Speaking of ODD JOBS-

Old Clothes Maker

Fred Waring's task in the Hollywood movie studios is to make new clothes old, and old clothes older. To give the movie clothes their threadbare appearance he dumps the garments into washing machines and washes them for days at a time. He roughens shoes with files and sandpaper. Hats are held against a buffer to create worn spots. When wrinkles are ordered, the clothes are rolled into bundles and put into a press overnight. Dirty clothes—such as pirates and miners wear—are in reality clean clothes spotted with paint, sprinkled with fuller's earth and rubbed with lamp black.

REFERENCE BOOK ON PEARS READY, IS BUREAU'S WORD

Copies of the new reference book on Oregon-Washington pears, the "Pear Export Manual," are now in the hands of local members of the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau, who are exhibiting them with considerable pride.

"This booklet is one of the most outstanding publications of its kind, and is one of the most outstanding accomplishments of the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau," says Raymond Reiter.

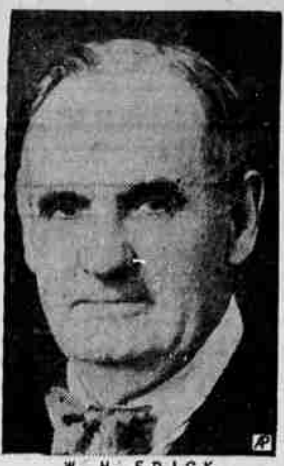

The manual contains miniature reproductions of members' labels, and urges foreign buyers to patronize these firms whose membership in the bureau is based upon their quality pack and adequate equipment for handling.

"Likewise the manual contains colored illustration of the leading varieties of pears, descriptions, and essential information about them."

"Trading terms, information about shipping, and almost every question a foreign buyer would ask, have been anticipated in this booklet. An article by Prof. Henry Hartman, horticulturist for the bureau and for Oregon State college, gives very valuable information about the handling of pears, ripening, and other phases, based upon his several years of research work along this line."

These manuals are going to a list of several hundred names of foreign buyers, the list having been compiled from shippers' recommendations. Likewise the manual is available free to all legitimate receivers, such as transportation companies and the export departments of financial institutions.

KIPLING WILL REST IN ABBEY POET'S CORNER

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Rudyard Kipling is going to rest in the poet's corner at Westminster Abbey.

The noted author, who died Saturday morning, five days after he underwent an emergency operation for a perforated stomach ulcer, will be buried Thursday in that last resting place of Britain's famous sons.

The Very Rev. William Foxley Norris, dean of Westminster, announced the funeral would be held at noon.

RECIPES OFFERED FROM FAR PLACES FOR PEAR BOOKLET

Recipes from all over the world, with Oregon-Washington pears as the basis, are beginning to come into the office of the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau. This has come about through the use of an insert in the bureau's pear recipe book inviting recipients of the booklet to send in their favorite recipes to the bureau to aid in compilation of a new world-wide recipe booklet on pears.

When the Oregon-Washington Pear Bureau made a survey three years ago to determine extent to which pears were used in recipes, it was found that very few recipes involved their use. A booklet was then compiled, entitled "Spicing Up the Menu With Late Pears," which contained as many recipes as could be found using pears as a basis. Many thousands of these booklets have been distributed all over the world, since shippers advertised the availability of this recipe booklet on their pear wraps.

Some housewives, on receipt of the booklet, voluntarily sent in their own recipes as a matter of interest to the bureau. Food editors, in newspapers where pears were being advertised, evolved recipes and used them in their food columns in addition to the recipes which the bureau furnished. Hence the bureau is building up a very huge stock of recipes, and it is planned to get out a more complete recipe book than the present one.

Many foreign countries use pears and apples as a dessert, eating them fresh, "out-of-hand," and the insert in the recipe booklet asks not only for recipes, but how pears are served, so that pear growers will get a picture of how their pears are used all over the world.

VALLEY SCHOOL WILL OPEN NEW SEMESTER MONDAY, JANUARY 27

January 27 will open a new semester at the Valley school, kindergarten and nursery pupils, as well as grade pupils being enrolled. The school has a most efficient and modern teaching staff and exceptional equipment for use of the pupils. Unusual and progressive creative work is being done by the pupils, particularly in art, music and dramatics.

At a recent assembly of the school an example of the imaginative and creative work being done was shown in the box puppet stage representing "An Indian Scene," made almost entirely alone by Billy Paton, one of the young pupils of the school. Mrs. A. S. V. Carpenter entertained the mothers and teachers of the school Saturday afternoon, the first of a group of such meetings planned so that studies may be made of modern education and its interpretation in the Valley school.

Anyone interested may phone or visit Miss Mary Foster, head of the school, at the school building.

Forbearance Is Topic Of Dawes Sunday Sermon

The topic of Rev. W. A. Dawes, pastor of the First Baptist church Sunday morning was "Christian Forbearance." He read the 14th chapter of Romans.

"All peoples," said the pastor, "do not have the same degree of strength. The strong must not be little the weak. The same is true in regard to intelligence. The same is true of the spiritual."

"Strong Christians realize that it is not what we eat or do. All things are holy unto the Lord. Receive the weak with open arms and open heart. As he fellowships with you he will gradually understand and grow. Do not argue on any of these points. Meet on the common ground of faith in Jesus Christ. Every day belongs to God, even as we belong to the Lord."

The Rogue River Winter association will meet with the Medford Baptist church Tuesday, January 28.

Evangelist Opens 2-Week Campaign At Free Methodist

The engineer-evangelist, Rev. M. E. Lewis, "pulled the throats on his gospel train" yesterday morning at the Free Methodist church, that carried his hearers over the first stretch of his two weeks' run.

His subject was "Winsome and Winning" or "humanism in soul winning." He stated that the four essentials in soul winning are cordiality, definiteness, tactfulness and courage. In the evening he held his hearers' attention as he discussed "Truth."

The speaker said "a man may tell the truth and yet not be truthful, but a man can not be truthful and yet not tell the truth." Truth, he said, may be the best policy, but he who adopts truth as a policy is not truthful.

Mr. Lewis announces as his subject tonight, "The new deal of religion, or a religious new deal." The public is cordially invited.

POWELL'S LIBERATION ON REDUCED BONDS PROMISED DURING DAY

Kenneth Dewitt Powell, of Central Point, held in the county jail on a serious statutory charge, upon the complaint of Mrs. Mildred Uideena Sargent, was scheduled to be released from the county jail today on $1000 bonds, with his father, and J. R. Lees of Central Point as sureties. Upon motion of the district attorney the bond was reduced from $2800.

It is understood that the complaining witness has departed for Seattle to join her husband.

Powell, according to the allegations of the complaint, "picked up" the woman as she was hitch-hiking north on the Pacific highway, at 2 o'clock in the morning. The defendant then allegedly drove the hitch-hiker to a lonely side road and attacked her. She was hitch-hiking according to her story from San Diego, Calif., to Bremerton, Wash., to meet her husband, who she said is a navy sailor.

Powell waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury last week.
