Who Is Felix Frankfurter?

OF THE many issues in the forthcoming presidential campaign, Mr. Felix Frankfurter will undoubtedly be one. General Hugh Johnson recently proclaimed him to be the most influential single individual in the United States."

William Randolph Hearst has damned him as the "Iago of the Roosevelt administration," the strong and sinister villain in the New Deal melodrama.

Variations will undoubtedly be played on these two themes, by Republican spellbinders throughout the campaign, so in- of formation concerning the man, may be considered more or less pertinent at the present time.

THAT Mr. Frankfurter has been, and is, influential in the Roosevelt administration, can't be denied. He is a close personal friend of the President's, was admitted to the bar about the same time, and they were both members of the War Labor Policies Board, during the Wilson administration.

Since President Roosevelt's inauguration Frankfurter has often conferred with the President on matters of policy, and has been influential in securing positions in the government service of many "bright young men"-graduates of the Harvard Law School, where Mr. Frankfurter has been for many years, a leading member of the faculty.

Because Frankfurter was born in Austria of Jewish parents, he has been condemned as an alien and sinister influence, essentially un-American in his political concepts and traditions,-at heart a Russian Red.

NOTHING could be further from the truth. The best evidence of the fulsity and absurdity of such charges is the fact that he is a leading member of the faculty of the Harvard Law School; professionally and socially, his closest contacts are with the leading corporation lawyers of Boston, New York and Washington, and he is frequently consulted by outstanding leaders in American Big Business and High Finance, Certainly the big lawyers and business executives of the country, are not so dumb as to take advice from a confirmed Bolshevik.

His chief advocation for many years has been his supplying of bright and promising young men, for the leading law firms of the country, his recommendation being universally accepted, as prima facie evidence of the applicant's fitness, by training character and intellectual attainments, for valuable and distinguished service.

Moreover, he is not as Hearst claims, in any sense a "silent man." He has not only a brilliant and a plastic mind, but is a great talker. His political, economic and social views are well known. Independent and liberal he is, but as strongly opposed to Russian Communism, as he is to Italian Fascism or the Hitler dictatorship in Germany.

THE basis for the claim he is the "most influential single individual in the United States," rests upon the known fact, he is frequently called in by the President for consultation, and has, as before stated, supplied many young men for government service, during the present administration,

But it is doubtful if he has been called in by the President any more than many other of the President's close friends. There is no evidence the President defers to his judgment, any more than to the judgment of a dozen other prominent citithing you can't get out of is buying zens, close to the administration,—while his naming of young men for government service, has been no greater than a similar service to leading law firms in the East, which as before stated, the party which recently was shown the inside operations of a telephone girl at the local office.—(Long Creek Items).—"The visits are num-
