

DR. WOODS ADDED TO HEALTH STAFF; LOAD IS AT PEAK

Dr. Harvey A. Woods, Ashland physician, is now serving as county deputy health officer with a nominal salary, and Dr. Harold B. Gillis is continuing under temporary appointment as assistant to Dr. A. N. Johnson, county health officer.

Dr. Gillis is assisting in the medical and surgical treatment of the county's indigent residents during the period when the health department is most severely taxed. Dr. Johnson explained. The maximum number of cases is invariably recorded during December, January and February, he stated.

Dr. Woods, on the other hand, is devoting his time solely to public health work which, Dr. Johnson pointed out, is concerned only with preventive medicine. He is serving Ashland and the immediate vicinity, leaving Dr. Johnson free to take care of the rest of the county, it having been found practically impossible for one health officer to meet the requirements of the entire county, it was explained.

When the national social security legislation becomes effective and funds are made available, it is planned in order to bring the health department staff up to the minimum standard recommended by public health authorities, Dr. Johnson said, adding that a sanitary inspector is greatly needed here.

When compared with other departments, the county health department is operating on an exceedingly small budget, Dr. Johnson emphasized, pointing out that the allotment for public health work amounts roughly to only 24 cents per capita.

Modern scientific work has placed in our hands the tools for the control of communicable diseases and has blazed the trails that will lead to the discovery of the causes and ways and means to control the remaining ones," Dr. Johnson said.

"We do not lack the knowledge of ways to reduce the infant and maternal mortality. Even heart disease, cancer and nephritis are yielding some of their secrets.

"But in spite of the progress that has been made, a large percentage of our people remain without the essential public health services. Undoubtedly inadequate appropriations and the lack of public health education are the primary causes for this sad commentary on our social judgment.

"Public health has become a specialized field and requires a high degree of technical knowledge and skill. But due to the lack of proper appropriations many men with excellent qualifications go into other fields that yield compensation in proportion to their skill.

"In Jackson county, as elsewhere, the public health expenditures are ridiculously low as compared with the other public services.

"Public health is concerned primarily with prevention and only incidentally with diagnosis and treatment. There has been a trend, however, to include medical relief as a responsibility of the health department. While close cooperation between health activities and charity is essential, nevertheless the two functions are separate and distinct and it behooves the health department to preserve this free from public confusion."

MERGED DISTRICTS VOTE SATURDAY ON NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

later, and equipment for the school building, which do not come under a PWA loan, $2000 additional will be furnished by the district.

Several sites are reported offered for the new structure. It will probably be in the general vicinity of the mouth of Elk Creek, in order to have a central location, and serve as many patrons as conveniently possible.

The schoolhouse will be a modern structure throughout, with inside toilets, and latest equipment. It will consist of four rooms, and will serve 75 children.

Letting of the contract for the building, and selection of the site will be made in a short time though actual construction will not start until the frost is out of the ground, so as not to impair concrete work.

The building is planned to be completed in time for the opening of the fall term of school.

Church Attitude On Begging Cited

Since the storms have made traveling difficult, a number of transient families have been given food and clothing and financial aid by the local Full Gospel church, where Rev. Leonard Weston is pastor.

"Some of these families have remained in Medford, and are begging from house to house frequently using the name of the church," reports Rev. Weston, adding: "Although we are glad to help needy cases we do not, as a movement, nor as a local church, advocate or tolerate begging. All of our needy families are being cared for adequately and through proper channels, and this is true for all our churches in every city."

Bourbon and Rye Prices Will Drop

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The price on several varieties of American Bourbon and rye whiskey will be reduced as a result of the recently enacted Canadian trade treaty, the Oregon state liquor control commission said.

Price reductions for Canadian brands have been announced. Several items previously ordered stricken from stock were retained when the commission reconsidered.

REVISED POLICY ON ALIEN QUOTA ENGAGES CANADA

OTTAWA (UP)—A new policy toward immigration may be developed by the Canadian government.

Immigration has declined to one of the lowest levels in history, and agitation is arising in favor of reopening Canada's doors to British and other immigrants.

In the six months of the past fiscal year, only 6,579 immigrants entered the country. This was 12 percent less than in the corresponding period last year. Of the total, 1,378 were British; 3,049 came from the United States; 342 from northern Europe and 1,810 from other countries.

In recent years, largely because of unemployment, immigration from all parts of the world has been discouraged by the government.

Even immigration which was designed for the agricultural areas was not promoted because of representations that the farm problem in many parts of the country was serious and that it would be aggravated by any influx of immigrants. Associations which were formed to stimulate British migration, while not impeded, got little assistance. Organized labor inclined upon the ban being strictly applied.

Many influential interests argue that the problems of Canada, especially those of taxation, are too heavy to be borne by 10,000,000 people and that the only way to lighten the burden is to open the doors to more producers and consumers. The representations went unheeded while the conservative government of R. B. Bennett was in office.

It is understood that the new liberal government under Prime Minister Mackenzie King may adopt a different view. The question is likely to be introduced at the forthcoming inter-provincial conference since the cooperation of the various provinces would be necessary in the event of any large movement of immigrants into Canada.

BONUS WILL PASS DESPITE VETO IS HARRISON'S CLAIM

President Roosevelt passed questions on his bonus views.

Harrison said he did not know whether the bill for the full 1945 value of the bonus certificates in blocks of $50 bonds cashably payable June or to be held as investments for nine years, would be signed by the president.

"The president has made no statement to anyone on it," he added.

The Mississippiian told Senator Hastings (R. Del.) there was a "great difference between the pending bill and the Patman inflation measure vetoed by the president last session."

He told how he and Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, and others had "tramped to the White House and senators' offices" in an effort to reach a final agreement to dispose of the bonus matter for good.

Means Million More
Senator Couzens (R. Mich.), who voted against the bill in committee, contending that "additional gratuity" would be given the veterans by paying them full 1945 value now. Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, had agreed with Couzens in committee that the bill would pay the veterans $1,000,000,000 more than under existing law.

Harrison did not reply, but several senators tried to answer for him, without replying directly.

"If we entered into contract with the veterans which they agreed upon themselves, then I see no reason for changing that contract," Couzens said, referring to the law passed in 1924 giving the veterans 2-year certificates.

Administration leaders in the chamber were pressing for passage before the week-end adjournment, contending that the giant issue—agitated for 16 years—should be disposed of quickly.

TABLE ROCK AREA ENJOYS GOOD YEAR

TABLE ROCK, Jan. 17.—A brief summary of conditions and happenings of the community during the past year shows improvements made to be far in excess of the year before. These consisted mostly in road improvements made by the county, new fences, barns, sheds and repairs to buildings by land owners.

Farm and orchard receipts showed gains owing to better prices, and pay rolls were maintained more steadily. New cars, trucks, tractors and farm machinery bought by residents of the district probably exceeded any like period since the prosperous days of '29.

The usual heavy crop of alfalfa showed a decline, while fruit and corn yields increased, and small grains in some instances produced yields in excess of any ever recorded in the district.

NEEDS OF WRITER LISTED BY BENET; CAREER DIFFICULT

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(UP)—Prospective authors should not underestimate the difficulty of a writing career, cautions Stephen St. Vincent Benet, outstanding American poet and author of "John Brown's Body."

"Although writing is really a difficult process, most people think they are potential novelists," the author said.

"There are many who believe in the inspirational or untaught songbird theory about authors. According to this, an author is a kind of wire; and if you run enough elec-

McMunn Funeral Salem Saturday

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Funeral services for Ella McMunn, 60, well-known writer of newspaper and other articles who died here Thursday, will be held in Salem Saturday afternoon.

Miss McMunn, a resident of the Quinby district for many years, wrote for newspapers in Portland and Salem. She retired to her farm home several years ago.

tricity into him he'll turn on a light. The reaction of an author to a situation is like that of a slot machine. Actually, inspiration is the molten metal of literature, but unless there is a mold for the metal in the writer's mind, it is splashed about and wasted.

Benet, who was chairman of the Yale Literary magazine when a Yale undergraduate, said the greatest necessity for a writer is constant curiosity concerning the personality of everyone with whom he comes in contact. But he also must have time to find out in what fields he can write to best effect. He recalled that when Sinclair Lewis was at Yale, he was writing about knights and troubadours.

"An author is fortunate to realize $700 a year from his writings," Benet asserted. "On the other hand, one successful book might make as much as $70,000."

IRON WORKS GETS $1800 CONTRACT

The Medford Iron and Steel Works yesterday awarded the contract to furnish the steel and cast iron for the pipe-fittings, manholes, manhole covers and steps on the Ashland sewer project. The Medford firm's bid was low in a field of four contractors.

Joseph F. Glath, who purchased the plant from Edwin O. Trowbridge last September said yesterday that he would start casting immediately on the assignment, the total of which is about $1800. Work is expected to continue for at least six weeks and possibly two months.

The Medford Iron and Steel Works was also awarded the contract for the steel and cast iron on the Medford disposal plant, now under process of construction. The foundry is located on North Central street, and is equipped to do almost any kind of iron and steel work. Casting is done twice a week, with a good sewer mining machinery being turned out.
