

GIEM AND MARSH GIVEN PROBATION OF SIX MONTHS

Six months suspended sentences were granted this morning to Ralph E. Glem, 23, local youth, who entered a plea of guilty to forgery, and Bert Marsh, whose parents reside in Douglas county, by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton.

Glem was charged with issuance of a number of bogus checks in this city, asserting the proceeds on a young married woman, the mother of two children, who resides with her husband in the Wagner Creek district. An affair allegedly prevailed between the two.

Marsh was charged with stealing a number of saddles from the George E. Dunn barn near Ashland, and selling them.

The court, in granting the probation, declared:

"I was much impressed by the statements of Raleigh Hoyman, who after his own sentence, spoke in behalf of you two boys. He preached a sermon, when he said if he had been given probation, he might have been a better man. He possessed qualities one must admire, though classed as a confirmed criminal."

Hoyman was sentenced to serve nine years in state prison.

Glem was granted a suspension upon conditions that he refrain from meeting the woman in the case and pay back, in time, the amounts procured by his forgeries. The district attorney submitted a letter to the court, written by the woman.

The court, before passing sentence upon Glem, talked to him in a fatherly and confidential manner.

The woman in the case appeared at the courthouse after Glem had been released, and at a conference with the court and district attorney was warned against further association with Glem.

Marsh's probation was also conditional upon his refunding the money he had gained from sale of the stolen saddles. A letter was read to the court showing he was a first offender, and "has always been a good boy."

Both youths assured the court they would "make good."

Washington Dance Plan for Friday

George Washington's birthday is the signal for festivities throughout the nation, both large and small affairs honoring our first president in patriotic atmosphere. One of the largest among local holiday events will be the Town club's no-host cocktail party and dance Friday evening.

Guests will begin arriving at the clubhouse at 8:30 for cocktails and conversation, the entire group later adjourning to the small ballroom at the Natatorium for dancing. The entertainment committee, in charge of arrangements, announces that music will be by a popular orchestra. Ingenious decorations in the patriotic tradition will add to the attractiveness of the affair, one of the first of large spring gatherings on the club calendar.

Normal Students Have Valentine Dance
Hosts to the students at the Southern Oregon Normal school in Ashland last Friday were members of the Josephine County club, who sponsored a Valentine mixer in the school auditorium. Miss Beth Talbot, president of the club, was chairman of the entertainment committee.

As usual with school dances, this mixer was received with enthusiasm by the students, assuring its success, particularly as the Valentine theme provided decorations and motif.

Special guests for the evening were members of the Monmouth basketball team. Appearing on the program was Miss Katherine Wilson, in a vocal solo.

Pythian Club To Meet Thursday
The Pythian club will meet for a regular bi-monthly session Thursday evening at 8:30, in the club rooms.

Hoistesses for the evening will be Elizabeth Temple and Judith Wolf. Those in charge request a full attendance.

Members of the entertainment committee making arrangements for the Elks' Washington Birthday dance at the temple Saturday evening, report that all plans proceed smoothly and that they pledge themselves to provide an enjoyable evening for guests.

Special guests for the evening will be officers of the Medford district of the Civilian Conservation corps and their ladies. Sebastian Apollo's orchestra will provide music for dancing against a decorative background of patriotic colors and symbols.

Westergrens to Live in Grants Pass

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Westergrens are planning to make their home in Grants Pass, where Mr. Westergrens has been transferred in a business capacity. Since their marriage, January 16 of this year, the young couple have been residing in Medford. Mrs. Westergrens was formerly Miss Betty Bardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bardwell.

Departure of the Eric Westergrens is regretted by their many friends among Medford's younger set, but the close proximity of their new home will make constant interchange of visits possible, and friendly contacts will undoubtedly continue as much as during their residence here.

Mrs. Westergrens left this morning to join her husband in Grants Pass, where he has been since Monday of this week.

The appellant's brief in the interpleader suit of Niedermeyer, Inc., against Earl H. Fehl, penitentiary imprisoned for vote-stealing, Electa A. Fehl, his wife, and Corintha E. Stalley, his mother-in-law, has been filed in the state supreme court. Copies of the brief were received today by the district attorney.

The Eagle Point irrigation district, Kelly and Kelly, counsel for Fehl in the original suit, J. B. Thomas of Ashland and Ted Heimroth of Giffen creek, are also named as defendants.

The main contentions of the brief are:

The claim of Jackson county for costs in the trial of Fehl in Klamath county, on a change of venue, should not have been allowed; the share of Electa A. Fehl should not have been subjected to the criminal cost bill against Earl H. Fehl; the lien for $2000 attorney's fees to Kelly and Kelly should have been disallowed; the trial court has no jurisdiction to enter a decree absolving Niedermeyer, Inc. from any and all responsibility arising out of the foreclosure suit; the court erred in the computation of the amount due.

The brief holds "the allowance of the claim of Jackson county for criminal trial costs thereby affording greater and different rights to a county as a judgment creditor than are enjoyed by other creditors generally, is contrary to the statutes, a dangerous precedent, and an injustice in the case at bar."

The brief is filed by H. V. (Baron) Von Schmals of Burns, Ore., and George A. Rhoten of Salem, as attorneys for the Fehls.

STREET SWEEPER BOUGHT BY CITY; GAS RULES READ

The super-traction, the self-cleaning lugs and the overize shoulders of the new Goodrich farm service Silvertown tires are helping more and more farmers get the most out of their tractors and other farm equipment, according to W. L. Lewis, manager of the Lewis Super Service station, local Goodrich Tire and Fordson Tractor dealer.

Mr. Lewis says: "Goodrich tractor tires save time, man health and machine wear and tear and repairs. It is reliably estimated that at least 50,000 farm tractors and implements have been equipped with pneumatic tires, either as original equipment or as changeovers. In a recent survey conducted in the middle west, 68 per cent of the farmers interviewed reported that they used their tractors more after equipping them with rubber, and nearly as many said they did more work in a day on rubber. Nearly 100 per cent reported a fuel saving; 80 per cent said that if buying a new tractor they would specify rubber."

Mr. Parrell was authorized to renew the contract whereby the city turns over to the Jackson County Humane society the dog license refunds it receives from the county, the society providing dog catcher services.

W. W. Allen stated that upon the advice of Dr. L. D. Inskeep, city health officer, the council health committee would investigate sewer conditions on the east side. It had been complained, he said, that a nuisance was rapidly developing because "certain places on the east side had not been connected with the sewer."

M. L. Alford, recorder, submitted the annual library report and it was ordered filed.

Fred W. Scheffel, city superintendent, submitted his annual report. It was approved and ordered filed.

Johnson Installs Displays At Food Show In Medford

Colorful displays feature the Western States Grocery Company's food show today and Thursday in the warehouse of that company at Eleventh and Fir streets in this city. Representatives of many nationally-known food manufacturers and distributors are here for the two-day event which is open to the general public. Thursday evening, however, will be reserved for special entertainment planned for grocers of southern Oregon and their families, according to L. C. Bickel, district manager for the Western States Grocery Co.

W. C. Johnson, Medford artist and head of the Southern Oregon Display Service, supervised the installation of several of the booths at the Western States food show. Johnson's company is affiliated with Window Advertising, Inc., of New York.

WEEK OF MAR. 30 DESIGNATED FOR ELECTROCUTION

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, principal keeper at the state prison. Governor Hoffman, who on January 16 repealed Hauptmann for 30 days, gave no immediate indication whether he would grant a second delay. He said previously he would not take such action unless Attorney General David A. Wilentz agrees.

Wilentz held the first reprieve was illegal, although he did not oppose its issuance.

Could Ask New Trial
There are other possibilities for defense efforts to stay the execution, but in some circles they were considered unlikely. A new trial could be sought on the basis of new evidence, the application being presented to Justice Trenchard.

Soon after the death warrant was signed, Liebowitz announced he would visit Hauptmann in his death cell this afternoon to question him further. His previous visits, it is reported, have failed to shake Hauptmann's story.

Liebowitz said he and his secretary conferred throughout last evening at a Brooklyn hotel, but denied that Fisher and the governor were with them. The New York attorney has been asked to aid in Hauptmann's defense.

Prison officials probably will fix either March 31 or April 3 for the electrocution, twice postponed by legal action.

DOG LICENSE BUYING INCREASES IN COUNTY

A steady increase in the number of 1936 dog licenses has been noted by the county clerk's office the past week. To date 273 dog licenses have been issued. The fee is $1 for male dogs and $1.50 for females.

The county court has not yet fixed a penalty date for non-payment of dog licenses but, as in previous years, it is expected to be early in March.

Last year more than 2900 dog licenses were issued.

PHIPPS CALLED ON GRAND JURY

Dolph Phipps of Medford was drawn this morning as a member of the grand jury, to fill the vacancy caused by the illness of John Hedrick of Ashland. Hedrick is in the hospital.

The grand jury started its sessions this morning, after recessing yesterday, with George Treichler of Central Point as foreman. The session is expected to last all week.

Eight or ten criminal matters and unfinished investigations will be considered. The investigations include the death of George Hall, Elk creek rancher, found dead in his home under more or less baffling circumstances, apparently killed by the accidental discharge of an automatic pistol he was cleaning, and the suicide by poisoning of Myles Randall in the county jail, while dependent over ill-health and approaching return to the state prison as a parole violator.

MRS. HERSHNER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Martha R. Hershner of Hood River, Ore., passed away this morning at a local hospital after an illness of a month. She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Crawford Lemmon of this city, and Mrs. Helen Plant of San Jose, Cal., and a son, Harold Hershner of Hood River. Also two brothers, Scott Loughary of Dallas, Ore., and Frank Loughary of Monmouth, Ore.

She lived in Hood River, and was the wife of Rev. John L. Hershner, who for many years was pastor of the Riverside Congregational church of this city.

Mrs. Hershner was a descendant of one of the oldest pioneer families of Oregon, and was greatly loved by her wide circle of friends. Interment will be at Hood River, February 21.

State Would Drop Prison Flax Plan

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 19. — (AP) — Gradual elimination of the state penitentiary flax industry from the field of competition in Oregon is the newly adopted policy of the present board of control.

The announcement of the action, which was taken to eventually close the industry in which the state has invested since its inception a total of $430,723, was made by Governor Martin, chairman of the board.
