

WINDOW IN BRAIN CONFIRMS THEORY OF BODY CONTROL

Spat Near Top of Head Which Was Formerly Filled by Electric Wires Placed in Gray Matter, Claim

By Howard W. Hildreth
Associated Press Science Editor
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Discovery of a human brain which had been surgically opened, a bit of gray matter that contained only one kind of mental work, was discovered by the American Association for the Advancement of Science here.

This window is a small hole in the top of the head which was made by the removal of the skull. It was found by the removal of the skull. It was found by the removal of the skull. It was found by the removal of the skull.

Dr. Edmund Jacobson, of the physiology department of the University of Chicago, discovered the electric tomograph method of tapping the mental activities directly under this window.

He has something like the famous work of Dr. William Beaumont, U. S. A., who made a window into the stomach of the Indian, Alexis St. Martin in 1822 and gave the world its first accurate knowledge of digestion.

The brain window is in the head of a man, a dairy farmer. The fine wires cause no pain, and in the gray matter not even any feeling. They are placed during experiments which last about two hours, then removed.

The law center which they have disclosed lies on a line drawn from the left temple straight up and about two-thirds of the way from the temple to the top of the head. It lies nearly two inches under the surface of the left half of the brain.

Sends Out Current
From this center when the jaws are at rest, flow a steady, pulsating electrical current, the same brain waves which scientists have previously identified from all parts of the brain with pick-up instruments placed outside the skull.

But when the farmer closes his jaws the current jumps in volume. The law center of brain matter suddenly develops a high electrical potential.

No other movement causes the slightest rise in potential of current, neither bending, moving legs, arms, stretching, hunching shoulders, arching the back, nor anything else that the farmer can do readily while his head is "wired."

No kind of thought, imagination, or memory feat produces a current from this law center.

"Whenever he closed his jaws tightly," Dr. Jacobson reported, "this particular spot in his brain became very active, but only so long as the continued to keep them tightly closed. When he relaxed his jaws this brain spot quieted down in its electrical activity—that is it related also."

Relaxation Cuts Flow
"One thing shown by these studies is that a man presumably can be relaxing any particular muscle effect a relaxation at least in one section of his brain, namely the 'center' for that muscle."

"There has been much evidence leading many physicians and psychologists to accept the view that such centers exist and help explain the control exercised by the human brain, but some persons have challenged the evidence because it was indirect."

"The present studies afford the first direct evidence that such centers exist in the human brain and participate during normal activities."

AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR PLANS MONASTIC LIFE

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.)
VIENNA, Dec. 31.—Members of the Austrian federal diet told the Associated Press last night that Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg contemplates retiring to a monastery.

The chancellor's reason for the step was said to be the tragic death of his wife in an automobile accident five months ago and the nervous shock which he, himself, suffered at the time.

Frau Schuschnigg was killed and the chancellor narrowly escaped death when their automobile struck a tree near Linz.

PLYWOOD FACTORIES INCREASE SALARIES

TACOMA, Dec. 31.—(AP)—A five-cent-an-hour wage "bonus" affecting hundreds of men employed in the plywood factories of the Douglas fir region was announced at various mills today, effective January 1.

Portland Chief

HARRY M. NILES
Harry M. Niles, a comparative youngster, has built up an impressive record of law enforcement methods since he was appointed Portland's chief of police in 1934. His record has attracted police departments from all over the Pacific coast. Niles also has a great record in organizing the Oregon state police when the legislature was created.

ARMY RECRUITER HERE ANNOUNCES VACANCIES IN DESIRABLE PLACES

After a three months period of inactivity, the local army recruiting office in the city hall, announces the launching of a new army recruiting campaign in an effort to fill the many vacancies created in the national defense bill, passed by congress at its last session, increasing the regular army by some 48,250 enlisted men.

According to Sergeant W. M. Klein-schmidt, local army recruiting officer, present available vacancies for enlistment include the 7th infantry and medical department at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, across the Columbia river from Portland, and the 3rd coast artillery, medical department and quartermaster corps at Fort Stevens, Oregon, 13 miles west of Astoria. These two posts are considered the finest in the Pacific northwest. Last, but not least, a few vacancies exist in the famous "Fighting Seventh Infantry," at Chilkoot Barracks, Alaska. This assignment is not normally available.

All young men interested are urged to get in touch with the army recruiting office in the city hall, either by letter or personal call at their earliest convenience. All applications will be acted upon immediately without obligation.

Mission Society Meeting Friday

The Adult Missionary society of the First Christian church will meet Friday, January 3, at 2 o'clock instead of Wednesday.

Mrs. Ford's group will present a program on "The Lay of the Land." Mrs. Bay's group will be in charge of the social hour. "The contest is still on; try and have your group the largest," says the announcement.

Members and friends always welcome.

CROPS OF OREGON BROUGHT MILLION MORE THIS SEASON

Total Value $50,323,000 Compared With $49,269,000 Last Year—Orchard Fruits Show Decline

RECORDED, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The total farm value of principal Oregon crops in 1935 was estimated by the Bureau of Agriculture today at $50,323,000.

This compares with a total value of $49,269,000 in 1934, a 2.2 per cent increase.

The 1935 wheat crop of 15,881,000 bushels returned Oregon farmers $10,738,000, or more than a million dollars above last year's crop which had a farm value of $9,588,000 from a production of 12,944,000 bushels. The estimates of value do not include benefit payments from the wheat re-education program.

The total value of field crops—corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, potatoes and all hay, was reported at $34,879,000, compared with $34,104,000 last year.

Orchard fruits—Apples, peaches, prunes and cherries—were valued at $8,202,000 this year, or about $751,000 less than last year's total.

The slight increase over last year in value of Oregon crops was said to be due to larger production of field crops and minor crops in 1934, and to improved prices for most crops.

PORTLAND, Dec. 31.—(AP)—A 7 percent increase over last year in winter wheat acreage in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana was reported today by C. J. Borum, statistician for the federal department of agriculture.

Ranchers seeded 3,877,000 acres in the four states, compared to 3,634,000 acres planted last fall. The five-year average is 3,723,000 acres.

"This increase over last fall in planting of winter wheat in this area probably will be compensated by a decrease in spring wheat planted next year," Borum said.

Washington, the only department winter wheat state in the United States, was the only one of the four Pacific northwest states to show a decrease in acreage. Planting dropped 153,000 acres to 1,121,000. Montana increased 355,000 acres to 1,104,500; Oregon was up 119,000 acres to 860,000, and Idaho increased 28,000 to 583,000 acres.

Borum said the condition of winter wheat on December 1 was far below average in all four states. Dry soil and freezing weather have retarded growth and some reseeded may be necessary next spring.

The department of agriculture said that for the entire nation the winter wheat acreage is estimated at 47,320,000, 5.7 percent above the 1934 fall sown acreage. Heavily increased seedings were reported in Minnesota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado.

Reese Creek

REESE CREEK, Dec. 31.—(Sp1)—Christmas is over and many bright memories will linger in the homes of our community for many useful as well as interesting affairs were held. One very thoughtful thing occurred a few days before Christmas when all of the bridge crew of the Owen-Oregon company gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim King, and while the men cut their winter wood into stovewood, the good ladies prepared a most bountiful Christmas dinner for all present. Mr. and Mrs. King enjoyed the day immensely and were more than grateful to all those present, who were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grow, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. W. Elfan, and Charles Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Hatfield enjoyed a visit from Mr. Hatfield's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, of Fresno, Calif., over the Christmas holiday. Mr. Wilson is a millwright in the cotton seed mill near Fresno. Other guests for the Christmas dinner were their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clingdale and two children, of Eagle Point.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Rusko had as their Christmas dinner guests, Mrs. C. H. Rusko, Mr. Rusko's mother and Mrs. L. O. Rusko, and her two children, Gladys and Charles.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Will Sheridan, a son, Dec. 24. Mother and child are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bailey, who bought the place owned by the late George Sturgill, just had a new barn built. Jack Grow had the contract. Mr. Bailey's parents of Nebraska have arrived to make their home here in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Jack had a family reunion at their home Christmas and entertained with a fine turkey dinner. Those enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Jack and two young sons, Edwin and Alva, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steel, besides the family at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Gardner and two sons Maynard and LeRoy, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humphrey enjoyed having all their family and several others at their home for Christmas, and entertained with a fine turkey dinner. Those enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bilderbeck, and their three children, Mary, Alice, Ray and Betty, Zoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Humphrey and two children, Ralph and Darlene; also Mr. and Mrs. Earl Herdner of Medford, Mr. Bilderbeck's sister and husband, and Walter Isabelle, and Alex Bitts.

Robert Cowden is taking treatments for quite a bad case of sinus trouble. Rev. E. P. Atchley of Eugene, superintendent of the anti-cigarette league, spoke here at the school house Dec. 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Powell and their friend, W. L. Foster were guests of their friends in Grants Pass, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Golden, for the Christmas day festivities, enjoying a wonderful turkey dinner.

Miss Gladys Rusko was an overnight guest at the W. R. Lamb home Thursday of this week.

Robert Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lamb, came home on a ten-day furlough from where he is stationed at Ft. McDowell, Angel Island, Cal., to spend the Christmas holiday before sailing for the Hawaiian Islands, some time in January. He is in the regular army. He was looking well and certainly enjoyed being home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humphrey entertained the retiring and new board of the Eagle Point Grange 664, Thursday evening at their home. All enjoyed a fine evening, voting Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey both royal entertainers.

Mary Alice Bilderbeck is spending the school vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humphrey.

CHAMBER ATTAINS EMINENT RECORD IN 1935 PROGRAM

Diversified Groups Aided in Fulfillment of Extensive Plans During Year—Work Receives Praise

Today marks the close of one of the most active and successful years in the history of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce.

During the past 12 months the chamber of commerce has quietly launched and carried out numerous plans to benefit the people of the county. Its long list of activities encompasses every group of citizens in the county and every group of citizens from merchants and farmers to consumers. It has assisted also in civic and artistic endeavors and has proceeded always with an eye to the future, it is shown by a review of its year's record.

The chamber has earned an enviable reputation and has been praised by visiting dignitaries as the most alert and constructively helpful organization in the state under the administration of Ben E. Harder as president. Among visitors who voiced their commendation were United States Senators Charles L. McNary and Frederick Steiwer, Congressman J. J. McSwain, Maj. Clare A. Armstrong and Dr. Raymond R. Straub of the Oregon state aeronautics board.

Long Range View
Early in January the chamber of commerce organized the five-year development committee for the purpose of outlining a comprehensive county program of development. Agricultural, mining, industrial, tourist and civic development were included in the work of the committee. The ambitious program was launched during the year, many of its phases have been carried out or are under development and plans have been laid for the completion of the entire plan over the next four years.

Also in January the chamber held a series of conferences with community and county officials to outline a series of WPA projects, most of which were subsequently carried out. In the same month the chamber actively promoted the "Buy Oregon Products Campaign," the Mail Tribune winning the George L. Baker trophy for giving the most constructive newspaper service in the state during the campaign.

Procuring of a large WPA grant to modernize the municipal airport was also supported by the chamber and it has since backed an application for an additional grant of $60,000 to make the airport one of the best in the country.

Helps Housing Act
In February the chamber of commerce got actively behind the federal housing act and canvassed the entire city in an effort to explain provisions of the law to home owners. As a result much modernization of homes and buildings was accomplished, it being estimated that Medford benefited approximately $125,000 under the housing act.

In February the agriculture committee reported that an intensive study had shown that sweet Spanish onions of a high quality could be grown in the Rogue River valley and that as the harvest was made late in the season there would be a good market not only here but in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

All the growers and grocers of the valley were called in for a conference to determine at what price the onions could be grown and sold so that a fair deal would be obtained by the farmers, the merchants and the consumers. With the business thus systematized, the farmers increased their several called during the day Christmas at the Lamb home, including Violet Olson of San Francisco, who is attending college there, and her two brothers, Ernest and Albert Olson, who make their home with Judge Tou Velle at Jacksonville. They are attending the Normal at Ashland. The three young folks have spent the day with their mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lew of near Butte Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Hatfield were dinner guests at the W. R. Lamb home Dec. 27.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the school house Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members and friends are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grow called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim King, leaving a Christmas package. Mrs. King, who had her arm broken a few weeks ago, is getting along as well as can be expected. They called on the Lamb's the same day.

Every one is rejoicing over the splendid rains we are having these winter days. We are thankful we are in dry old Oregon, instead of the earthquake and blizzard portions of the earth.

Happy New Year to all.

Weather
Northern California: Fair tonight and Wednesday with light valley fogs Wednesday morning; cooler tonight with frost; moderate northwest wind off the coast.

Oregon: Fair east and partly cloudy west portion tonight and Wednesday; becoming unsettled northwest portion; valley fogs; slightly colder tonight; moderate west winds off the coast.

NEW YEARS GUIDE TOPIC OF SERMON BY WEATHERFORD

At the Church of the Nazarene Sunday Fred M. Weatherford, speaking on "The New Year's Guide," said in brief:

"You will find my text this morning in the first clause of Eph: 5:16—'Redeeming the time, because the days are evil.' Another year, like the setting of a sun, is fast ebbing into twilight. The record of 1935 is most recorded. What we have written, we have written."

"We face the sunrise of a New Year. God is about to hand us a new clean sheet upon which we may record the record for 1936. It should be better than last year's."

"The text exhorts us to the exercise of wisdom. The inference is for us to recover the waste of time through judicious anticipation. Take heed that you have a strict rule of action and let that rule be the highest measure in the scale of ideals."

"Time is eternity's filling station. Your literary, spiritual and social calendar constitutes the social rule by which your destiny is shaped and your eternity fixed. This leads me to say that the primary focus of time should be first of all, upon a proper concept of the literary, spiritual and social life of man, as endorsed by God. He is the determinant factor for which one of the two eternal alternatives we shall have prepared ourselves."

"Time is one of God's most precious gifts to man. But the test comes in the use he makes of his time, as to the outcome of the man. 'Time is a mint. Make your impression upon it as it passes by. If when you have finished, you have stamped precious metals, the world will pause to invest in your treasure.'"

There were 12 professions of faith during the day.

AUTOISTS FLOCK FOR NEW PLATES

Final rush to procure 1936 auto licenses was underway at the sheriff's office today with a steady stream of applicants all morning. Chief Clerk Howard Gault estimates a thousand applications have been received. The rush is expected to reach its height this afternoon.

In the county clerk's office, the peak of the rush for registration for the special election January 31, came yesterday with the busiest day in months. A large number of voters, including many from rural districts, called today. A majority of the registrants so far have been middle-aged and old folks. The registration books for the special election close today.
