Local Young Couple United at St. Mark's In Thursday Wedding

In the light of softly glowing white tapers, tall white lilies and shrubs accenting the bridal noce, Miss Betty Bardwell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bardwell, became the bride of Eric Westergren, son of Mrs. Frank Borland in a beautiful ceremony at St. Mark's Episcopal church Thursday afternoon. Rev. E. B. Bartlam presided.

Proceeding the bridal procession, Carlton James played 1 to "O'Id Solos and William Vawter sang "O'Id Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," both being accompanied by Miss Genevieve Brown at the organ.

The bride entered on her father's arm to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding music. She wore her mother's wedding gown of magnolia satin and old rose-point lace, whose train and long, full veil presented a traditional bridal picture. A circle of orange blossoms held the fragile veil in place, the white carried out in the nosegay corsage of camellias and bouvardia.

Attending the bride was Miss Dorothy Roberts, gowned in pale blue moire, wearing a princess cap of matching lams and carrying a muff corsage of yellow pansies. Best man was Jack Bierma, with Paul Luy, Charles Reum, James Henry and Jack Murray acting as ushers.

Mother of the bride wore a fitted gown of deep blue with gardenias as a corsage.

Mendelssohn's wedding march provided the background for the procession of the bridal party after the ceremony to the church entrance, where they received the congratulations of their many friends present as guests.

Bride and groom boarded the evening train for San Francisco, where they will honeymoon for several days. Mrs. Westergren wore brown as her going-away costume.

The newlyweds will make their home here.
