

7000 LEAVE CCC WEEKLY TO TAKE JOBS ON OUTSIDE

Enrollment Will Drop 25,000 by April Is Word of Oxley, National Director of CCC Boys' Education

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Howard W. Oxley, national director of Civilian Conservation Corps education, said some 7000 men are leaving CCC camps weekly for places in the work-a-day world.

"CCC educational advisers have probably the toughest educational jobs in the world," he told camp educators of this district at a convention here.

He said the job placement indicated the young men in the camps were "finding themselves" and fitting into work of their liking.

By April the CCC enrollment will diminish from 325,000 to 300,000, Oxley predicted.

Kenneth Holland of Washington, D. C., representing the American council of education, compared the CCC movement with youth camps of Europe.

"The American CCC camps have the best equipment and facilities of any work camps and are the most democratic in their administration," he said.

He advised continuance of free and open discussion and the many-sided education program in camps.

Some 25,000 men who probably never would have entered school, have learned to read and write in the camps, Oxley said.

Of 12,000 remaining illiterates, 11,000 are enrolled for schooling. Advanced education and vocational education also is offered for those with high school or college educational background.

TEACHERS URGED TO INSTILL HOPE IN YOUNG MINDS

his doctrines of change against tradition, and gropes for a stable philosophy of life.

"The avalanche of theories and experimental movements sweeps all to which past generations have attached stability and importance, into the scrap heap. Desperately then youth appeals, 'what has real value?'"

"As we face life, we can name certain things that we can count upon as certain. I recognize that change has brought man to his present level of progress, but as long as human beings are human beings, certain characteristics of mind will not change. I shall give a partial listing of these constants.

First is God "First and above all, there is God—the spiritual has never reasoned him away."

"There is the family. It is a fixture, and the monogamous family has ever had the stamp of society's approval."

"There is patriotism, or the love of habit. It is as old as time itself, natural and ineradicable, though its abuses cause trouble."

"There is the ownership of private property, which is founded on the instinct of self preservation. In spite of all the crimes which have been committed in its name, the owning of private property will remain a fundamental human characteristic."

"There is education. It is instinctive, founded on innate curiosity and the quest of the beautiful. The progress of our race depends on its permanence and development."

"Sixth and last, there is the love of liberty. It is instinctive in human beings. We may drift away to dictatorship or some other governmental form for a time; the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the Magna Charta may become trite and unpopular for a time—but always human beings will return to the quest for liberty."

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 27.—(AP)—The Oregon State Teachers' Association, in session here today, urged the legislature to enact a new form of taxation for the support of schools.

"In order to relieve real property from an appreciable amount of the burden it now bears," the teachers also urged free textbooks for high school as well as for grade school students.

Mrs. Lucy E. Rodgers of Heppner, Ore., was elected association vice-president and will automatically succeed to the presidency next year. R. E. McCormack of Bend becomes president with the close of this session.

PORTLAND SCHOOLS, WAS RE-ELECTED TRUSTEE FOR THE PORTLAND DISTRICT, AND E. D. TOWLER OF ASTORIA WAS CHOSEN FOR THE THIRD DISTRICT TRUSTEESHIP.

The teachers recommended that high school teachers be required to have five years instead of four years of college training; that grade school teachers have four years of college or normal training; advanced study either in school or by extension courses at least once every five years for all future life certificates for teachers; one year of cadet teaching during the academic training for both high school and elementary certificates; and special courses in administration for superintendents and principals.

A study of taxation possibilities was authorized.

Renewed effort toward consolidation of small rural school districts was pledged, following a report that 2200 separate and almost independent school districts in the state have overlapping and duplicating functions and staffs, with small schools maintained for few pupils.

The movement toward organization of the entire system of public education in Oregon under an appointed state board of education, functioning through a commissioner or other executive, won support.

DENTAL OFFICE RANSACKED FOR GOLD SUPPLIES

City police reported today that the office of Dr. W. C. Thompson, Medford dentist with offices in the Stefford building, was entered either Christmas eve or Christmas night, and ransacked. Loot consisting of $20 worth of old gold, $6 worth of new plate gold, and $8 worth of dental work was taken, police said.

The burglary brings to three the total of entries over the Christmas holiday, the house of William Vaughan, 525 East Main street, having been entered and between $25 and $30 and a shotgun taken, and the home of W. H. Walker, 52 Ross court, having been entered, a burglar forcing Walker to get out of bed and produce his wallet with $20 in it.

The burglarly brings to three the total of entries over the Christmas holiday, the house of William Vaughan, 525 East Main street, having been entered and between $25 and $30 and a shotgun taken, and the home of W. H. Walker, 52 Ross court, having been entered, a burglar forcing Walker to get out of bed and produce his wallet with $20 in it.

Chief of Police Clatous McCredie today stated that the three burglaries looked to be the work of separate persons, although the flurry of porch entries appears to be the work of one man. McCredie said, "I wish I could talk to everyone in town, in private. That would be the only way to catch these burglars. Sooner or later someone is going to catch a burglar in his home and kill him, and then our burglar problem will be solved. Until then, the best advice I can give is for everyone to lock their doors at night, and not to leave the home unguarded."

The police record today shows that petty thieves are also still busy. Dr. Harold Gillis reporting that his medical kit containing valuable instruments had been stolen out of his pocket near the Diamond cafe Christmas night. A stamp collection valued at $600, and a stethoscope were also taken.

Harry Hawk, 1115 West Tenth street, reported that a truck wheel and tire had been stolen from his home night before last.

SEVEN ARE DENIED LIQUOR LICENSES

PORTLAND, Dec. 27.—(P)—The Oregon liquor control commission denied applications today for seven more liquor store licenses in Portland and four in up-state communities. The commission ruled that the system needs no more outlets at present.

No definite action was taken by the commission at the end of a discussion with H. C. Blackmer, Klamath district attorney, over suggested improvements in handling the sale of beer at Chiloquin, on the Klamath Indian reservation.

The commission revoked the license of Ekerlin's beer garden, north of the city limits of Salem. The reason given for the action was that the commission considered the place was operated in a disorderly manner.

DEFINE DART GAME STANDING IN LAW

SALEM, Dec. 27.—(AP)—It is illegal in Oregon to operate dart games with the element of chance predominating, Attorney General Van Winkle held today.

His opinion declared it was obvious "any statute which attempts to authorize them is in violation of the state constitution and void. Whether or not the element of chance predominates in any given game is a question of fact to be determined in each particular case as governed by the principles stated in various legal authorities."

Ben C. Flaxel, district attorney of Cook county, requested the opinion, stating that dart games had been licensed in Marshfield.

URUGUAY SEVERS RELATIONS WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

Action Seen As Part of Precaution in Rumored Armed Rebellion Inspired by Communist Forces

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The Republic of Uruguay today broke relations with Soviet Russia.

The Uruguayan foreign office handed passports to Alexander Minkin, the Russian minister. It also gave passports to the other members of the Russian legation.

The action was regarded as part of strong precautionary measures against rumors of an armed rebellion inspired by communist sources.

Uruguay had been the only South American nation to recognize the government at Moscow. The break was largely a ramification of the communist uprisings in Brazil, Uruguay's neighbor, last month.

Brazil Blames Russians A Brazilian government communication charged that instructions to leaders of the abortive November rebellion were dispatched from Montevideo.

The chief instigator of the uprisings was alleged to be Luis Carlos Prestes, associated with the Third Internationale.

The Brazilian government complained that the Soviet legation itself was implicated in the sending of revolutionary instructions to Brazil.

Its communication followed numerous recent accusations by South American politicians and press that widespread communistic agitation was being directed from Montevideo.

Raid and troop movements accompanied the Uruguayan government's activities in the face of reports of an imminent insurrection within its own borders, but nothing was found immediately to confirm the rumors.

Dangers Tourist Traffic Reliable sources attributed the revolt rumors to an attempt to harm the great tourist traffic which flows at this season from Argentina to Uruguay.

Uruguay has been not only the sole South American nation to have diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia, but also the only one with which the U. S. S. R. has had direct trade relations.

Argentina, under the late professional president Josef Uriburu, expelled the headquarters of the South American division of the Amtorg Trading corporation from Buenos Aires on the grounds that it was involved in extremist agitation.

The trading corporation has maintained its South American center since then in Montevideo.

THREE PAY FINES ON AUTOMOBILE CHARGES

Erwin E. Reese and Thomas Fuson, Jr., were each fined $1 and costs of $4.50 in justice court this morning on their pleas of guilty to charges of driving an automobile without a driver's permit. Fuson told the court that he had been in Alaska until recently and had not yet procured an Oregon permit.

Walter C. Degernes, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, entered a plea of guilty yesterday. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail, and ordered to surrender his driver's permit for one year, today he paid $25 on the fine and agreed to pay the balance at the rate of $20 periodically until the debt is ended. The court suspended the jail sentence pending regular payments on the fine.

STATE FORESTER ASSISTANT QUILTS ACCOUNT HEALTH

SALEM, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Porter King, assistant state forester for the past 13 years, and prior to that time active both in the department and in private forestry work, today tendered his resignation to the state board of forestry because of "advanced age and ill health."

The board, in session with Governor Martin as chairman, accepted the resignation, but did not indicate whether or not the vacancy would be filled at this time.

The board authorized the appointment of a committee, consisting of two board members and two from the federal forestry department, to investigate forest fires for the purpose of outlining policies for prevention of such fires.

The educational program for the new department of forestry extension work, of which former forester L. W. Greenfield is head, was adopted.

The program will include education and publicity in all lines of forestry, nursery stock distribution, reforestation, and legislative activities toward that end.

John W. Ferguson, recently appointed state forester, attended the board meeting for the first time.

OLD DEBTS CANCELLED AS CHRISTMAS GIFT

JAMESBURG, N. J., Dec. 27.—(UP)—Condit M. Davison, general storekeeper, wiped his books clean of $14,500 of debts today, some of which have been in existence since 1883. "Just a Christmas present for some of my former customers," he said. "They can stop avoiding me now."

TRUSTIES COOPED UP AS STRIKE IS LOST

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 27.—(UP)—Nine trustees of the Sandusky honor camp were returned to the state reformatory with revoked paroles because they "went on strike." The strike was called because officials refused to take them through a Christmas night blitzard to see a movie.
