'CAPTAIN BLOOD' IS ADVENTURE FILM

Audiences during the year past have evidenced a distinct liking for motion pictures of the "adventure" class and today, opening a three-day run at the Craterian theatre, the picture of Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood" will serve to fulfill this liking.

A thrilling tale of the 17th century sea pirates, "Captain Blood" is one of the more pretentious motion picture productions to be brought to the screen. Great sailing vessels of the period; parts of villages in England; most of the old city of Port Royal in the West Indies; the king's palace; a governor's mansion—these were but a few of the settings that had to be made for the production.

Playing the title role of Captain Blood is Errol Flynn, a handsome and dashing young Irishman, whose own true life adventures would make an interesting film play. A soldier of fortune, escaping death on numerous occasions—particularly in the "bush country" of New Guinea—his young life has been replete with adventure.

The story follows Blood as he runs afoul of the soldiers in England, soon finds himself a slave in the West Indies and later the captain of a pirate ship.

CHORUS GIRLS SAVED BY BLUSHING FIREMEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Early theater goers in the Times Square district were treated to a free show tonight, including embarrassed chorus girls.

A 42nd street hotel (Murray's Apartments) hard by the White Way caught fire and the occupants, mostly theatrical persons, responded with curtain calls that delighted vaudeville lovers and the dismayed police and firemen.

It was only a one-alarm blaze, but before the rescued, rescuers and bystanders could be sorted out, three extra engines and half a hundred extra policemen were thrown into the chaos to restore order and property.

Convention officials said some 2000 attended the meeting.

"Annie Oakley" Coming Thursday

Events in the life of one of America's most colorful characters, a woman who astounded the world with her amazing rifle shooting, form the theme of "Annie Oakley," coming Thursday to the Craterian theater with Barbara Stanwyck playing the title role—said to be her finest characterization on the screen.

The days of Buffalo Bill, Sitting Bull, Ned Buntline and those other famous characters of frontier history whose exploits were the subject of discussion all over the world, are recreated in this film story—set against the picturesque background of Buffalo Bill Cody's famous wild west show.

The story follows the life of the vention formerly named 28 delegates representing 22 votes for Roosevelt, at the Philadelphia national convention in June.

Record Breaker To Show at Craterian

Already becoming known as the record-breaker of the new year, the picture of "The Magnificent Obsession," Lloyd C. Douglas' famous best-seller, has been announced for its local showing at the Craterian theater next Sunday, Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor have the two leading roles, with a supporting cast that includes among others, Betty Furness, Charles Butterworth, Arthur Treacher, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta, Sara Haden and Beryl Mercer.

With a strange motivating factor forming the unusual background for the story, it tells how a young man—a worthless playboy—discovers a new meaning of what life holds for him when he sets out to right the wrongs he has done in his past.

Obsessed with the idea of helping others who deserve assistance and asking nothing in return but their happiness, he finds a new peace and a new happiness in his own heart.

In so doing, he also finds love—a love that rises from the ashes of intense hatred and becomes even stronger than himself.

Paul Muni

Paul Muni will be seen on the screen of the Rialto theater, starting today for three days in his latest starring vehicle, "Dr. Socrates," said to be one of the most dramatic roles of his career.

The picture, which combines thrilling adventure and a glowing romance, is based on a novel by W. R. Burnett, author of "Scarface" and "Little Caesar." The plot centers about Muni, portraying a country doctor, once a great surgeon in the city, who has lost his nerve through the death on the operating table of his fiancee. A shattered, nervous wreck, ironically dubbed "Dr. Socrates" by a blistering, small town success until a band of bank robbers and killers terrorize the neighborhood. Kidnaped by the bandits at the point of a gun and made to dress the wounds of those shot in battle with the police, he recognizes the place and later leads the federal agents to the capture of the bandits.

Ann Dvorak plays the lead opposite Muni as a little, innocent hitchhiker the bandits have captured, and with whom Muni falls in love. Barton MacLane is the head of the ruthless gang, while others in the cast include Robert Barrett, John Eldredge, Hobart Cavanaugh and Helen Lowell.

"Top Hat" Star

Ginger Rogers, teamed with Fred Astaire, is starred at the Roxy Theater where "Top Hat" opens a three-day run today.

With its song hits written by the famous Irving Berlin, the dance numbers created by Astaire himself, "Top Hat" is a rapid-moving dancing romance that has Edward Everett Horton, Eric Blod and Helen Broderick in featured roles.

ROGUE GRANGERS' CONTEST PLAY IS FULL OF COMEDY

With "The Man From Brandon," presented by Rogue River Community club Friday night as the third of the rural plays entered in the dramatics contest proving a rollicking comedy, play goers are finding a pleasing variety in the selections thus far offered.

Phil Lester's (Gordon Hatch) failure in his attempts to impress his friend's family that he was a football man from Brandon and not the new cook as they supposed him to be, resulted in a series of hilarious complications, when coupled with the confusion of the doctor (Neuton Jamison), who hadn't learned that his patient was a dog. The meticulous Aunt Jeanette, played by Mary Smith, added to the general confusion in her attentions to her darling Pido, and Verna Smith as the maid kept her audience convulsed with laughter in her indiscreet remarks and fright over the upsetting situations.

Margaret Bates played the role of Berniece, the lady of the house, and Pan Steel took the part of Dan Moustion, brother of Berniece. Iris Bush played the pleasing role of a friend. The comedy was brought to a close, with all entrancing attractions cleared up, when the collegiate Phil Lester, who thought a wooden club was the proper equipment for busting a turkey, solved the puzzles of the household. The comedy was directed by C. W. Smith.

The following musical selections were presented during the evening by young people of the community:

Vocal solo, by Bob Breding, and his girls, Evelyn and Edna, with guitar and musical saw accompaniment.

Vocal solo by Neuton Jamison, who played his own accompaniment on the guitar.

Vocal solo, by Margaret Bates, playing her own guitar accompaniment.

Monday evening Upper Rogue grange presents "More Than a Million" and "The Albany Depot." Both plays will be presented at Rogue Elk hall at 8:00 p.m.
