

SURVIVE MOUNTAIN SNOWSLIDE

These four men, all from Salt Lake City, are shown after they had been rescued from the passenger car of a transcontinental train which was crushed by a snow avalanche that crumbled a protecting snowshed in the high Sierra 40 miles northeast of Colfax, Calif. W. A. Sheppard (upper left) was knocked out by the impact; A. G. Hayden (upper right) suffered a possible crushed chest; J. A. Gibson (lower left) was pulled to safety by a blanket to which he clung with his teeth and G. P. Shea (lower right) was only slightly cut. (Associated Press Photo)

TOYS FOR HAUPTMANN'S SON

Mrs. Bruno Richard Hauptmann (left) buying a doll in a store at Trenton, N. J., for her son, Manfred, 3, before her husband was granted a 30-day stay of execution for conviction of the kidnap-slaying of the Lindbergh baby. The sales girl is Sue Graziano. (Associated Press Photo)

HEIRESS IN STERILIZATION SUIT

Ann Cooper Hewitt, 21-year-old heiress to millions, and her attorney, Russell P. Tyler, are shown reading over the complaint in the suit she filed at San Francisco against her mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, for $500,000, charging her mother had her subjected to sterilization so as not to lose the benefit of a $10,000,000 trust fund. (Associated Press Photo)

After Ethiopian government officials expressed opposition to the Anglo-French peace plans, the Abuna Cyril, head of the Ethiopian Coptic church, described the proposed program as "Words of God." (Associated Press Photo)

MAKE APPEAL FOR HAUPTMANN

In a vain effort to appeal to the United States Supreme Court for delay in the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted kidnaper and slayer of the Lindbergh baby, Nugent Dodds (left) and Neil Hurkinshaw, Washington attorneys, are shown dashing up the courthouse steps at Washington, D. C. Hauptmann, however, was granted a 30-day stay by Governor Hoffman of New Jersey. (Associated Press Photo)

Tells Of Threat

Miss Grace Wilkins, nurse who attended the sterilization operation performed on Ann Cooper Hewitt, 21-year-old heiress, at San Francisco said she received a letter cautioning her to "say nothing" about the case. Miss Hewitt sued her mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, for $500,000 as a result of the operation. (Associated Press Photo)

BERKELEY BELL TURNS NET PRO

Casting his lot with Bill Tilden's troupe, Berkeley Bell (left), the country's seventh ranking tennis player in 1934, signed a contract with Promoter Bill O'Brien, to appear as a professional next January. (Associated Press Photo)

A. P. Haake of Chicago as he shouted "unqualified liar" at George L. Berry, coordinator for industrial recovery, at a conference in Washington. "Eat it, eat it," retorted Berry with a promise to assist in the process. The tumult subsided without damage. (Associated Press Photo)

Tells Ransom Tale

The story of a Chicago prisoner, Stephen Spitz (above), 52, that he was party to an unconsummated deal for purchase of part of the Lindbergh ransom money in 1934 was investigated by Illinois authorities. (Associated Press Photo)

BLONDE SLAYER IS ARRAIGNED

No longer camera-shy, Vera Stretz is seen on her way to arraignment for the murder of Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, German economist, in his New York apartment. This was the first picture of Miss Stretz since the slaying that she had not buried her face in her hands. The men are Detective John Kaiser (left) and Samuel Leibowitz, her attorney. (Associated Press Photo)

BREMER SUSPECT ON TRIAL

Handcuffed to a G-man's wrist, Harry Sawyer (right), former St. Paul underworld leader, was all smiles nevertheless when taken to the federal building at St. Paul for trial on a conspiracy charge in connection with the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer in 1933. Two others were also on trial. (Associated Press Photo)

CONDEMNED MAN, GIRL MARRIED

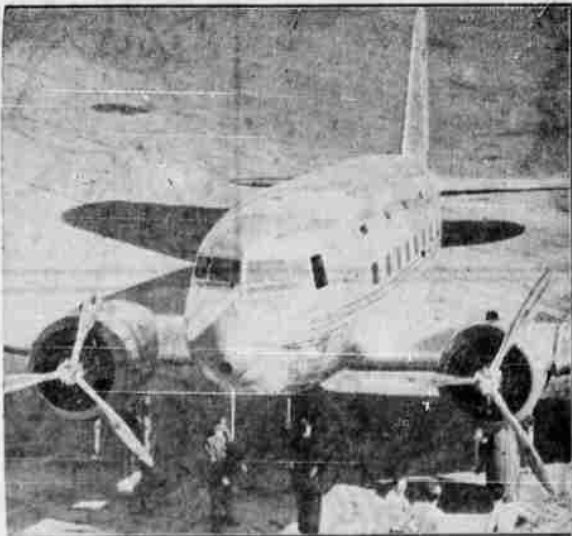

John Collins, 28, condemned to die for murder in New York, puts a ring upon the finger of his bride, 18-year-old Anna Downey, when they were married in a New York district attorney's office. He was returned to jail and she went to New Jersey after the ceremony. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW DEAL LASHED BY HOOVER

In an address before 10,000 persons at Lincoln, Neb., another of a series attacking the administration, former President Herbert Hoover assailed President Roosevelt's farm relief measures and urged farmers to defend "their heritage of individual liberty." He is shown as he began his speech. (Associated Press Photo)

GIANT LINER FOR SOUTHERN ROUTE

This giant 24-passenger airliner, built in Santa Monica, Calif., will be used between New York and Los Angeles. It has berths for 16 passengers on night hops, is 65 feet long and has a 95-foot wingspread. The two-motored plane has a speed of 215 miles per hour. (Associated Press Photo)

REPRESENTATIVE IS CONVICTED

Representative John H. Hoeppe, California Democrat, and his son, Charles, waiting for the jury verdict in Washington, D. C., which convicted them on a charge of conspiracy to sell a West Point appointment for $1000. The congressman is at the left. He was elected from Los Angeles. (Associated Press Photo)

NEARLY FROZEN IN REFRIGERATOR

Glenn Boldan, 14, of Motley, Minn., was recovering in a Baltimore, Md., hospital from a harrowing 10-day cross-continent ride locked in an ice-packed railway refrigerator car without food. He was found in the car in a semi-stupor. He said he entered the car at Salinas, Calif., and fell asleep. When he awoke the car was locked. (Associated Press Photo)