The ladies planned the party and had as invited guests all members of the men's unit. The Gold Star mothers were invited as guests of honor. Neither were the eligible members and their families overlooked.

The long tables were set banquet fashion and at the end of one of the tables was a huge birthday cake upon which was mounted a large red candle. About 65 people were present. ## 93D ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED BY PERRY FOSTER

Perry Foster, well known Rogue valley pioneer for almost three-quarters of a century, will observe his 93rd birthday next Tuesday, February 4, at his home above Reese Creek.

Mr. Foster is a pioneer of this southern Oregon, having arrived in this locality in 1852, long before there was any city of Medford. He has resided in this district ever since. He is now retired and lives with his youngest son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Foster. He has four other children, all of whom but one live in Oregon. One son resides in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Foster spends much of his time in visiting his children in Oregon and in coming to Medford to chat with his many friends here.

The old gentleman was seen in Medford yesterday, discussing events of the day with Foggy Bill Isaacs, whose father was also a pioneer. He appeared hale and hearty, quite alert mentally and physically. He is a small of stature and straight as a sapling. He wears no glasses, though he is nearly blind, but he is beginning to overtake him. He has thick white hair and wears a close-cropped mustache.

Mr. Foster was born February 4, 1843, in Ohio, the name of the town having slipped his mind. When he was very young, his parents died and he was taken to Missouri, where he spent his boyhood.

He left Missouri with a wagon train in 1862 for the long trek across the plains and mountains to the west coast. As the party progressed, it was joined by other trains until finally, he recalls, the group consisted of about 360 wagons and 1,000 men, women and children.

"We had no trouble in getting across," Mr. Foster recalls, "and suffered no dreadful privations. We saw plenty of Indians but our party was too large to encourage attack. We frequently came in close contact with the redskins but they were friendly enough. 'Heap too many people for make fight,' the Indians usually said."

The party came out at what is now The Dalles and from there traveled by boat to Portland. Mr. Foster said from there he and some companions came overland to this locality. It required six months to cross to the coast, he recalled.

Mr. Foster said he will observe his birthday quietly, without celebration. "I've had too many birthdays to get excited about it," he said. "Wait until I'm a hundred and then 'we'll have something to celebrate."

MRS. NORCROSS DIES IN ASHLAND

Harriet A. Norcross passed away at her home, 295 Beach street, in Ashland, January 26. She was born Harriet Amanda Loucks, in Fon Du Lac county, Wisconsin, September 1, 1863, the youngest of ten children.

In 1889 the family moved to Rockford, Iowa, and later to Trent, S. D., settling on government land.

She was united in marriage to Leonard Lawrence Norcross, March 27, 1888. Two children were born to the union, Vera, who died at four years, and Alta, who survives. Later they moved to Fladmark, S. D., where they lived 24 years before going to Central Point, Ore. They lived there twelve years, moving to Ashland in 1926. Mr. Norcross died May 31, 1931.

One sister and one brother survive: Mrs. R. M. Lawrence, Cleveland, Ohio, and A. C. Loucks, Cottage Grove, Ore.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock today at the Dodge chapel in Ashland.

Relatives in attendance included, sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Norcross, Central Point; nieces, Mrs. E. H. Hedrick, Miss Blanche Arnold, Medford; Mrs. Frank Henspeter, and a nephew, W. Arnold, Jacksonville.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR NATURAL "BULK"

Needed to Correct Constipation*

Most people recognize the seriousness of constipation. But too often they dose themselves with strong cathartics that often actually lead to chronic constipation.

The natural way to check common constipation is to correct the condition which causes it—usually, insufficient "bulk" in meals.

How can you get "bulk"? Fruits and vegetables have some. Bran has more. The most popular product of this kind is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

This delicious cereal is a wholesome food. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will usually correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk." If not relieved, see your doctor.

KING LAID TO REST IN ANCIENT CHAPEL WITH SIMPLE RITE

his place at the head of the coffin and the service began.

The queen mother, who was brave throughout the morning's trying rites, was seen to blink her eyes as the bishop of Winchester started the reading of the lesson:

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth."

He read the comforting words: "And God shall wipe away all tears. . . There shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying."

Sing Favorite Hymn

Then the choir sang "Abide With Me"—George's favorite hymn which the monarch sang in the little parish church at Sandringham on Christmas day, the last service George attended in life.

The archbishop of Canterbury, who had stood beside the death bed in Sandringham, arose slowly with the hymn's last line, "In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me. Amen." The archbishop began the service of committal to the grave.

As the archbishop's words ended, King Edward stepped forward. The coffin began sinking slowly beneath the level of the floor.

Edward sprinkled earth on the wooden case which held the mortal remains of his father.

The body entered the grave at 2:14 p. m.

The silver urn scattered came from a silver urn.

The archbishop's voice was tense with emotion as he pronounced the burial lines of the Church of England:

"We therefore commit his body to the ground; earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust; in sure and certain hope of resurrection of eternal life."

MANY PAY HOMAGE TO J. C. THOMPSON AT FUNERAL RITES

With services characterized by impressive dignity, John Clinton Thompson was laid with gentle hands to his final resting place in Siskiyou Memorial park yesterday afternoon.

Hundreds of friends and associates paid their final respects to one of Medford's leading citizens at the services held at 2 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. The edifice was filled beyond capacity. Many having to stand in the aisles and corridors.

The casket reposed in a bower of flowers, many floral tributes testifying to the high esteem in which Mr. Thompson was held by his friends, civic and fraternal organizations and the California Oregon Power company of which he was division manager.

A brief service was led by the Rev. E. S. Bartlam with the assistance of the Rev. R. S. Peterson, after which a ritualistic ceremony was conducted by Malta Commandery No. 4, Knights Templar, with Elbert L. Lenox, commander, and A. G. Bishop, prelate, in charge.

After the church service the casket was borne between rows of Knights Templar who stood at present swords.

At the graveside a brief but impressive service was conducted by Medford Lodge No. 103, A. O. and A. M. with Mr. Bishop in charge. At the cemetery the casket was again carried between rows of Knights Templar standing at present swords.

Those officiating at the service and the organizations of which Mr. Thompson was a member assembled outside the church and filled the edifice in this order:

The Rev. E. S. Bartlam, the Rev. R. S. Peterson, Mr. Lenox, Mr. Bishop, active pallbearers; honorary pallbearers, Knights Templar, Medford lodge, A. F. and A. M., Order of DeMolay, Medford lodge, B. P. O. Elks, Kiwanis club and California Oregon Power company.

Active pallbearers were Stanley Jones, Frank Stinson, V. W. Hammond, D. R. Terrett, Rex Barnett and Paul Rynning.

Honorary pallbearers were O. O. Aenderfer, A. B. Cunningham, T. G. Bradley, H. D. Reed, Larry Schade and F. C. Dillard.

During the time the body lay in state at the church from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., Knights Templar formed an honor guard, two standing at attention beside the casket during each hour. Chosen for this duty were Walter J. Omscheid, H. B. Kellom, R. R. Ebel, E. B. Price, J. H. Rolston, George R. Witters, W. C. Hookard and R. E. Sweeney, past commanders, stood at guard beside the casket during the service, while Sam Jordan and C. H. Thomas remained at attention at the church entrance from 1 to 2 o'clock.

BONUS PAYMENTS MAKE HUGE TASK FOR GOVERNMENT

Attaching their fingerprints and filing them with the veterans' administration, ex-soldiers will formally apply for the $50 bonds. Under the law, these bonds may be cashed at local postoffices beginning next June 15 or held to obtain 3 per cent interest.

Before the bonds are distributed, however, the blanks must be double checked at the veterans' administration—an operation requiring 7,000,000 arithmetical calculations. Officials predicted that most of the veterans would have their bonds "by summer."

"They'll have to be patient and they'll have to wait," said Adelbert Hiller, executive assistant to veterans' administration Frank T. Hines. "It's going to be a tremendous job."

Orthodox Financing
After the bureau of engraving produces 38,000,000 bonds required, it will be the treasury's job to distribute them. Asked whether "orthodox methods" would be used in raising the cash to redeem the securities, Secretary Morgenthau said "yes."

The bonus bill itself carries no appropriation; that presumably will be passed through congress later. The treasury already has indicated that the financing would increase next year's deficit, possibly to $5,000,000,000.

In the statement warning against "frittering away" cash, the White House and veterans leaders, said: "Immediate and urgent need for funds offers, of course, a valid reason for cashing the bonds."

In the same way, the paying off of indebtedness wholly reasonable, just as using the cash for something of permanent value such as a new home or the definite improvement of an existing home, would be reasonable.

Administration officials have expressed a belief that veterans would demand not more than $1,000,000 in cash at present, but it was indicated that the treasury might plan to have $1,500,000,000 available in case the demands were greater.

Members of congress predicted that demands for pension legislation would follow enactment of the bonus bill, but they differed widely on when the drive would come.

Veterans will be unable to get their money for the new bonds before June 15 at the earliest, veterans' administration officials said. Harold W. Breiling, assistant administrator, said the bonds are not cashable before that date and will not be issued before then.

Borrowing on the bonds will be impossible and unnecessary, they will be redeemable at government office as soon as issued. The bonds could not be posted as collateral for a loan, however, because they are non-transferable, non-negotiable instruments.
