WHITE HOUSE BID ON EVE OF TALK DECLINED BY AL

Mrs. Roosevelt Sends Invitation to Be Guest While in Washington to Make Anti-New Deal Attack — Borah Strength Gains.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The paths of two political associates and friends of other years, President Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith, were farther apart today with the disclosure the former governor will decline an invitation to be a White House guest when he goes to Washington to address the American liberty league dinner Jan. 25.

The invitation was sent by Mrs. Roosevelt more than a week ago. The 1928 democratic presidential candidate has not yet replied, but he said today he would be unable to accept inasmuch as he would be accompanied on the trip to Washington by a large party of friends and would remain with them.

Smith's party will stay at a Pennsylvania avenue hotel two blocks away from the White House and one of the former governor's guests, it was expected, will be John J. Raskob, former chairman of the democratic national committee.

Like Smith, Raskob is a charter member of the league.

In view of Smith's known hostility to the new deal, the invitation occasioned some surprise among associates of the former governor, both in New York and in Washington. They pointed out that the liberty league address without doubt will contain an attack on the administration and said published reports to this effect, some days ago, hardly could have escaped the attention of the White House.

The invitation incident is not without its political implications. The liberty league will find many anti-new deal democrats together at its Washington dinner and they will probably look to the former governor for a keynote of opposition.

In his short career as editor of the new Outlook, Smith was a frequent administration critic.

Storm Signals Up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Storm signals multiply for both major parties as 1935 gives way to cope with differences in their ranks. Whether the impending struggles will threaten the traditional political set-ups presents a potentially-historic question.

Week-end developments illustrated the disordered situation in part. With Alfred E. Smith planning to resume attacks on the new deal at the American liberty league dinner here January 25, the president and Mrs. Roosevelt a week ago invited him to be their guests during his stay in the city.

He said today in New York he would be unable to accept.

Although Smith has refused to sanction attempts to elect delegates pledged to him for the June convention, some moves to that end persist. The speech may indicate the extent to which he is ready to carry his opposition to administration policies.

Borah Frets G. O. P.

Standing to profit from that prospect, the republican leadership was given cause for thought itself today by word that Senator Borah of Idaho will undertake eastern speechmaking in New York January 26.

This arrangement followed closely upon announcement that delegate slates for him would be entered in the Wisconsin and Illinois primaries in the spring. Three different factions already have signified an intention to gain the 90 New York delegates for the Idahoan also, in defiance of the state party organization.

The Smith and Borah speeches may serve to point up the party divisions more along conservative and liberal lines. President Roosevelt will have had his say in the opening message to congress and the 1936-37 budget.

Quarters close to the White House believe that, while no extraordinary new departures are now contemplated by Mr. Roosevelt, neither will there be any turning back on new deal fundamentals.

While Borah is outspoken against the new deal, his immediate objective has more to do with overthrow of the old guard in his own party. In seeking this, it was said on his behalf this week, he will stand on the monetary views which bulk so large in eastern opposition to him.

"I have never advocated anything except expansion of the currency on a sound gold reserve," he was quoted.

30,000 CROWS DIE IN DEATH BLAST

CALDWELL, Idaho, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Thirty thousand crows bit the dust tonight, never to caw again.

At 8 p.m. 425 dynamite bombs were exploded in the bedroom of the bird family's willow home on the shores of Lake Lowell near here.

State game department superintendent and members of the Caldwell and Nampa rod and gun clubs vouch for the number of casualties.

New Nasal Spray Tests Held Cure Infantile Paralysis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Infantile paralysis immunization through use of nasal spray—90 per cent effective in tests on monkeys and inexpensive — has been developed by Drs. Charles Armstrong and W. T. Harrison of the national institute of health.

"A penny would buy enough to treat a thousand people," Dr. Armstrong said. The two scientists have tried it on themselves, but the most conclusive tests thus far have been made on monkeys.

Similar experiments by Rockefeller Institute scientists showed that two out of 20 monkeys exposed to infantile paralysis infection after being subjected to the treatment, caught the disease.

BUSINESS FIGHTS CASH BONUS; ANY NEW N. R. A. BILLS

Firm Notice Served Congress of Opposition to Revival of Blue Eagle—Three Measures Listed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Legislators gathering for the session of congress opening next Friday were notified by an organized business spokesman in emphatic terms today that it would continue to oppose all measures having an NRA flavor.

This word came as a formal statement from the chamber of commerce of the United States. It served notice also that business leaders would fight any cash bonus bill and warned against heavy federal expenditures and any permanent neutrality measure "which might operate to take us toward war rather than away from it."

The chamber hit at three "carry-over" bills introduced after the death of NRA. Listing the Walsh bill, which required that all business enterprises having government contracts abide by specified hours and wages; the O'Mahoney measure providing federal licenses for all interstate industries; and the Black 30-hour week proposal, it added:

"The chamber is opposed to all these proposals as it is to all efforts to reenact mandatory provisions of the defunct NRA.

"It favors trade practice agreements voluntarily entered into and contends that this procedure will permit a program of labor relations fair alike to worker and employer."

After enumerating other bills it will favor and some it will oppose, the chamber said:

"These are prominent among the questions immediately to the fore as congress assembles. Meanwhile the country asks, 'Is the breathing spell over?'"

CHAHAR INVASION LAID TO NIPPON

SHANGHAI, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A Manchukuoan army thrust forward today into Chahar province of northern China, said a Chinese report.

Escorted by Japanese airplanes roaring overhead, the army was reported to be attempting to sever an area as large as the state of Maine from control of the Chinese government.

The invaders were driving a wedge toward the city of Shangtu, on Chahar's western frontier, thus hoping to isolate the northern half of the frontier.

Chinese observers said that this thrust into Chahar was Japanese-inspired in an effort to cut the important trade routes between China and outer Mongolia, which is under soviet protection.

DOLE CUTS BRING PLEA FOR RAISE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(UP)—While 200 angry men and women blocked the street in front of the downtown Biltmore hotel, ten of their representatives were heard by the state relief commission in a protest against dole cuts today.

The throng marched on the hotel as the commission meeting opened. Ten policemen barred the way and County Relief Director Roy Pilling, veteran peacemaker of frequent relief demonstrations, met them at the curbstone.

He agreed to admit ten men, who claimed to be members of a relief recipients' organization representing 25,000 families.

Pat Callahan, their spokesman, demanded a 25 per cent increase in relief budgets, and elimination of recent 5 to 17 per cent cuts in food and clothing allowances.

MOTHER OF INFANT KILLS SELF

James Hayden, 24 (right) told his wife, Alice, to take calmly his announcement that he really loved 18-year-old Josephine Carden (left). Mrs. Hayden did—calmly walking into another room in a Chicago home where she committed suicide beside the crib of their infant. Miss Carden and Hayden are shown as they appeared at the inquest. 5 STATE OFFICES MAY BE MOVED TO PORTLAND SPACE

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Governor Martin revealed today that five more state departments may be moved to Portland because of lack of office space here.

Only about 30 departments are represented at the capitol as the state government has become shifted more and more to Portland. Twenty-two state departments now maintain headquarters or branch offices in the metropolis.

Offices which might be moved are those of the public utilities commission, corporation commissioner, superintendent of banks, national guard, and the new unemployment insurance section of the industrial accident commision.

The state capitol fire forced eight departments to move to downtown business buildings in Salem, Martin said, and no more office space is available in the overcrowded state office structure.

Public Utilities Commissioner Frank C. McColloch said three-fourths of the work of his motor transportation department was in Portland.

The governor said 160 persons would be employed in the new unemployment insurance office after January 1.

FEMALE ATHLETE CHANGED TO MAN

PRAGUE, Czecho Slovakia, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Medical certificates filed with the bureau of vital statistics today revealed that Zdenka Koubkova, famous girl athlete, had her sex changed by an operation just before Christmas and now—medically speaking—is a man, the press reported.

The United Press correspondent located Zdenka, a husky, short-haired, trousered youth of 21, and was offered an exclusive interview for $500. In keeping with the change of sex, Zdenka insisted his name was Zdenken Koubek, the masculine form of the name famed in women's track and field competition.

The day after the operation, Zdenka appeared in men's clothing and in excellent spirits, her lawyer said.

Grim Tragedy

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Ingvald Alstad of Portland said today that by checking dental records here she identified a body found last August on the shore of Lulu island, Alaska, as that of her husband, I. S. Alstad.

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—University of Oregon's basketball team overwhelmed Utah State Agricultural college 50 to 34 tonight after trailing at half time 22 to 20.

The opening period was close, the Utah five more than holding its own. But Sam Balbowitz, sharpshooting Oregon forward, came to life in the second half and sank several one-handed shots from near mid-court to turn the tide in favor of the Oregonians. He scored 14 points for top honors.

Kent Ryan, Utah Aggies forward, played brilliantly and accounted for 13 points but the Webfoot long-range shooting couldn't be halted.

There were few personal fouls.

HIGH WIND WITH RAIN ROARS OVER VALLEY AND CITY

Like southern California, Medford had some "unusual" weather yesterday. There was a dense fog early in the morning to begin with; then followed a clearing, a heavy wind, rain and snow in the foothills around the city.

The most unusual part of the weather was the wind. It reached a maximum velocity of 45 miles an hour in midafternoon, according to the meteorological bureau's instruments, and 50 miles, according to United Air Lines instruments. For a five-minute period it averaged 35 miles an hour.

That was an exceptionally strong blow for the Rogue valley, meteorologists said, the wind reaching such velocity only three or four times a year. The stiff wind continued well into the night, though no damage was reported by either state or city police.

The wind came first from the southeast and then shifted to the south. It was due to the proximity of a low pressure area centered 450 miles off the Pacific coast west of Medford and a high pressure area centered over Idaho. When two pressure areas are so close, government meteorologists explained, the air from the high rushes toward the low, the latter forming a sort of decline. Air, the scientists said, travels downward like water, the steeper the decline the stronger the blow.

From 6 to 8:40 p.m. exactly .29 of an inch of rain was registered. The forecast was for rain today and unsettled conditions tomorrow with occasional precipitation. Normal temperatures were predicted.

The mercury late last night stood at 45 degrees as against 38 at the same hour the previous night. The maximum temperature yesterday was 51, the same as for Friday. The low yesterday was 30 as compared with 36 Friday morning, the difference being due mainly to a dense fog that rolled in yesterday at 4 a.m. and did not clear entirely until 8:30 a.m.

The weather bureau last night received reports of snow falling on the Siskiyou and Sexton summits. Late in the afternoon bureau observers noted snow squalls in the foothills around Medford.

PORTLAND WATER TRADE INCREASES

PORTLAND, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Portland's waterborne trade increased during 1935 despite four paralyzing labor disputes, the merchants exchange announced today.

Estimates showed an approximate gain of 300,000 tons, or eight per cent over 1934 tonnage. Value of the goods will be compiled later.

Gains in domestic business more than offset a 42 per cent decline in foreign export tonnage, which declined 26 per cent in value. Decline of wheat exportations accounted in most of the drop from 472,000 tons in 1934 to 350,000 tons this year.

Held for Murder.

AUBURN, Calif., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Lonnie Jones, 40, mountain handyman, must face trial in the superior court for the murder of L. C. Christensen, Auburn millionaire, Justice of the Peace F. W. Smith ruled today, after a preliminary hearing.

Named Aide de Camp.

SALEM, Dec. 28. — (AP) — First Lieutenant Lynn R. Wallace of Portland today was named aide de camp to Brigadier-General Hiles. Announcement was made at the state military department.

A MYSTERY PLANE WAITS AS LINDY SHIP NEARS PORT

Possibility Seen Family May Fly to Unnamed Point—Due to Land Wednesday

By Stephen Williamson
(Copyright 1935, by the Associated Press)

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A ship bearing the Charles A. Lindberghs away from their native America approached the British isles today and an airplane waited under sealed orders near here.

The possibility arose that Colonel Lindbergh, Mrs. Lindbergh and their son Jon might leave their ship here and complete the journey to England by airplane.

The family are the only passengers aboard the S. S. American Importer, having a rough passage across the North Atlantic. They sailed secretly last Sunday, apparently to escape kidnap threats against three-year-old Jon.

Where the Lindberghs will disembark was uncertain. The Importer usually calls at Belfast only on its west-bound voyage, but it was pointed out that the route may have been changed for the Lindberghs.

Officials at the Aldergrove Royal Air Force airdome admitted a plane is waiting there under sealed orders but said they did not know for what purposes.

Should Colonel Lindbergh wish to stop at Belfast a tender would be necessary to bring him in and it was learned that thus far no tender has been engaged.

The Importer usually stops at Cobh, Ireland, on its eastward voyage but reports from London said it might not do this but proceed directly to some English port, probably Liverpool.

They are expected to land about Wednesday, with the time of their arrival uncertain because of the heavy winter seas.

The Lindberghs spent a lone Christmas at sea. They are expected to take up residence in England—which has never had an attempted kidnaping for ransom.

They will be far from their New Jersey home during the week of Jan. 13 when Bruno Richard Hauptmann is scheduled to die for the murder of the Lindbergha' first born, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

'CANNED BLOOD' IS WEIRD MEDICINE FIND PAST YEAR

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The weirdest discovery of the year—"canned" blood—was listed by professional authority today as medicine's foremost accomplishment of 1935.

A process of taking blood from the bodies of the dead and preserving it to save other lives through transfusions was placed first in a "year-book of fame" compiled for the Associated Press by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Russian doctors and chemists deserved first rank for developing the "canning" method and using it successfully in more than 1000 cases, the editor said.

Far down on the list was the work of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Dr. Alexis Carrell, of the Rockefeller Medical Center, New York, in developing an artificial heart to keep cell groups and organs alive indefinitely.

Although "technically interesting," the artificial heart is of "no immediate practical importance," Dr. Fishbein declared, for "there's a great deal of difference between keeping cells alive indefinitely and keeping a whole body alive for 75 years."

SEEK TODD DIARY FOR DEATH CLUE

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Thelma Todd's diary was sought tonight, as the mystery of the film blond's death threatened to end in the "boneyard" of unsolved cases.

Investigator Tom Cavett was sent on the diary search by Foreman George Rochester of the county grand jury, who said he received a telephone tip that the actress kept one, and that it might contain information throwing some light on her death.

Meantime, investigators sought some shred of new evidence before Monday when the grand jury expects to close its inquiry. The question of when, and how, Miss Todd came to her death by carbon-monoxide gas is still unsettled.

Wreck Victim Dies

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Lloyd Wilson of Milwaukie died here last night from injuries received in an automobile accident here December 24. It was the sixth traffic fatality here this month.

MAUNA LOA LAVA FLOW UNCHECKED BY AERIAL BOMBS

Volcano Erupts Anew, As Hilo Water Source Periled—Expert Undecided, and Opinions Vary.

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Mauna Loa volcano answered an aerial bombing attack today with a terrific blast of fire and a 1½ mile advance of molten lava toward Hilo's water reservoirs.

To the 20 big bombs which army airplanes dropped on its seething slopes yesterday, the volcano responded by flaring up with an overnight display, the most brilliant since the eruption began last November 21.

One great fiery tentacle reached to within three miles of the Hilo reservoirs. Its distance from Hilo was a matter of varying opinion. Some said 24 miles, others 12 miles.

At the present rate of flow, Government Volcanologist Thomas A. Jaggar said, the lava would reach the city of 20,000 population in about five months. Some old timers said it would require months longer.

The extreme irregularity of the terrain between the lava head and the city accounted for the varying opinions as to its distance away.

The new flow cut a wide swath through the timber line, devastating trees and shrubbery as it touched them. The temperature of these fiery rivers is about 2000 degrees fahrenheit. The resulting conflagration lighted the sky for miles.

It consumed telephone lines connecting Hilo with the Puu Oo Ranch about 25 miles up the slope from the city where observers had been watching.

Jaggar, who directed the bombing in an attempt to divert the lava from the direction of Hilo and the reservoirs, said he still was unable to tell whether the explosive attack had any effect.

500 FEWER BEER SPOTS IN STATE

PORTLAND, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Oregon State liquor control commission cracked the whip of sobriety over Oregon's retail beer parlors today by announcing 500 fewer parlors will be licensed in 1936.

The staff of three inspectors will be greatly increased to enable more strict control of licensees, Assistant Administrator Eugene Kelty said.

No license will be granted for at least 90 days at any location where a license has been refused or revoked. This was designed to prevent "dummy" sales.

"The commission is refusing 1936 permits to many applicants whose operations during 1935 were unsatisfactory," it was stated. "Others are quitting the business voluntary."

KLAMATH TO ASK FOR PHONE COIN

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Klamath Falls will bill the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company for a two per cent earnings tax in March even though the company's new franchise was rejected, Mayor Willis Mahoney said today.

Yesterday he vetoed the company's proposed new franchise, and criticized its past rate tactics.

The council will decide Monday night whether to sustain or override Mahoney's veto.

"Honest Borrower" Gives Back Loan With "Bum" Check

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Schoening, a nurse, loaned a patient $2.50 a year ago, and heard no more about it until, brimming with Christmas spirit, the borrower called and gave her a check for $5. Mrs. Schoening refused to accept the check without giving $2.50 change. The check was returned marked "no account."

ETHIOPIA CLAIMS DECISIVE WIN ON NORTHERN FRONT

Dawn to Dusk Battle at Addi Abbi—Italians Retire in Scire Province.

ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 28.—(UP)—A courier from Dejazmatch Hailu Kebede today brought to Addis Ababa a report of a smashing Ethiopian victory in a "dawn to dusk" battle at Addi Abbi, 30 miles west of Makale, on the northern front.

Ethiopians counted 20 Italian officers and 200 soldiers dead on the field of battle.

"All modern means were brought into play," said Kebede's dispatch.

The battle occurred some days ago.

Another message from the north said the Italians were retiring from Scire province, west of the holy city of Aksum, burning everything en route, including churches. Indignant officials planned to "protest in the name of Christianity."

Officials said Ethiopians now surround the Italian's advanced post of Makale on three sides after two weeks of moving up.

Officials here refused to reveal whether they planned to try to cut the remaining road running northward from Makale, completing the investiture at the risk of a long-drawn siege of the town.

An alternative would be to try to force the Italian garrison northward, harassing it en route and forcing it towards Eritrea as far as possible.

The Ethiopians were elated by their apparent success and were determined to push the war with vigor. Officials scoffed at reports of proposed new peace terms.

"The emperor has not made any peace proposals nor formulated any new terms," an official spokesman said.

ROME, Dec. 28.—(UP)—The government tonight had received no report of the loss of Addi Abbi. The press spokesman termed the Ethiopian announcement "customary inaccuracies from Addis Ababa."

GRANGERS URGED TO VOTE 4 NOES

BEND, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Morton Tompkins of McMinnville exhorted Deschutes county Grangers to vote against four measures which appear on the special election ballot January 31.

He urged rejection of the compulsory student fee payment measure, rejection of the sales tax which would enable payment of state and federal old-age pensions, and rejection of the proposed change in the primary election date.

He said he did not approve the present form of the proposal enabling legislators to set their salaries.

FAIR, WITH RAIN, WEEK'S OUTLOOK

Washington and Oregon — Rain west and snow and rain east portion over mountains Sunday; Monday, unsettled occasional rain west portion and snow over mountains; normal temperature; strong southeast becoming west wind off the coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The outlook for far western states for the following week is generally fair weather, except occasional rains in Pacific northwest; temperatures about normal.

Jetty Work Near End.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The task of restoring the south jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river probably will be completed next month, R. E. Hickson, civilian engineer in the United States navy engineer corps here said today.

Quake in India.

CALCUTTA, India, Dec. 28.—(AP)—An earthquake shock of great intensity was recorded at 8:11 a.m. today by the seismographs of the Alipore observatory.

MILNE CONFESSES KIDNAP HOAX TO GAIN PUBLICITY

Charged With Extortion by G-Men—Tale Suspected From Start — Blueblood Reveals Plot.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Caleb Milne, 4th, young Philadelphia aristocrat and textile heir, was charged with attempted extortion today after he confessed his kidnaping was a hoax and he conceived it in the hope of winning stage fame and wealth.

He was held in $7500 bail.

The denouement to the sensational case was brought about by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of federal G-men who drew a graphic confession from the blue-blooded Caleb after a night of questioning. In short, Milne, would-be playwright, embryonic author and thespian, wanted publicity which, on Broadway, is worth fame and dollars.

Milne was charged specifically with sending a $20,000 ransom note to his wealthy, retired grandfather, Caleb Milne, Jr., of Germantown, Pa. This is attempted extortion and a felony under the Lindbergh kidnaping law.

Milne vanished December 14 after carefully laid preparations. He was found the morning of December 19, lying trussed and gagged, in a shallow ditch near Doylestown, Pa. Almost everybody believed his story except department of justice operatives who led to his downfall.

He recounted how he followed the cunning he had given to underworld characters in the stories he tried unsuccessfully to sell, in leaving the kidnaping trail from his one-room flat on New York's east side to the ditch where he was found.

It was young Milne's premier role and he intended to play it well.

Once the G-men had broken his act he told a straightforward story.

The idea, he said, came to him on December 4. He clipped words and letters from newspapers and pasted them into ransom notes, while his younger brother, Frederic, with whom he lived, was at work. A child's printing set augmented the clippings and white cloth gloves prevented fingerprints from being left on the notes.

Dr. Bradford Greene, who attended young Milne, was convinced, too.

The youth, nearly frozen when found by the roadside, told a harrowing tale of having been kept unconscious by narcotics most of four days in the hands of kidnapers.

A casual look at his arm had convinced Dr. Green Milne's story was true, especially as the near-hysterical youth moaned "Don't stick that needle in me any more."

A nurse at the hospital was scornful when advised of Milne's confession.

"He was not kidding anyone but himself," she said. "The nurses were convinced from the first that he had not been kidnaped and besides they didn't like his attitude."

NEW ELDORADO OF METALS AND OIL FOUND IN NORTH

BARROW, Alaska, Dec. 28.—(AP)—G. Stanley Herbert, mining engineer, brought word here today by dog team of his discovery of rich gold and silver deposits, as well as oil, in the Endicott mountains of northern Alaska, country hitherto virtually unvisited by white men.

He spent several months in the area, 100 miles north of the Arctic circle. Ned Arey, a placer miner, who died many years ago, is the only man known to have ever prospected there.

Herbert said that field assays at numerous places over an area 24 miles square showed high grade gold ore throughout. Twelve miles to the east, he found a large galena deposit, containing a rich vein of silver, which he traced for three and a half miles.

The petroleum deposit was 40 miles from the gold lode discovery, he said.

The entire area is rich in minerals, he said, but because of its isolation, remains unexplored.

Much of northern Alaska is already a government naval oil reserve by President Harding's decree. Oil seepage is found over a wide area, in one place forming a small lake south of Barrow which Eskimos visit for fuel.

Insurance Head Passes.

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—William H. Sargeant, 67, president of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, died today.

Political Riot Rages.

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Dec. 28.—(AP)—One person was reported killed and many injured today in political rioting at Sebenico between followers of the Croat leader, Vladko Matchek and Yugoslav nationalists.
