Almost six hundred Elks and their families were guests of the club at the annual covered dish dinner and open house held last evening at the temple. In what was pronounced as one of the most successful evenings ever arranged at the local lodge.

An outstanding feature of the evening was the "Gay Nineties" orchestra from Klamath Falls, whose music made a great appeal to the guests, comments on all sides indicating a deal of enjoyment from the musical entertainment. Preceding the dancing, members gathered in the basement dining room for dinner, with E. C. ("Jerry") Jerome presiding as toastmaster. Dancing, cards, bowling and similar diversions took up the remainder of the evening, the entire temple being thrown open to guests.

Extensive table decorations were arranged by the Medford Floral shop, and an efficient and active committee attended to the smooth working of other details. According to Ernest Scott, secretary, the women's committee deserves special credit for the well-planned evening.

Responsible for arrangements were: Lewis Ulrich, general chairman; Mrs. Everett Carlin, ladies' chairman; and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Drager, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Daily, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Marshall, George Howard, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Dippel, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Fredericks, E. H. Slight, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Milestone, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Watson, Mr. and Mrs. George Gates, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Merrick, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Sherwood and Everett Carlin.

UTILITY CONTROL TO BE DISCUSSED AT WORLD PARLEY

WASHINGTON (UP)—Regulation of electric and gas companies is a problem affecting the monthly bills of every utility consumer, will be discussed in five languages here next Sept. 7-12 at the 1936 session of the world power conference.

Four thousand delegates, 3,000 of them representing 47 other countries, will meet under the call of President Roosevelt, honorary chairman. Meetings will be translated into English, French, German and Spanish.

The conference first was organized in 1924 with a meeting in London. Six years later, the session was at Berlin. The government is paying the expenses of the next convocation with a congressional appropriation of $75,000.

Federal power officials, including Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, and Frank R. McNinch, chairman of the power commission, worked out the following seven-point program:

1. International survey of power resources and potential development.
2. Organization of fuel industries.
3. National power planning, stressing oil, coal and natural gas.
4. Regional planning, the utilization of water resources for small plants, integration of gas and electric utility facilities.
5. Rationalization of distribution; methods by which maximum use of electric energy and gas may be made available to consumers at minimum cost.
6. National power and resources policies, summarizing probable future trends.
7. The "regulation" discussion will embrace public ownership of power plants and the position municipal operation occupies in the utility service field. A survey also will be presented of American and foreign utility legislation.

D. A. R. Notes

Oregon Daughters of the American Revolution prepared 28 Christmas boxes containing useful and practical gifts as their annual contribution to the detained immigrants and aliens at Angel Island, according to Mrs. Warren Hunt, of Klamath Falls, state chairman of Angel Island committee. The boxes

Modern Children's Room

Every consideration has been given to the children who will occupy this room by those who planned the juvenile apartment. Linoleum floor covering is easily cleaned, and the children's fun is not hampered by fear of spilling anything on the floor. With such an attractive nursery, brother and sister will be content to play at home, and far away street corners with their traffic dangers will not beckon. A room of this type may easily be created from waste attic space or other rooms under the Modernization Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

contained, among other things, wool, cotton, yarn for knitting sweaters, etc., shirting, denim and khaki for trousers and jackets, needles, thread, scissors, embroideries, etc., for occupational work. Thirty dollars a month is sent to Angel Island by the national society to buy supplies not found in the boxes. Children of the American Revolution societies send annual boxes of toys to the detained children.

These people detained would be idle from morning to night if it were not for the D. A. R. No other organization gives them occupational work. "Our government feels the necessity for this service," advises the state regent, Mrs. Mark V. Weatherford of Albany, "and believes that it is the most important work of the islands. It is service to humanity."

After the immigrants have adjusted themselves they are asked if they would like to sew or knit. Some say "yes" at once while others hesitate, fearing they cannot afford it. Then it is explained to them how and why the D. A. R. provides the materials to keep them busy, and their thankful expressions are most gratifying. On the first piece of material given to a newcomer is pinned a slip of paper saying: "This material is given with no expense to you by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution to help pass the time pleasantly while you are detained on the island. The finished product is yours to do with as you wish." Attendants teach these people how to make sweaters, mats, and clothing.

Angel Island, lying in the bay of San Francisco, is one of the two detention stations in the United States; the other is Ellis Island in New York harbor. The immigrants coming to Angel Island are those detailed by the boarding officer who has found something amiss—cases of illness which causes the whole family to be detained until the sick one is discharged from the hospital, relatives failing to meet them at the dock; flaws in their passports; and many other technicalities. The immigration service is diligent in rounding up aliens who have entered our country illegally, those who have overstayed their allotted time, those on false passports, stowaways, deserters from ship crews, those coming to complete their education and going to work instead. There are also the Communists and those who have served prison terms, these people of the criminal class are kept by themselves in the detention station. All these conditions existing, it is often months before their cases are cleared and they are allowed to enter this country or their passage assured home.

One man wore the wheel and distaff (D. A. R. insignia) with the letters D. A. R. on the front of his sweater. When asked where he obtained the design he pointed to the D. A. R. manual. This manual gives much valuable knowledge and is received with pleasure by those coming in but with regrets by those going out that it had not reached them when they first came to our country.

This citizenship manual is printed in 18 foreign languages as well as in English which gives it a unique value, and a manual is given to each person after its value has been explained. Of those given out at the two stations last year, the English predominated.

SPokane, Wash., Jan. 22.—(UP)—George Agoff, 30, highway laborer, today tried to throw his pickaxe over a fence. He caught the point in his own ear, tearing it almost completely off.

Plahuy, north central state of Brazil, finished 1935 with a cotton crop of 40,400 bales, slightly better than 1934 and 300 per cent better than 1933.

Smooth, evenly fleshed hogs will produce a finer quality of meat and will cut up with less waste than rough, coarse, wrinkled and flabby animals, farm specialists say.

One of the most popular ways of propagating deciduous shrubs is setting out cuttings of stems six to eight inches long.

Forty-nine persons died in 1935 in Miami, Fla., from injuries suffered in traffic accidents.

Here's one cigarette that writes its own advertising..

It's like this—

You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen—Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it?

Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?

Wait a minute—

It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.
