cast yesterday, declaring "sound money" is responsible for the present depression.

"Today we are suffering from deflation," he said, "not inflation, and we must put up with this nonsense about inflation. We are suffering from a financial heart disease and we must listen to the quack doctors diagnosing the malady of chilblains, as their real object is to protect and preserve their so-called sound money system which has done little else than breed depressions and create want in the midst of plenty."

The priest also announced members of the house and candidates for congress are barred from membership in his national union for social justice.

Epics Wait Answer.

In California the EPIC Democrats awaited an answer today from President Roosevelt on a demand that the End Poverty Leaguers have a dominant voice in the California national convention delegation. They want the delegation picked from a list of 128 EPIC-compiled names.

Other developments:

The American Liberty league issued a statement describing as "not only impractical, but utterly impossible" all "Utopian plans" for sharing the national wealth.

The primary question remained an issue in Georgia, where the forces of a new deal foe, Governor Eugene Talmadge, control the state Democratic executive committee.

MONAGHAN TURNS IN PERFECT TRAP CARD IN PRACTICE SHOOT

Charlie Monaghan again turned in high gun at the Medford traps yesterday morning when he crashed 50 straight. Elmer Wilson and Bill Bates each turned in a 49 for second position. In the handicap event Elmer Wilson scored 24 for high with Bill Bates, Charlie Monaghan and Dr. Charles W. Lemery each scoring 23 for second place.

Thirty shooters were out for practice in anticipation of the registered tournament which the Medford club will stage next Sunday. The local club will hold five such tournaments this season, one each month, the grand final to be staged the latter part of June.

CALIFORNIA LINE REMAINS CLOSED TO OWN CITIZEN

ing as Newbury's opinion that they had no right to bar Taylor's entrance.

Again Taylor was turned back, he said.

Veteran of both the Spanish-American and World wars, property-owner and taxpayer according to his account, Taylor says he is completely at a loss as what next to do. An attorney told him, he said, to go to Portland and ask for an order from the federal court there.

"I suppose I'm to hike there without eating," he grimaced. "I spent my last money here last night for a room. The Red Cross told me today I should have stayed where I belonged. I've got to get back to my family."

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Satisfied that the police border patrol has turned back the winter tide of indigent migration to California, authorities planned today to clear Los Angeles of vagrants within a week.

Penniless idlers and beggars arrested in the past stages of the city-wide drive totaled 170, 136 of whom were offered the choice of five days in jail or leaving town.

Northern outposts of the police "foreign legion" reported 156 transients leaving the state of their own volition, indicating success in the campaign to discourage "unwelcome guests" from coming or staying. Forty transients, stopped by patrols on the Nevada border, agreed to turn back.

Murder Mystery Hit Rialto Tuesday

"Crime And Punishment," which according to advance reports has been hailed as one of the most stirring photoplays in recent years, will play at the Rialto theater tomorrow and Wednesday. The production stars Edward Arnold, Peter Lorre, Marian Marsh and Robert Allen.

The film, based on Dostoievsky's immortal novel, tells the story of Raskolnikov, (Peter Lorre), a brilliant student who turns murderer, and how he matches wills with the Inspector Porfiry (Edward Arnold), who suspects him of the crime and yet has no material proof.

Others in the cast are Tala Birell, Douglas Bumbrille, Gene Lockhart and Mrs. Patrick Campbell. Josef von Sternberg directed.

Craterian Drama Delights Crowds; Irene Dunne Star

One of the most widely read stories was brought to life on the screen of the Craterian theater yesterday, where capacity crowds were gripped by the intensity and fineness of Lloyd C. Douglas' "Magnificent Obsession" in its picturization which has Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor carrying the leading roles. Striking a responsive chord by the fine work of the principals and the humanness of its drama, the film will undoubtedly be listed among the "10 best" for the year of 1936. A story that might very easily have lost its effectiveness in being transfered to the screen, "Magnificent Obsession," on the contrary, has become truly fine entertainment, containing all the elements that made it so popular as a novel.

Hearty comedy plays an important part of the production, the brunt of it being carried ably by Charles Butterworth. Irene Dunne gives a superb performance as the blind girl and Robert Taylor as the reformed ne'er-do-well is convincing in his role. Among others in the cast are Betty Furness, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta.

Robert Taylor, a frequent inmate of Doctor Hudson's hospital, after a night of revelry jumps into a lake and requires a pulmotor to save his life. The pulmotor saves him, but while he is being revived Doctor Hudson has a heart attack and for lack of the pulmotor he dies. The doctor's young wife, Irene Dunne, returns from Europe on the day of her husband's death and, like the devoted hospital staff, blames Taylor for his death. Taylor meets Miss Dunne and falls in love with her. By a ruse he takes her for a drive in his car. When Miss Dunne attempts to leave the car she is struck down by a passing car. She suffers a concussion of the head and is blinded.

Taylor, under the name of "Doctor Robert," works his way into Miss Dunne's confidence and puts up the money for a visit to Paris and brain specialists. He follows here there, reveals his identity and asks her to marry him. Miss Dunne disappears, and Taylor is unable to find her. He studies and in six years becomes a famous brain surgeon, winning the Noble prize. Returning to New York he discovers where Miss Dunne is and goes to her. She is in a precarious condition and only an operation will save her. Taylor performs the operation, restoring her sight. Miss Dunne reveals her love for Taylor.

At Osteopathic Clinic — Maurine Field, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Field, is recovering today after having her tonsils removed at the Osteopathic Clinic. Mrs. M. H. Anders of Central Point is also recovering after a minor operation.

Officer Visits—Deputy Superintendent George Alexander of the Oregon state police was a business visitor at headquarters here yesterday after attending the law enforcement meet in Grants Pass Saturday night.

Drunk Fined—Paul Rose, arrested on a charge of being drunk in a public place, this morning pleaded guilty in city court and was fined $10.

Youth is Over!

MIDDLE age dawns—and with it perhaps lack of energy, poor appetite, indigestion, gassy, sour stomach, and belching. This should not be overlooked. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery stimulates the appetite, improves the action of the stomach, makes the food digest better, and that tired feeling disappears. This strength-builder is made from a formula which the late Dr. R. V. Pierce found most effective when in active practice years ago. Other men and women in your community have found it helpful. It will help you, too. Buy now of your druggist. New size tablets 50 cents, liquid $1 & $1.35.

The Last Thing — —that it is possible to do for the loved one who has gone is to arrange a funeral service that will fittingly symbolize the esteem and affection in which they were held. When services are held here they have that fitting character and quality you desire so much. And the cost is comparatively moderate.
