

BEAVERS' RALLY NOT SUFFICIENT TO STOP COUGARS

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A brilliant second half rally was not quite enough to save the Oregon State Beavers, 1935 basketball champions of the northern division Pacific coast conference, from a 22 to 21 defeat at the hands of Washington State college last night.

The Beavers trailed 23 to 10 at half time but came back to take the lead 26 to 25 by virtue of an avalanche of baskets by Hub Tuttle et al and a free-throw by Captain Bob Bergstrom. It was the Beavers' only lead of the game.

Holstine's field goal put the Cougars in front 27 to 26.

Cliff Polen's basket a few minutes later brought the Oregon team to a 29 to 29 tie and the 4,200 fans went into a fury of excitement. They well remembered the previous night's breath-taking game won by the Beavers 27 to 26.

Ivar Nelson put the Cougars into a 30 to 29 lead with a free throw and Carlson's long one gave the Washington State five a lead which even Tuttle's field goal could not cut down. Holstine, Cougar forward, was high scorer with 11 points.

Lineups:
Oregon State (31) Wash State

OREGON CAGEMEN OFF TO SEATTLE

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 23.—(AP)—University of Oregon's speedy straphere strategists rolled toward Seattle today for their significant game tomorrow night with the University of Washington basketball team.

Both teams are undefeated in the northern division coast conference race and the winner will top the loop, at least for a while.

Coach Howard Hobson's Oregon giants will depend on their size and speed to meet Washington's hard-driving attack.

Ward "Boomer" Howell, six-foot-six forward who leads the league in scoring average, and Sly Sam Liebowitz will start at forward positions. Chuck Patterson, Oregon's brown bomber, will get the call at center, while tall Willis Jones and midget Bill Courtney will hold the guard berths.

HALF CENT CUT IN CUBE BUTTER

PORTLAND, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cuts of 1/2 lb. each in the two lower scores on cube butter during the late season gains from an exchange indicated that the recent showing of strength there was somewhat out of line with supply and demand. Both primefirst and first grades were down for the season. This did not affect either the print or the butterfat buying price here.

Cost markets continue among the highest in the world.

On the egg exchange continued weakness was reflected with a loss of 1c for large specials, extra large and medium specials.

Another cut was made in the cheese price on the exchange, loaf being shaded 1/2 lb. which puts it but 1/2c above that of triplet. The usual differential is 1c lb.

First hothouse cucumbers of the season came from an Oregon City grower and were priced around $2 for extra fancy to retailers.

CANZONERI STOPS MEXICAN IN 9TH

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, the gentleman fighter from Marlboro, N. Y., still stands out as the undisputed ruler of the lightweights but the menace of the light threat to his position seems to be increasing.

Breco Garcia, a courageous Mexican lad from San Antonio, Tex., earned respect as another "comer" from sunny southern climes last night before he finally succumbed to Tony's punches.

Canzoneri, tuning up for a title defense in the spring, took on Garcia in a ten-round non-title bout at the Star Casino. He won by a technical knockout in the ninth but only after a stiff battle.

Signs should be draped around the basketball casinos of the northwest conference loop declaring, "Abandon nerves, all ye who enter here." Anytime living through some of the hair-raising games they've been playing up there this year. First of the thrillers was that two-point win by Oregon over Oregon State, 29-27. One man died in the excitement. Then Tuesday night Oregon State edged out Washington State, 27-26, and Washington State turned the tables last night by the same margin, 22-21.

What's more, the important Oregon-Washington game Friday night gives promise of being another of the same flavor, with the lead in the northwestern conference at stake. Coach Howard Hobson's giants now through their schedule last year, are favoring Oregon for a win. Most of the sports scribes along the coast concur. There's this much—the race for the title is going to be close and bitter, with every team in the loop with the exception of Ashland, having an almost even chance at the title.

Such close, exciting games are already beginning to do for basketball in this district what the same kind of ball has done in the middle west and east—jerk the game out of the doldrums financially, so that it not only becomes self supporting, but actually contributes money to the athletic fund strong box. How much longer can basketball, under those conditions, escape the halcyon that accompanies college football now? Not long, you will probably agree.

With the Medford Tigers on top so far in every game they've played except the one against the Normal freshmen, their series with Ashland this week is expected to draw a record turnout. When those games are close they furnish thrills that would be hard to beat in any college conference. Ashland still has the edge in the betting, but the Medford prospects are getting stronger. Coach Bowerman's warning to his squad, "As soon as we quit fighting and start to get fancy, we're licked," has apparently taken effect on his men. They go through their practices with the venom of a bunch of Gaelic football players from rival counties.

Most of them, and they'll be the first to admit this, are not basketball players who threaten to disrupt college circles next year. They're high school players, and there's not a star among them. Realizing that they can't win by laying back and faking their opponents to death with clever weaving and tricky ball handling, they drive as hard and as fast as they can—through the whole game, shooting often, and then finishing the game in a man-killing drive down the home stretch. Therein lies their danger, and Ashland, realizing it, has been working hard to maintain that drive through a whole game. Fire with fire. The games should be nerve racking.

Airplanes may not be able to get off Crater Lake because of the altitude, but Dude Chick's airplane spin seems to work regardless of the feet above sea level. At Klamath Falls Tuesday night Chick took a one-fall-in-a-ten from Frank Taylor; the tall, dark collegiate, in 31 minutes. According to word from Klamath, the two battled on even terms until that last, whirling hold.

Frankie Peck did it again against Shimizu Shikuma, black belt champion, at Klamath. After Peck had defeated Shikuma here the first time any white man had done so in a mixed match, Shikuma asked for a re-match under the impression the win was a fluke. Frankie, who has wrestled at least as much jiu jitsu as the Japanese champ has catch-as-catch-can, obliged, and took the second and third falls, losing the first on a Japanese choke, with jockeys.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR TIGERS CLASH WITH LITHIA QUINT

Tickets for the annual Medford-Ashland basketball series classic, the first game of which is to be played at the senior high school gym here tomorrow night, go on sale today. Students canvassed the downtown area this afternoon. There are to be no reserved seat sales, it having been decided that since a perfect view of the entire floor is possible from every seat in the house, there would be little gained in isolating duets.

With Medford in possession of one of their most colorful basketball teams in years, and Ashland with a powerful outfit that is now leading in the southern Oregon race to the state tournament, a record turnout is expected. The bitter rivalry between the schools has always made the games of more than usual interest, and coupled with the fact that this is the first of the heated four-games season, Principal C. G. Smith of the Medford school today foresaw a crowded house.

The game is an important one for both teams, and Coach Bill Bowerman of the Tigers is allowing no let-up for his men in their rigid training grid. The team will depend on a fast-driving game to cut down the Grizzlies.

It was announced from Ashland today that Coach Don Faber, who has been out for several weeks with mumps, will definitely be on the bench with his squad tomorrow night. The squad has been under the tutelage of Lester Wilson of Ashland during Faber's illness.

The second game of the series will be played in Ashland Saturday night. At 7 o'clock this evening there will be a radio rally, with players from both Ashland and Medford on the program, which has been arranged by Ed Carter of the local school.

Ray Henderson's Toy Bulldog, cage article from the 7th and 8th grades at the Junior high school, will tangle with the Jacksonville 7th and 8th grade squad in a junior-conference game. The preliminary will get under way at 7:30, followed by the main game an hour later.

KENNASTON FACES WHIRLING COWBOY IN NEXT GRAPPLE

Dude Chick against Bob Kennaston. Lariat against the Kennaston crab. The young against the old in ring craft. That is what is promised on next week's wrestling card at the Armory. Promoter Mack Lillard announced today. After a periodic challenge after each match, and a particular request to meet Chick, Lillard has signed Gold Hill's ex-marine for the main event against the Wyoming cow-puncher.

Kennaston is leaving in a few weeks for southern California, where he has been signed for several weeks, and he believes that a win over Chick before he leaves will assure him some good spots on the cards there. Those who have seen Kennaston wrestle here are agreed that all he needs to become a formidable man in the ring is more experience, and all are agreed that his punishing crab hold, a variation of the reverse head-lock, is one of the most punishing holds now used.

Whether Kennaston can keep out of Chick's devilish-like whirl long enough to apply the hold remains to be seen, but Kennaston thinks he can.

The middle match on the three star card will find Frank Taylor, the dark giant from Ohio State university, matched with a newcomer, Detroit's Max Glover. Glover, a rugged man of the rough-house school of thought, is said to be much like Pete Belcastro in the ring. He is not dirty in his tactics, but is hailed as one of the roughest grip artists in the country.

The opener will be one of flyish flits, hair pulling, eye gouging and slugging if Tiger Taskoff and Tuffy Cleet remain true to form. This all-meatie bout has been arranged by popular demand. Lillard said, after hundreds of fans had expressed their desire to see the two fire eaters against each other. Taskoff recently defeated Cleet in Klamath Falls, and the hard-boiled little New Yorker thinks he was dealt dirt during the bout, and demands revenge. Taskoff has agreed to oblige him the opportunity.

HOLLYWOOD FRANCHISE TO SAN DIEGO DURING COAST LEAGUE SEASON

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Hollywood baseball franchise in the Coast league will be transferred to San Diego for the 1936 season.

H. W. Lane, president of the Hollywood club, said he had reached a tentative agreement with San Diego city officials to bring the club here. Officials plan to construct the park near the waterfront as a WPA project.

Lane said the rental for his club at Wrigley field, Los Angeles, where Hollywood has played for several years, was "astronomical" high.

The Hollywood Stars are due to open March 28 in Los Angeles. Lane said he would arrange to put the team on the road after a two-week stand in Los Angeles, to give sufficient time to prepare the ball park in San Diego.

In Los Angeles, David P. Fleming, president of the Los Angeles club, joint tenants with the Stars of Wrigley field, intimated the San Francisco Missions might be moved to Los Angeles in event of departure of the Hollywood team to give Los Angeles continuous baseball.
