

BOURBONS TO WIN STATE DOMINANCE, KELLY DECLARES

Democrats Will Take 2-1 Party Lead, He States—New Deal Achievements Cited, Critics Attacked

Oregon is destined to become Democratic in the ratio of two to one, a meeting of the Young Democrats club of Jackson county was told last night by Edward C. Kelly, legal adviser for the public works administration in Portland.

"The Republican party has become the reactionary party," Mr. Kelly said. "It is owned by the reactionaries of the country and reactionaries are flocking to it."

"The Democratic party, on the other hand, is the progressive party and progressives all over the country are rallying to its cause. Like other western states, Oregon has been progressive. It has been progressive in the ratio of two to one and it is natural that the Democratic party, which appeals to progressives, should assume the same ratio. We are destined to outnumber the Republicans in this state two to one."

Expense to Be Issue. The principal campaign issue in the presidential contest this year will not be the constitution, as many believe, but rather it will be expenditures and bureaucracy, Mr. Kelly said.

"The Republicans will cry waste and extravagance and bureaucracy, and we can meet every question they will raise," the speaker declared. "They will try to put us on the defensive and that is where we must watch out. We must not let them put us on the defensive. We have the facts and we should marshal these facts so that we can meet every generally that is uttered by the reactionaries. It will be their tactics to criticize in generalities; it should be our policy to answer by facts taken from the record."

Mrs. Kelly spoke briefly on the organization of women, saying that every precinct should be organized so that there will be at least one woman and one young Democrat working with the regular committees.

Talks of Parties. Mrs. Kelly spoke also of the different atmosphere prevailing at various press conferences in Washington, D. C., and told of some of the White House parties she has attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, long residents of Medford, resided for some time in the national capital before Mr. Kelly was transferred to Portland. They are now on vacation.

Mr. Kelly dwelt on some of the accomplishments of the New Deal, emphasizing that when President Roosevelt entered office conditions throughout the nation were so acutely distressful that drastic action had to be taken immediately to avert a national catastrophe.

"Critics of the New Deal, now that they can see daylight again, have conveniently forgotten the horrible conditions prevailing when President Roosevelt entered the White House," Mr. Kelly said. "Something had to be done and done in a hurry, and although the president acted swiftly nothing was done impulsively or irrationally. The administration's program was thought out carefully under the advice of the most competent experts available."

NRA Training Point. "What was done was the best and most effective thing that could be done and the best proof of that is that the administration's program worked out by parts of it were knocked out by the supreme court."

Mr. Kelly then told of some of the accomplishments of the administration.

"You may say what you choose about NRA, you may criticize it all you like, but you cannot escape the fact that the NRA was the turning point of the depression," the speaker declared.

Mr. Kelly referred to the government's insurance of bank deposits, averring that the thrifty can now put their savings in the bank with the knowledge that their money is safe. Deposit insurance, he said, has sharply reduced bank failures.

Bank Failures Recalled. "Under Hoover, banks were failing at the rate of 4,000 a year," Mr. Kelly asserted. "Since Mr. Roosevelt took office bank failures have been reduced to about 100 a year. If that isn't an accomplishment to be proud of and a service to the people, I should like to know what is."

TVA, he stated, was designed to reduce rates so that all the people might enjoy the benefits of electricity.

Power Companies Criticized. "Do you know," he asked, "that only 16 percent of the farms of the country are electrified? The power companies have not been interested in serving the farmers. With TVA facing them, however, they are now showing much concern over the farmers' welfare. In Mississippi, for instance, the power companies are now hastening to serve the farmers, to state off TVA. The same thing is happening in Oregon and Washington, where private power companies are faced by Bonneville dam."

Large as the sum is, the federal government has not spent so much money on relief as was being spent by states, counties and municipalities before Mr. Roosevelt took office, Mr. Kelly asserted.

"If that had kept up the states, counties and municipalities would long since have become bankrupt and even then only a small proportion of the distressed people would have been assisted," he stated.

CCC Given Praise. "I recall very vividly how much was being spent by Medford and Jackson county without making any appreciable dent in the relief problem. If that had gone on much longer the city and county would now be bankrupt."

"The reactionaries who are crying about expenditures point with alarm,

LINCOLN RELICS TO BE EXHIBITED ON ANNIVERSARY

Bit of Wallpaper Bearing Stain of Blood From Fatal Wound Among Collection in New York Hotel

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A bit of wallpaper, stained brown, will go on exhibition at a midtown hotel Wednesday, Abraham Lincoln's birthday, the stain is the blood of the Civil war president.

As Lincoln lay fatally wounded at the hands of the assassin Booth, April 14, 1865, blood splattered on a wall of the box the president occupied at Ford's theater in Washington, and the preserved wallpaper has been handed down to three granddaughters of a one-time governor of Washington.

The owners, Mrs. Mary Pickering Glover and the Misses Martha and Catherine Pickering, descendants of Gov. William Pickering, lent it to the Lincoln hotel for exhibition.

Prominent among the other pieces of Lincolnia to go on display will be a hitherto unpublished portrait of the Emancipator, executed in oil in 1860 by Thomas Hicks, soon after Lincoln was nominated as the Republican presidential candidate. It pictures Lincoln before he acquired side-whiskers and beard.

Also on display will be the famous Mary Todd Lincoln watch, a gift purchased by the then young Lincoln, to whom the White House could have been no more than an idle dream.

A lovers' quarrel prevented presentation of the watch by Lincoln, and shortly afterward he gave it to Mary N. Curtiss, a Louisville, Ky., belle, without the original inscription "To Mary Todd from A. L., 1841."

William Pickering was territorial governor of Washington from 1862 until 1866. He was appointed by President Lincoln.

16 ARE EMPLOYED ON NYA PROJECT

Sixteen young men are now engaged on the national youth administration project of cleaning city parks and vacant lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kelly, en route to San Diego for a two weeks vacation, stopped over in Medford yesterday to visit with relatives and friends before proceeding south today. Kelly is Oregon state attorney for PWA, with offices in Portland.

"We expect to see the end of PWA work within the year," Kelly said, adding that no further building projects were in sight other than emergency ones. At the present time, he said, there are approximately one hundred projects under construction or with construction ready to begin within a month in the state. The projects almost total $20,000,000, of which five million is invested in the fire Oregon coast bridges.

When Kelly started with the PWA in June of last year, after having spent some time in the same work in Washington, D. C., only 15 projects were under way. About 40 school buildings, 20 water systems, 20 sewers and disposal systems, the state capitol building, six new buildings for state institutions and six new buildings for the board of higher education are included in the program, he said.

"All the buildings are ultra-modern," the attorney stated, pointing out that central heating, radiators, most rooms, and other modern ideas of construction are incorporated in the projects.

In reviewing the benefits to accrue from such projects as Bonneville dam and the coast bridges, Kelly foresees a great development in the state of Oregon, with literally thousands of people from the tenement packed east starting a western migration to take advantage of the facilities which will be opened up.

INSINCERE PRAYER LIKE CROSSED WIRE AVERS REV. DAWES

"Crossed Wires" was the subject of Rev. W. A. Dawes' discourse Sunday morning at the First Baptist church.

He related how he went to high school on a street car one day when a crossed wire fell across the trolley and everything stopped. "Hindrances to prayer," he said, "is like crossed wires. We may repeat the Lords prayer and not be praying. Prayer is talking things over with God, with a sincere desire. The minds and spirits of Christians who have been much with God, are uplifted."

Rev. Dawes gave several reasons why prayers are not answered, calling them "crossed wires."

In the evening the sermon subject was "Looking and Living." The pastor said: "In Corinthians we have the best method of Bible study, comparing scripture with scripture. The Bible is the best commentator on itself. The new (testament) is in the old contained; the old is in the new explained."

Snow plows bucked through miles of drifts to rescue 30 men and women marooned since Saturday in a farm house near Sycamore, Ill., only to find the refugees gorged on pastry, meat, beer and soft drinks from four trucks isolated with the party.

Ice floes which have imprisoned nine men since Friday on a government work boat between two islands in the Ohio river near Paducah, Ky., began moving today. Hopes of rescue rose. The men had fuel and food for two more days.
