

CARTER WILL RUN FOR CLERK AGAIN; INTEREST MOUNTS

George R. Carter, incumbent, today filed his declaration of intention to seek the republican nomination for county clerk, at the May 19 primary.

The attorney-general's office has ruled that Monday, March 30 is the final date for filing for the primary.

None of the four candidates, to date, contrary to custom, has announced any slogan.

County Clerk Carter has held the office for the past four years in a highly competent manner.

Democratic warhorses of the county hint they will place no candidate in the field against Carter.

William P. Rector, lino-type operator, announced Saturday he would file for the lower house on the democratic ticket.

It is also reported that a woman, more or less active in public affairs in this county the past four years, would file for the state senate as an independent.

Temple Installs New Officers Saturday In Extensive Ceremonies

Zulema temple, Daughters of the Nile, were hostesses for one of the most elaborate parties of the season Saturday evening.

The temple was transformed into a highly colorful and appropriate setting by the use of oriental rugs, draperies, softly shaded lights and a profusion of flowers, ferns and palms.

Mrs. Charles L. Woods was installed as queen of the temple. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and wore a corsage of cypridium and valley lilies.

Following the ceremonies, which were conducted by Mrs. T. P. Franco, of Ashland, the officers and guests, led by the uniformed patrol, adjourned to the ball room for dancing.

Members and their escorts were guests at dinner at the Medford Hotel Medford preceding the evening program, 175 guests being seated at the tables, which were elaborately decorated with yellow spring flowers and yellow and green candles.

Afternoon ceremonies of the temple included the awarding of degrees to several candidates during the business session.

Miss Louise Bradford, of the Medford schools, was guest speaker at the Saturday meeting of the Jackson County Intermediate Teachers Council.

DEFENSES OF U. S. BELOW STANDARD, OFFICER ASSERTS

The national defense act of 1920 was a well-planned program of national defense but it has not been carried out and America's defense equipment and personnel rank a eighteenth in the roster of nations.

"The national defense act of 1920 was the first real military policy ever adopted by the United States," said Captain Canlett.

"The defense act has not been carried out due to lack of cooperation on the part of the budget-makers and the American army finds itself with officers and man power below the minimum requirements outlined by the act."

"The citizens of this country should demand of their law-makers that our army be brought up to the minimum requirements of the defense act."

"The army does not start wars. It is merely called in to fight after the citizens of the United States have reached the decision that their homes must be defended."

"Communists, radicals and others of their type who would have this country abandon all protective measures, are the worst enemies of real peace."

"The army does not start wars. It is merely called in to fight after the citizens of the United States have reached the decision that their homes must be defended."

ASHLAND CO-EDS SEEK ADVENTURE; COPS INTERFERE

The police did not identify the girls except to say that one came from Medford, one from Coquille and the third from Bandon.

The police were having a quiet night when a truck driver here into their office and reported he had seen three very young girls hitch hiking on the Pacific highway.

"Oh, no you don't," came the ready response. "That's too bad, sister, because I've gotta take you back to school."

"Come outta there before the bull gets you," shouted the watchman. "I'd rather be in here with the bull than out there with you," said the pretty co-ed.

"What'll it be, girls," they were asked. "An education," the co-eds chimed in unison as they agreed to abandon their adventure for the time being at least.

LAW ENFORCERS TOLD GOVERNMENT PHASES ARE MAJOR HANDICAP

GRANTS PASS, Feb. 10.—(AP)—"Too much government" is one of the major faults with which present day law enforcement officers must contend.

State Treasurer Rufus Holman told 35 members of the Southern Oregon Law Enforcement Officers association here Saturday night.

He pointed out that George Alexander, assistant superintendent of state police, who attended from Salem, "passed through six separate governments—county divisions, two much government," he said.

E. W. Madison, Grants Pass justice of peace, was elected president; Hardin Blackmer, Klamath county district attorney, vice-president; and H. D. Reed, Gold Hill justice of peace, secretary.
