NEW CHRYSLER 8 NOW ON DISPLAY HAS OVER-DRIVE

Sparkling with new beauty inside and out, the new 1936 Chrysler Airflow 8 was placed on display this morning at the Lange Motor Co., local Chrysler and Plymouth dealer. A sweeping new hood and louver design, restyled interiors with new beauty and appointments, new economy and new performance are offered in this model, according to H. F. Lange, Mr. Lange says: "The new Chrysler Airflows are the world's most modern means of travel. They have the spaciousness only Airflow design makes possible, wide doors, divan-like seats, real comfort for six grown people. They offer the floating ride at its finest for Airflow design permits the fullest advantage of new weight distribution. They offer the greatest safety on the road. The passenger rides inside the strong steel girders of the car frame. "It remained for Chrysler to provide the greatest thrill of motoring. The Chrysler reaches a speed between 35 to 45 miles per hour, an unseen hand seems to pick you up and carry you along on wings. The quiet hum of the engine stills to a whisper, and your car flies on as if even greater speeds, as swift and effortless as a sea gull's flight. It's the modern miracle of motoring—Chrysler's automatic silent overdrive. It's entirely automatic, no action of any kind is required. But a saving of about one-third is effected in engine speed, in gas and oil mileage, and in wear and tear."

Gene Autry Coming on Rialto Bill

Gene Autry, popular singing star of the radio whose recordings should number even Bing Crosby's, makes his bow as a western star in the Rialto Theatre's feature picture for tomorrow and Saturday, "Tumbling Tumbleweeds." With an action background to the story of a medicine show traveling in the old West, "Tumbling Tumbleweeds" is something new in the way of this type of picture. Autry's feats of horsemanship and shooting should satisfy any western fan while the voice which has made him a favorite on the ether is heard in several tunes, including "That Silver Haired Daddy," "On Susanna" and the theme number, "Charlie Chan's Secret" starring Warner Oland in one of the best of this series, closes its showing tonight.

Carole Lombard Coming to Craterian

A diverting piece of funny business, crammed with lively action, snappy chatter and laughs galore is the romantic comedy, "Hands Across the Table," which comes to the Craterian Theatre on Sunday, with lovely Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray in the leading roles of this fun fest. A laugh riot from start to finish, the merry proceedings of "Hands Across the Table" centers around the attempts of a poor but ambitious man and a penniless young socialite to live up to an agreement that each shall marry money, with love a negligible factor. Many hilarious complications result as the two set out to keep their bargain, until both fall in love, and of all things, with each other! Ralph Bellamy plays the role of a rich, but invalid through a plane crash, suitor of the blonde maniac, who wants her to marry him and almost succeeds before a hilarious climax to the gay nonsense brings the film to a close. Astrid Allwyn, Ruth Donnelly and Marie Prevost are in featured supporting roles.

Two unidentified bodies were being found in 13 fathoms of covered sea yesterday, after the wreckage of the Imperial Airways fly-water near Alexandria, and raise the ship and recover the bodies. The 13th occupant of the airliner, Pilot Vernon Gorry Wilson, who swam about for five hours after the crash and was rescued by H. M. S. Brilliant, was the only survivor. He was in a critical condition aboard the Brilliant. The City of Khartoum, with its nine passengers and four members of the crew, plunged mysteriously into the sea Tuesday evening, just as it was about to negotiate a landing at Alexandria after a flight from Mirabel, Crete.
