Lyle Peterson, 14, of Phoenix, is still in a critical condition in the Community hospital after having been struck by a truck driving by Amos Casheer of Ashland Saturday night just north of the Jackson county fairgrounds.

The boy was on his way to his home near Phoenix on his bicycle and had stopped to talk to a friend at the service station at the corner of the Pacific highway and Stewart avenue. It was just after having pulled out onto the highway that the big van truck, southbound, struck him. He was knocked from his wheel but the truck did not run over his body.

His condition is considered so serious that the attending physician has not yet been able to move the boy to determine, by X-ray, the extent of any possible internal injuries.

His mother, a widow, has been in the bed for over a year with neuritis, and has been unable to be with the lad.

Marx Brothers In Craterian Comedy Delight Audience

Those Merry Madcaps, the Marx Brothers—Groucho, Chico and Harpo—spent two years in preparation for the filming of their latest comedy, "A Night at the Opera," which opened yesterday at the Craterian theater.

Here is a picture that is not only tops for the screamingly funny comedy you would expect from the Marx Brothers, but one that is built around an intriguing plot, an interesting story and some truly brilliant singing by two Broadway stage favorites, Kitty Carlisle and Allan Jones.

The action romps along at a lightning pace as Groucho, Chico and Harpo go into the grand opera business in Italy, dash across the Atlantic and stage an opera in New York that has the city on its ear.

It is an opera such as has never been before, as the Marxes become matchmakers to further the romance of two unknown opera singers.

Original comedy, sparkling dialogue, delightful opera and, of course, the Marx Brothers, vie in the funniest, most delightful funniest that has come to the screen for some time.

Supporting the Marxes, in addition to Jones and Miss Carlisle, who are perfectly cast as the young lovers, are Walter King, Siegfried Rumann, Margaret Dumont, Edward Keane and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

Sam Wood, who has directed more than forty feature films, must be credited with a job well done.

Barbara Stanwyck In Rialto Picture

If you are looking for a crisp, sparkling place of entertainment, see "Red Salute" with Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Young, which opened yesterday at the Rialto theater.

It tells a dashing, fresh story of a pretty, headstrong young co-ed, played by Miss Stanwyck, whose socially prominent family is embarrassed by the publicity attendant on her madcap escapades. When she is expelled from college, suspected of radical leanings, acquired from association with one Arner, played by Hardie Albright, with whom she fancies herself in love, her family persuades her to leave the country. She settles in a Mexican town just across the border. When Arner sends for her she inveigles Jeff, a rough and ready young buck private on leave, played by Robert Young, into driving her across the border. The hilarious adventures and difficulties they encounter in the course of their wild ride keeps the story spinning along at a brisk pace, and by the time Miss Stanwyck gets home she learns her lesson, and at the same time realizes her devotion to Uncle Sam and her love for Buck Private Jeff.

Others in the comedy cast are Ruth Donnelly, Cliff Edwards and Burnell Pratt.

Water Becomes Barter Medium in Gold Fields

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—(UP)—One freakish result of the excessive drought in central Australia is that water is being used as a form of currency in the gold fields.

For example, for a carpentering job at Tennant's Creek, 80 gallons of water was the "sum" given in payment.

The spectacle of townpeople arriving from Tennant's Creek at dusk at the well seven miles out, with water vessels, blankets and rugs so that they may be among the first to draw on the overnight sojourn, has become a daily phase of gold fields life.

Each day with the drawing of several thousand gallons, the well runs dry, but replenishes at night sufficiently to supply the early arrivals with their requirements.

The well is the only source of good drinking water within a radius of 50 miles, all the waterholes having dried up months ago.

In six months, Tennant's Creek had had only one fall of rain. Frequent attempts by the department to find water by boring have produced an abundant supply of brackish water so heavily charged with salts that it is not even suitable for washing purposes.

Four boring plants are operating at Tennant's Creek, one being privately owned and the other government owned. One of the government plants is equipped to sink to a depth of 2,000 feet and is carrying on the quest for water right in the town.
