spend the holidays with her sister, Mrs. Effie Thurston, at Talent.

PERSIST, Dec. 23.—(Sp.)—The dance given at the community hall last Saturday night was well attended in spite of weather conditions. Boyd Tucker, Howard Ash, Dale Peterson, Edna Hutchison, Sam Geary, Esther Chamber and Ray Briggs all assisted with the music. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison are moving from the place they have been living in to the Gray house on Elk creek, this week. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Ditworth were afternoon callers at the Matthews cabin Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Childreth accompanied by Viola Zimmer and Dorothy Ash were Christmas shopping in Medford last week. Dud Geary is now residing at the old Charlie Morgan place on Squaw Prairie. Fred Sturges called on V. E. Peterson Wednesday while hunting for cattle in this neighborhood. Waldo Trusty called on relatives at the Morgan mill Dec. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Ditworth entertained at dinner last Tuesday for Viola Zimmer, Dale Peterson, Edna Hutchison, Victor Peterson and Dorothy Ash. A most enjoyable evening was spent playing pinocle. The hosts served midnight supper before the guests' departure. CCC construction of the new water system at the Matthews cabin is progressing rapidly. The guard station will now be piped with spring water, a much needed improvement.

The Christmas program given at the Elk Creek community hall, by the school children was very well attended, last Thursday night. The children all were very good in their parts. After the program a club meeting was called and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Not a Pension; a Panacea. To the Editor: If the Townsend plan accomplishes only one thing, it will go down in history as having done one thing which all peace conferences and League of Nations have all failed to accomplish, and that is peace and universal brotherhood.

It has brought together all factions, regardless of religious or political views, in a united effort to restore peace and prosperity to everyone. While the churches are very backward in coming out openly in advocating the Townsend plan, they should be the very ones to be right out in front in defense of the Townsend plan.

Every one has got to show his colors in this fight. They are either for the plan or against it. There is no middle plan. That the Townsend plan is an issue to be reckoned with in the 1936 election is becoming very evident by the interest taken in it by the leading politicians and newspapers of the country.

Whenever they think that if the things that we realize how little is necessary to live, as a help learn to see the wonders of nature surrounding us.

Come to the low mountain ridge eight miles east of Medford, 90 miles back of the Pacific ocean, 3000 to 4000 feet above sea level. You can smell the ocean air, but not so strong as right on the coast. Big, standing timber, mostly pine, fir, oak, laurel, etc., also shrubs and berries, on windy days remind one of being on the ocean and hearing the sound of roaring waves. It is surrounded by the Cascade, Skiatyou, Umpqua and Coast ranges.

This low mountain ridge stretches in every direction the full length of the Rogue River valley, with all the surrounding mountains in plain sight on the horizon. Sun above and not a cloud as big as your hand in all the bright blue when the valley lays under fog, and a cool breeze in the summer when extreme heat prevails in the valley.

Could there be a place to live better for health? You will not make money in the usual sense of the word. To make a living, you will have to think and work for it, build your own home and enjoy it, no matter how small. It is better than to work only from the commercial point of view, and you will have more real life than most of the people slaving in an anthill city, of which I was one until I commenced to see real life.

It is a pity this place cannot be reached six or seven months out of the year, and really with difficulty the rest of the year, for there is no road leading to it at the present time. People living in the valley, for business reasons, during the foggy season cannot enjoy the sunshine above the south and southwest slopes, and winter sports on the north and northwest slopes, although it is very nearby.

Other states may learn from California that in addition to being useful, good roads actually pay in districts where climate and health, which is wealth, are based on reality. Rogue River valley in the state of Oregon should profit by this example.

Do not accuse anyone as being responsible for the economic conditions being bad the world over; we all help to make it—we all had eyes and could not see it coming. As the old saying is, a mule can kick and still be a mule, but a man will kick and get away from it.

To do better, let us think, act and work to learn to enjoy, then to destroy the wonders of nature, instead of a coddled city life, where there is mostly strife. W. H. SCHMIDT, Oregon's Switzerland, J. Medford, Ore., Dec. 23.

Ye Poet's Corner

The Christmas Tree, What kind of a tree do you like the best?

I love the Christmas tree, Its deep green boughs are as gracious in praise As a Christmas carol can be.

It brings the cheer of the great mountainland, To rooms that are gloomy and bare, And the hearts of weary ones rejoice In its friendly presence there.

The pungent scent of the graceful boughs Is as rich as the rose's perfume. To many known only once a year, While roses yield but bloom.

And when in quiet hour is read The story we
