

ARMY OFFICERS, GROUNDED HERE, TAKE IN SIGHTS

Five U. S. air corps officers were shown about the valley today while they awaited clear weather to the south before continuing their flight from Seattle to Selkridge field, near Detroit, Mich., by way of San Diego.

The officers, who landed their five Boeing pursuit ships at municipal airport late yesterday, are Lieut. Col. Ralph Royce, commander of Selkridge field and the first pursuit group; Maj. E. J. House, commander of the 94th pursuit squadron; Maj. F. C. Nelson, commander of the station complement, Selkridge field; Maj. G. P. Tourtelot, commander of the 17th pursuit squadron, and Capt. E. O'Donnell, flight commander of the 94th squadron.

The aviators were taken on a sight-seeing tour today by Fred Heath, Jr., city councilman, and Fred W. Scheffel, city superintendent.

They came to the west coast by train from Selkridge field to get the five ships which had been reconditioned at the Boeing Seattle plant. Bad weather to the south grounded their ships here and the prospects this afternoon were that they would not be able to get away before tomorrow. Heavy fogs in the highlands and valleys of California made flying extremely perilous and no hope for a clearing was held out today by the weather bureau.

The visiting aviators attended the smoker at the Elks temple last night as the guests of Mr. Heath, Mr. Scheffel, Ben E. Harder, president of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce; A. H. Banwell, chamber manager; Maj. George R. Owen, commander of the Medford CCC district; Capt. William C. Ryan, CCC welfare officer, and Tom Culbertson, manager of the municipal airport.

DR. SPEARS WAITS REGENTS DECISION

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 14.—(AP)—A twisted mesh of charges and denials, the University of Wisconsin athletic situation was tossed back to the regents today to be untangled once and for all.

A report of the faculty controlled athletic council was drafted for submission to the board of regents during a six hour session yesterday at which members reviewed the sensational testimony unearthed in three days of hearings by a five man investigating committee of the regents.

Witnesses charged, and Dr. Clarence W. Spears denied, that Spears, head football coach, had ordered liquor served to players, had called them from the university infirmary in weakened condition to practice, and had worn them down in training.

Dr. Walter Maxwell, athletic director whose friction with Spears was known in campus and alumni circles, admitted he gave two players liquor after a game last season and that he had private agreements with coaches by which he could out them without publicity.

IDAHO CITY, Idaho, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The frozen body of Lawrence Harden, 55, Grimes Pass mail carrier, was found last night in a tree 40 miles northwest of here.

Sheriff Harry Penrod of Boise county said Harden had been thrown into the tree when he was struck by a large ice and snow slide as he walked on snowshoes along the Garden Valley-Lowman road.

FARMING INCOME WILL GIVE CLUES FOR COUNTY PLAN

The average Jackson county cash farm income from 1926 to 1930 will be used as a basis for the seasons or the Agricultural Outlook Conference to be held here next Thursday and Friday.

A chart issued by the OEC extension service shows the average cash farm income for the 1926-30 period was $2,955,000. The chart shows that 32.5 per cent of the crops were tree fruits and nuts, 17.7 per cent was livestock, 0.2 per cent other animal produce, 5.5 per cent eggs and poultry, 7.9 per cent dairy products, field crops 10.5, and small fruits, nursery and green house 4.3 per cent and truck crops 1.6 per cent.

County Agent Robert G. Fowler estimates that the average cash farm income for the past four years would show percentage decreases.

The purpose of the conference is to consider facts relating to Jackson county agriculture, and to plan a program which will tend to effect a balance between production and market requirements so as to obtain the highest returns to the farmer.

H. E. Conger of Jacksonville is general chairman of the conference, which will be held in the court-house auditorium, starting at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Commodity groups are headed as follows:

R. C. Ward, horticulture; Stephen Nye, Jr., soils and irrigation; Otto Bohnert, truck crops; J. R. McCracken, dairy; Arnold Bohnert, farm crops; E. W. Kubil, livestock; M. J. R. McCracken, poultry; G. E. Cauterhout, turkeys, and agricultural economics; A. E. Brookway.

These committee heads will make reports on the final day of the conference.

The members adopted a set of rules and regulations for their meetings, and appointed the following committee to bring to the next meeting their suggestions for programs, which are to be along educational lines: H. W. Conger, chairman; L. B. Hall, C. E. Litwiler, T. J. Ousley and W. W. Ward.

Executive Secretary George S. Ryan, reporting on activities throughout the state, told of the Washington association meeting in Spokane, January 20-21, and the National association meeting in San Francisco, January 22-23, and said the Oregon Funeral Directors association would hold its annual convention in Eugene, June 22, 23 and 24.

A. J. Ousley extended an invitation for the May or June meeting to be held at Crater lake, and L. B. Hall stated that members coming to the meetings without their wives would be fined.

The March meeting will be held at Grants Pass, Messrs. Hull and Hull to be hosts.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Litwiler, of Ashland; W. W. Ward, Klamath Falls;

BEAVERS, COUGARS IN CRUCIAL SERIES

By the Associated Press

Undeclared Washington seeks its ninth northern division coast conference basketball victory in Seattle tonight at Idaho's expense while Washington State college guns for second place in a two-game series with the defending Oregon State college champions at Corvallis, Ore.

The Huskies were overwhelming favorites to sweep its Friday and Saturday night games with the cellar dwelling Idaho vandals.

Washington State's showing against Oregon State depended upon whether the Cougars have rounded into winning form as evidenced in two recent victories over Idaho.

Perusal of past records shows no team has won a northern division championship with more than four defeats on its escutcheon. Thus, either Washington State or Oregon State will have to sweep the Corvallis series to stay in the race, assuming Washington should be overhauled on the home stretch.

WE had been missing the boat

I'm talking about coffee. We fooled around for ages with one brand after another. But none of them ever tasted right. We wondered why we never got a decent tasting coffee. Blamed the directions; yes, the coffee pot, too. And the only reason we let the agony endure was because we figured that our old time favorite brand—Hills Bros.—cost more than we could afford to pay.

But last week we woke up. My wife said, "Let's buy a pound of Hills Bros. and have coffee we can really enjoy." So she bought a can and that first cup was certainly good news. After breakfast my wife said, "Do you want to know something? Hills Bros. Coffee costs practically the same as most of the brands I've been buying and it's miles ahead in flavor." Can you tie that? We certainly had been missing the boat and that's no fairy tale.
